

AFRICAN NOTES

Henry Carr, a full-blooded African and noted mathematical scholar, has been appointed to a Nigerian Provincial Commissionership by the British government. It is the first appointment of the kind.

There has been a very serious uprising in Southern Nigeria, the tribes concerned being the Egbas, the Jebus and the Egbados. Forced labor and unjust taxation are the direct causes of the trouble.

The proposed enactment of a criminal code is creating much discussion and dissatisfaction in Sierra Leone and the West African natives are becoming a unit in opposition to it. It is conceded that the government has taken some cognizance of the widespread alarm and is ready to make concessions in the plans proposed.

Throughout the entire Gold Coast, West Africans are feverishly preparing for the coming great British West African conference. At this conference it is the intention of the natives to bring to the notice of the British government the pressing reforms demanded by the natives for the well being of West Africa as a province of the British crown. The three demands are to include:

- (1) The establishment of an African Dominion;
- (2) A regulation of taxes, representation and commercial relations.
- (3) The founding of one or two West African Universities for the education of the natives.

Native chiefs and shippers of West Africa have joined in a movement to request of the Comptroller of Customs an open market for their planters and native stockholders. Hereafter they have been forced to deal through intermediate European trading firms, whose systematic robbing of the natives has had a most depressing effect upon native industry, especially the cocoa traffic.

In the famous Rhodesian Land Case, which recently came up before the crown courts and wherein the Chartered Company claimed title to its lands, judgment has been entered for the Crown. The effect of this judgment means that the Crown holds the dominion of the land, subject to certain rights of the Chartered Company. While this judgment brings little to the native, yet it is essentially a victory in which the native shares, for it protects these lands from passing into the possession of the Chartered Company. Should the Crown, at any time, desire to restore to the native his right of title in the lands, there will be no legal restraints to the carrying out of the wish. It appears that many disinterested persons in England took up the fight and interested themselves in securing judgment that would favor the natives.

CHICAGO AND THE NEGRO

Chicago, with a population of over 125,000 Negroes, with its beautiful churches, schools, boulevards, hospitals, stores, a beautiful Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., is one of the greatest business cities for the Negro in the east. We find him in every line of business, banking, as stenographers, bookkeepers, clerical positions, doctors, lawyers, merchants, etc. He is doing everything. He is living in good homes, modern flats, everything tends to prove rapid race advancement.

It was very interesting to visit the Kashmir Chemical company, one of the largest and most prosperous business organizations that holds an enviable world-wide reputation for their splendid line of toilet articles, etc. See their ad in this issue.

PREMIER'S WIFE REBUKED

Sidney, Australia, Oct. 21.—At a recent public gathering, Mrs. Hughes, wife of the Australian premier, made an ill-mannered reference to some of the British soldiers as "niggers." Not only did the Australian press roundly rebuke the reference, but many of the leading white men of Australia took occasion to personally regret the mistake and censure Mrs. Hughes for her unkindly remark.

BERT BRINGS HOME THE BACON

Bert Patrick, the hustling ad man of The Monitor, is home from Chicago and has brought a big slice of "old Chi" home with him. We don't know what they thought in the Windy City when our breezy western boy hit town, but they must have liked him, because he came home loaded down with advertising.

Meanwhile, The Monitor is delighted to inform its readers that Mr. Patrick has accepted a position with a large eastern firm and is going on the road. That he will make good is more than prophecy. We are glad to know that he will remain on The Monitor staff and wherever he goes, there goes The Monitor. Good luck, Bert.

HER VERSION

In a certain provincial art gallery there is a picture entitled "Saved," representing a large Newfoundland dog standing over a child whom it had rescued from the river.

On market days many people from the country find their way to the picture gallery, and nearly all admire this lifelike painting.

The other day an old countrywoman stood gazing at it for quite a long time, and, as she turned to go, exclaimed:

"No wonder the child fainted, after dragging that big dog out of the water!"—Tit-Bits.

When in Chicago, buy The Monitor at Geo. W. Boyd's, 320 South State street; Hayes' Book Store, 3640 South State street; Mrs. G. H. Dickerson, 16 West 47th street.
