THE BOYSEN SHOE COMPANY
For genuine bargains in shoes, the attention of Monitor readers is called to the Boyesen Shoe Store, Sixteenth street opposite Jefferson Square. Mr. Boyesen is a shoe expert and knows how to fit the feet. Competent and courteous clerks are always on hand to take care of the growing number of satisfied patrons of this store.

STANDARD LAUNDRY REDUCES PRICES
The Standard Laundry, which has been one of the Monitor's steady and regular advertisers from the time the publication was begun until the present and in consequence has a large patronage among our people, has just made a radical reduction in their prices for family trade. Attention is called to their advertisement in this issue giving their reduced rates. It will pay you to investigate. The drudgery of doing the family washing at home may be avoided by taking advantage of these low prices.

A House of Hearts.
A "hearty" home is that of the wife of a doctor in California. The tables, chairs, etc. in fact, all the furniture of the peculiar house are heart-shaped! The owner's bed has a heart-shaped headboard supported on both sides by bedposts carved to represent Cupid's arrow. The heart-shaped headboard is decorated with a heart-shaped picture frame in which two angels embrace each other! The remarkable house is named the "Pericardium," which means the membrane enclosing the heart and the great blood vessels.

Oldtime Toys.
In England during the eighteenth century there were no makers of toys of the better class and for the children of the wealthy the silversmiths made toys of solid silver, while Sheraton and Chippendale made doll furniture in exact miniature reproduction of the things they made for the palaces and the drawing rooms of the socially elect. Toy parachutes, the forerunners of the American toy balloon; lead soldiers, cast flat and thin and little more interesting than the flat wooden dolls of the Egyptians of 2100 B. C.; cheap mechanical toys and dolls of fanciful design but little heavy belonged to the time of King James I.

RIGHT NOW is the time to pay you subscription to the Monitor.
