CO-OPERATIVE WORKERS OPEN GROCERY STORE

A Worthy Business Enterprise Is Launched Under Favorable Auspices—Over 700 Customers First Day—Several Clerks Employed.

The Co-operative Workers of America, a corporation which has as its first object the establishment of a department store, opened its grocery and meat department in its building at 1514-18 North Twenty-fourth street Saturday morning. A steady stream of over 700 patrons visited the store on its opening day. All were pleased with their purchases and the service rendered.

The windows were invitingly and attractively decorated. Officials stood at the door to give cordial welcome to patrons. A corps of courteous clerks was on hand to give prompt and efficient service to customers.

The store is well stocked with grocery supplies of good grade, attractively displayed and conveniently arranged for prompt delivery. The meat department is well supplied with the best and most sanitary conveniences as well as furnished with choice fresh and smoked meats and with all articles usually kept by an up-to-date meat market.

The grocery department is under the management of A. C. Brown, an intelligent and energetic young man, who knows the grocery business. The meat department is in charge of J. C. Belcher, who for eight years was with Julius Dreyfus, at Twentieth and Farnam, one of Omaha's exclusive stores. Mr. Belcher knows his business. The company is fortunate in securing the services of such competent men. Miss Margaret LaCour is cashier, and the clerks are A. C. Oliver, Theodore Warren, Hollis Gordon, Marcellus Richie and Mrs. Z. C. Snowden. Mrs. A. C. Brown was on hand to help take care of Saturday's rush. The office force consists of Miss Corinne Thomas, bookkeeper; Miss Ozella Dunning, stenographer, and J. R. Lemma, who is manager of the stock sales department.

In the opening of the grocery and meat department of this corporation the colored people of this city have an institution of which they should be proud and which merits their loyal support.

Your Own Gas Plant for $45.00

The MORE HEAT BURNER can be installed in Heating Stoves, Cook Stoves, Ranges and Hot Water Heaters by anyone in a few minutes' time.

A Uniform Heat for Baking and Heating

Can be operated from 6 to 10 hours on 1 gallon of Kerosene (coal oil), depending on the amount of heat units desired. Kerosene contains more heat units per pound than any other fuel.

Easy to Generate, Easy to Operate, Saves Time, Saves Labor, Saves Money

Do not confuse the MORE HEAT BURNER with the ordinary oil burner. It generates its own gas, burns a clear purple blue flame which is intensely hot and entirely free from smoke, and can be operated with dampers closed, thus retaining all the heat in the stove where it is wanted.
