KAFFIR CHEMICAL LABORATORIES INCORPORATE

Enterprising Omahans Launch Out Into the Commercial Field With a $500,000 Corporation.

The Kaffir Chemical Laboratories is the name of a new corporation which has just been successfully launched here and is destined to become, in the course of time, one of the biggest concerns of its kind, financed by race capital in the country. As a small concern its goods have been on the market for some months, but it was decided to incorporate and go out after big business. To advertise and push its products required capital. This called for incorporation. This company, which has just been incorporated under the laws of Nebraska, one of the strictest states in the union on corporations, is engaged in the manufacture of pharmaceuticals, chemicals, drug preparations and medicines. The corporation's authorized capitalization is $500,000.00, divided into 50,000 shares at $10.00 each; 20,000 shares being common, and 30,000 shares 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock.

The incorporators, who also form the board of directors, are Madree Penn, Grace M. Jones, vice-principal Piney Woods School, Braxton, Miss.; Eleanor C. Haynes; Dr. A. E. Fletcher; John Albert Williams; Fred C. Williams and Larry N. People. The officers are Madree Penn, president; G. M. Jones, vice-president; E. C. Haynes, secretary, and John Albert Williams, treasurer.

The company has on hand several thousand dollars' worth of preparations, including a pyorrhea preventive tooth paste, a face cream, an anti-phlogistic compound, a blood antiseptic, a hair tonic and others of proven value, which it places upon the market simultaneously with its stock campaign. For several months the company has been quietly but effectively at work organizing and incorporating, and lining up its resources and workers, and now enters the field of big business with every assurance of becoming one of the great successful commercial enterprises conducted by the race.

TWO UNUSUAL SUIT MODELS

Toward-the-Front Effect Is Featured in Outfits Which Are Smart and Graceful.

Bernard has made some odd suits, perfectly flat from neck to ankle at the back, while the front of the skirt flares and ripples from gathering at the beltline, and the front of the box coat flares forward like the skirt. Rather a weird way to make a suit, but somehow or other it is smart and graceful.

Bullox has also put out a model with this toward-the-front effect, a blue serge model with rabbit fur trimming. Both coat and fur-bordered tunic slope downward in an oblique line from front to back. Perhaps most interesting of all French models are the georgette frocks with flounced skirts made of rather stiff silk. There are flounced frocks of metal lace also, and all these georgette creations are so graceful and coquettish and feminine that they will surely "take" with womankind.

COMBINATIONS ARE IN FAVOR

Scarf and Skirt and Coat Arrangements Are to Be Among the Spring Novelties.

The lines being shown to skirt buyers for next spring feature new materials rather than marked changes in design. Plaited and shirred effects still predominate in the new offerings, some of which feature novel pocket arrangements. Panel patterns are still considered good, although the aim of the skirt designers appeared to be that of producing garments along simple lines. Among the novelties are skirt and scarf and skirt and coat combinations, principally in the sport clothes department. These combinations are made of the same material. Specialists in summer and resort wear designs put gabardine in first place.

HAVE WELL-EQUIPPED SUITE OF OFFICES

Several Professional and Business Men Occupy Entire Floor Over Pope's Drug Store at Thirteenth and Farnam Streets.

Whatever superstitions others may have about the number thirteen does not apply to a certain group of our business and professional men. This group includes not "the butcher, the baker and candlestick maker," as the old saw goes, but a dentist, a doctor, a lawyer and realtor. Yes, a real wide-awake realtor. What's that? Why, a real estate dealer. And he is a hustler, too. His name declares it. It is Nimrod Johnson. "Now Nimrod was a mighty hunter," and this fits Johnson, who is a mighty hunter after genuine real estate bargains and purchasers for the same, and he bags both. But, we are a little ahead of our story. We started out to tell you about the elegant and well-appointed suite of offices which are located over Pope's drug store at Thirteenth and Farnam streets, and occupied by Dr. W. W. Peebles, dentist; Dr. Leonard E. Britt, physician and surgeon; Amos P. Scruggs, attorney, and Nimrod Johnson, realtor. These offices are elegantly furnished and kept scrupulously neat. Miss Bessie Giles is the stenographer and notary for Drs. Peebles and Britt and Attorney Scruggs and Miss Thelma Scott is the stenographer and bookkeeper for Mr. Johnson, whose office is richly furnished with mahogany desks and other accessories. Thirteen has not proven a jinx for these men, who are kept busy, and evidence of their success and prosperity is furnished by the fact that all are home owners and drive their own cars. Each brags on his own car. Dr. Peebles has just purchased a Buick. Dr. Britt is a veteran driver of a Maxwell, Attorney Scruggs sweeps by in a Pierce-Arrow, and Nimrod Johnson, with French proclivities, rides around in a Chevrolet.

BETHEL BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Mission Circle will be entertained Thursday. The ladies are planning some new work which will be very interesting and are urging all members to be present.

The sick of the church are improving. A shower was given for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. Simms. Many were present and the old couple were the recipients of many pounds, aside from money for coal. Mr. Simms has been sick throughout the winter, and any little help will be highly appreciated by them.

Mr. Albert Harrington of South Omaha left to spend a few weeks with friends in St. Joe, Mo.

THROWN FROM SPEEDER; SUSTAINS BRUISES

Sheridan, Wyo.—S. C. Stallings of Arvada was able to leave the state hospital at Sheridan a few days ago. About a week ago he was thrown off a speeder at Lariat, receiving bruises on his leg and hip which necessitated his removal to the hospital.

Mr. Stallings visited in Chicago and Omaha recently.

"MRS. BUT."

Mrs. But is our next door neighbor, remarked a woman of our acquaintance recently. Her real name is Green, but John, whenever he sees her marching up the walk, remarks: "My dear, here comes Mrs. But." He is not given to calling people names; he says it merely to put me on my guard, for he knows our neighbor's falling. She is a bright, breezy little woman, and as long as the conversation is confined to the weather and household affairs, I quite enjoy chatting with her, but the moment that a human being, living or dead, chances to be mentioned, I began to quake.

The first time she called—it was soon after we moved into the neighborhood—I happened to say that Mrs. Goodwin, from the opposite side of the street, had called to see me, and that she impressed me as a very lovely character.

"Oh, she is, indeed," said Mrs. But heartily; "she is such a devoted wife, and so good to the poor. But," she went on, lowering her voice, "there used to be a good deal of talk about her when she was a girl, and though I don't suppose half the things that were said were true," with a scarcely perceptible shrug: "Yes, Nellie seems to be a very nice girl," she admitted, "but I suppose you know she is a poorhouse wail?"

"No," I said. I knew nothing of the kind. Mrs. Gray had introduced Nellie to me as her eldest daughter, and the information volunteered by Mrs. But was utterly uncalled for.

One evening, on our way home from a lecture, John remarked that he always enjoyed listening to Mr. Spaulding, he was so lofty and earnest.

"Yes, he is a very interesting speaker," said our neighbor, who had joined us as we came out of the lecture room, "and he seems very sincere, but I can't help feeling a little suspicious; I knew him when he was a boy."

John made haste to change the subject; a word of encouragement would have resulted in our hearing the whole history of the young man's boyhood.

"I've no patience," he exclaimed, the moment we were by ourselves, "with people who are always bringing up the past! Just imagine what heaven would be if the inhabitants were disposed to indulge in that sort of retrospection! The Angel Gabriel himself would hardly be safe from their disparaging 'buts,' and the whitest robe in all the white-robed throng would be in danger of being smutted!"

"And yet," I said, "Mrs. But evidently considers herself a good Christian."

"Oh, I don't dispute her title," said John, "but I can't help thinking that she might be able to read it clearer if she would rub up her glasses with Christian Doctrine more often."—The True Voice.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS AND HIS REMARKABLE CAREER

On his return he was active in raising the 54th Massachusetts Regiment

during the Civil War in which two of his sons, Lewis and Charles enlisted, the latter veteran the last survivor of his children is now living in Washington.

The war over, Mr. Douglass' main desire and effort was accomplished: the Negroes were free. He then set himself to the task of preparing the freedmen for freedom by a series of masterly lectures and the issuing of the New National Era.

His public offices were President of the Freedmen's Bank, Marshall of the District of Columbia in 1877, Recorder of Deeds in 1881, Minister to Haiti in 1886 and that republic made him her representative to the World's Fair in 1893.

In 1899 the governor of New York, Theodore Roosevelt, made the address at the unveiling of the monument in memory of Frederick Douglass in Rochester, N. Y., where in Mt. Hope cemetery his body rests. This account is based on "The Story of Douglass" by Miss Laura E. Wilkes who says: "I have prepared this little book for the young folk of the race, because I believe the life of Frederick Douglass will serve as an inspiration to every school boy and girl."
