OPENS WELL STOCKED GROCERY STORE

An Enterprising Alabamian Learns of Omaha Through The Monitor, Decides to Make It His Home and Opens Business Here.

TWO YEARS ago when the Rev. Dr. G. G. Logan returned from attending conference at Tulsa, Okla., he said:

"The Monitor is certainly putting Omaha on the map so far as our people are concerned, I was gratified as well as amazed to know how widely The Monitor is circulated in the South and turning the attention of a desirable class of people towards Omaha. The Monitor is doing good work."

Verification of these words are found almost daily in new comers to our city. A recent addition is R. H. Robbins from Evergreen, Ala., who has just opened a small but well stocked, up-to-date grocery and meat market on Twenty-fourth, near Hamilton, which is a credit to our city.

Mr. Robbins says: "I learned of Omaha through The Monitor. It was this way: I was attending my lodge at Nichburg and was given a copy of the paper by the postmaster. I read it and liked it so well that I subscribed for it. The result was that I decided to send my family to Omaha, which I did. They liked it. I decided to follow when I could sell out down home, and so here I am. I have opened this little business, and while I don't expect people who have traded with other people for years to give me all their trade, I'll appreciate just a little of it. If I cannot compete in goods and prices with my average competitor and give good satisfaction, I don't deserve to succeed. But watch me, sir. I have come with the determination to succeed."

The Monitor predicts for the firm of H. R. Robbins & Co., dealers in groceries and meats, well deserved success.

LA GRANCE, TEXAS

H. L. Vincent, Agent

The "flu" has broken loose afresh and the city has consequently ordered all schools, churches, pool halls, etc., closed and all other precautions necessary to safeguard the people. Rev. J. V. B. Goms, P. E. of A. M. E. Church, and a number of the pastors of his district arrived here Tuesday and Wednesday to hold a session of the Ministerial Council, but the mayor's order prevented any gathering and they were not able to do anything.

Last Tuesday morning Mrs. Ella Durst, wife of Mr. Daniel R. Durst, died at her home here of influenza. She was a faithful member of the St. James M. E. Church here. Rev. J. H. Napier, P. C., officiated and she was buried Wednesday evening at 4 o'clock. Her son and his wife, a sister, a father and husband were present.

Rev. C. E. W. Day, Dallas, C. G. M., and Prof. S. S. Reid, Marshall, C. G. S., of Tabor Lodge, of Texas, spent a couple of days each in the city last week, on business with the courts.

Mr. Henry Petty has bought and moved into the Martha Sanders home, this city, near the Compress.

Mr. Eugene Phearse has bought and will move this week into his new home here, at the head of Pearl street. Sick: Meses. Julia King, Edith Johnson and Jane Stubberfield.

The "flu" prevented any religious services being held in the city Sunday.

Misses E. N. Herring and Susie Grant, West Point, and Profs. A. Johnson, Prim, J. W. Hubbard, Holman, and I. C. Palmer and W. P. Palmer, Ellinger, visited here last Saturday.

Revs. I. D. Caffee and J. H. Napier held religious services at their respective points in the country Sunday. Rev. S. A. Tillman preached in Eagle Lake Sunday.

Woman's Duty
to be Beautiful

Improve Yourself
in Poro Way

This branch of our business has been given so much care and attention, and our opportunity for studying special cases and the results following our treatments of them have been so numerous, that I feel I may be justly considered an authority on the subject.

Every woman will concede that to be attractive in manner and as beautiful in face as possible, is a duty she owes to her sex, and to possess this attractiveness and beauty, even to old age, is her greatest desire. This is not vanity. It is simply a love for the beautiful.

Every woman knows if she allows her complexion to become sallow and wrinkled, her hair to become lusterless and hard her nails to become long and shapeless, she is placed at a disadvantage beside the woman who is outwardly attractive.

A visit once a week to the Poro Culture College is now a necessity which even the woman with small means cannot omit.

The feeling of comfort and happiness as she places herself under the skilled hands of an experienced specialist; as the delightful, soothing, cleansing creams are applied by gentle manipulation and the exhilarating electric currents, followed by correct vibrations, causing the blood to circulate freely, bringing a glow to the cheeks, is well worth the time and money spent. Therefore consider your conditions and go to
