CAN OPEN ANY SAFE WITH WIRE

King Victor Emmanuel Calls Lock Specialist Europe's Most Dangerous Man.

SERVICES MUCH IN DEMAND

Employed by People of All Nations as Professional Men to Open Safes That Have Jammed—Does It by Sense of Touch.

Rome.—The man whom King Victor Emmanuel calls as the most dangerous man in Europe is neither Communist, Socialist nor criminal. He, like his father and grandfather before him, keeps a store where safes are sold.

Never in his life has he been forced to break a safe open. He has been summoned by people of all nations and professional men to open safes that had jammed. But not only private individuals call him; the other day King Victor Emmanuel needed his services.

His Real Name Withheld. Mr. X (his real name must be kept secret, as the tax collector would levy a heavier income tax were it known that he was called to the villa)

"You must not damage the safe, as there is my precious collection inside," said the king.

"No, your majesty," replied Mr. X. "I do not need even to damage the lock." Mr. X looked with a professional air at the safe.

"I am afraid you will find it a difficult task, as it is a Chubb Special," said the king. Mr. X inserted the wire, felt with the wire inside, delicately twisted it here and there, then opened the safe door.

"Here, your majesty, your safe is opened." The king was very much astonished, and said: "You are the most dangerous man I have ever met." Mr. X replied: "I would be were I not honest."

Mr. X is rarely in his store, as his fame has traveled abroad and he is often telegraphed for to start at a moment's notice. Before the war he was called many times to Berlin to open the ex-kaiser's safe and he was recommended also to Francis Joseph, who often left his keys inside his secret safe, and would allow no one but Mr. X to open or try to open it.

Many Diplomats Call Him. Diplomats, lawyers, doctors, all call him when they need a reliable doctor for their safes. When asked how he did the trick, Mr. X said: "It is purely a question of touch. I am like a specialist who, without operating can tell by examining a patient, by touching him what is the matter inside. Jamming of safes is like a case of lockjaw. With my wire I can locate the trouble inside the lock. Besides, my experience I inherited from father, who in his time was the only lock specialist in the world."

Sometimes it takes five minutes, and often he has to probe for 20 minutes or half an hour, but never in his life has he had to damage a lock in order to open a safe. He is the most expert lock specialist in Europe and with this talent has remained always an honest man who glories in his profession.—New York Tribune.

BURNS HOME TO KILL SIX Parents Fearing Children Will Be Taken From Them by Aid Society Decide to Kill Them.

Calgary, Alberta.—A confession that he and his wife deliberately set fire to their home, after soaking their four children's beds with gasoline so that all might be burned to death, was made, according to the police, by J. J. Rutledge, an Innesfall farmer, the only survivor of his family.

The man said he and his wife preferred death to being separated from the children, who, they feared, would be taken from them by a children's aid society. Rutledge knocked one child unconscious to save it pain, then lost his nerve and escaped severely burned.

The man is in a hospital, charged with murder.

TENACITY WINS OUT

Regenerating Efforts of Peasants Restore Flanders Fields.

Belgians, Working to Rebuild Homes and Salvage Barren Lands, Aided by Loans of Motors.

Brussels.—"No Man's Land" again belongs to the brave Belgian peasants, an apparent miracle having been wrought in Flanders fields by these courageous people, who, with the help of the Belgian government, have regained the ground which once seemed devastated beyond rehabilitation.

On the very places where, two years ago, the armies were rushing to liberate Belgium, and where the sea waters, receding uncovered grinning skeletons of German soldiers, buried in the mud of the Yser river banks, wheat and barley, corn and potatoes, flowers and young apple trees are now flourishing.

For two years the Belgian peasants lived in huts, the ruins of their homes, or in German concrete shelters, suffering untold hardships in winter, but imbued with the spirit of regeneration. They worked to remove the barbed wire and unexploded shells, and many of them lost their lives when the plow met some buried shell.

Here and there are sacred spots, bright with bloody poppies, marking the final resting places of the brave Belgian, French, British and American soldiers, untouched by the regenerating hands of the Flemish workers.

Nebraska Civil Rights Bill

Chapter Thirteen of the Revised Statutes of Nebraska, Civil Rights. Enacted in 1891. Sec. 1. Civil rights of persons. All persons within this state shall be entitled to a full and equal enjoyment of the accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of inns, restaurants, public conveyances, barber shops, theatres and other places of amusement; subject only to the conditions and limitations established by law and applicable alike to every person. Sec. 2. Penalty for Violation of Preceding Section. Any person who shall violate the foregoing section by denying to any person, except for reasons of law applicable to all persons, the full enjoyment of any of the accommodations, advantages, facilities, or privileges enumerated in the foregoing section, or by aiding or inciting such denial, shall for each offense be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars, and pay the costs of the prosecution. "The original act was held valid as to citizens; barber shops can not discriminate against persons on account of color. Messenger vs. State, 25 Nebr. page 677. N. W. 688." "A restaurant keeper who refuses to serve a colored person with refreshments in a certain part of his restaurant, for no other reason than that he is colored, is civilly liable, though he offers to serve him by setting a table in a more private part of the house.
