WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

The Negro Exodus.

SOME INDICATION of the magnitude of the Negro migration from South to North may be gained from the report of the Department of Agriculture that 13 percent, or 32,000, of the Negro farm-hands of Georgia have come north during the last year. The movement is continuous and growing, and though Georgia is losing a much larger proportion of her laborers than any other state, the exodus is not a local or temporary affair. Every southern community is affected. From the point of view of the Negro there is every reason for moving north. Farm wages are low everywhere; they are lowest of all in the south. Socially and politically the Negro enjoys much more freedom in the north. Added to these incentives to change are the discontent of returned colored troops with traditional living conditions, the breakdown of the contract-labor system, recent crop failures and general agricultural bankruptcy. On the whole, the wonder is that the Negro did not walk out long ago.

But if the south allows the emigration to proceed it will wake at some not far distant date to discover that there is nobody left to work the plantations. The whole economic structure of the south has rested upon a class of unskilled labor which is rapidly getting out from under. Not socially, economically or politically has the south made it worth while for the Negro to remain.—The New York World.

DUSTIN FARNUM COMING IN FILM OF FAR NORTH

Dustin Farnum, the popular star of the William Fox constellation, will soon be seen in this city at the Gayety theatre in a George Goodchild story, "Bucking the Barrier," which deals with the extreme cold of the Far North and the wholesome warmth of a woman's love.

This engrossing photoplay will be shown at intervals the first half of next week, starting at noon Sunday in conjunction with the riotous musical comedy, "Abie's School Days," in which funny little Fred Webster will be seen in the title role. The last half of next week the Gayety will be used by the Junior League for their Annual Revue.

NO TRACE OF EDWARD PLEASANT

No trace of Edward Pleasant who is believed to have committed suicide last Thursday morning by jumping off the Douglas street bridge, while grieving over the death of his brother, has been found. His wife and relatives are about convinced that the report of his suicide is true.

MONITOR—SIX ALLEN CHAPEL A. M. E. CHURCH

O. J. Burckhardt, Pastor Sunday marked another milestone in the history of Allen Chapel. Rev. S. W. Henderson of Elwood, Kans., preached at 11:00 A. M. At 8:00 P. M. the pastor talked on the work of the American Civic Reform movement. He showed by reliable statistics that thirty-five thousand girls disappeared last year by foul means in the U. S. A. This was indeed interesting and was highly appreciated by the mothers and daughters present. Sunday at 11:00 A. M. the pastor's subject will be "Bible Holiness the hope of the Future Church." At 8:00 P. M. we have arranged with a young man who is a scholar and a thinker, to bring us a message. Mitchell Davis and S. E. Grass will have charge of the Friday night prayer meeting. Mrs. Josie Blackwell wishes to see all of her Bible class at the home of Mrs. Words, 5212 So. 31st. We are taking in some very useful members these days. J. B. Showers is yet in St. Joseph Hospital and getting on well. Messdames Sarah Jones, Alberta Michol Moffatt are on the sick list, also Laura Jefferson.

THE ST. PAUL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Russel Taylor, Pastor The attendance Sunday morning was very good indeed. As a whole there was some improvement in the matter of tardiness but we are far from our ideal still. Let us keep on trying. We can be one hundred percent punctual if we will. Will we? Among the visitors with us were Mrs. Mitchell and Mr. Carr and family. The latter comes from Tuscaloosa, Ala., and is an ordained elder in the Presbyterian church, and will be of much aid to the work here. He has a most excellent family. We are always glad to welcome such to our community.

The sermon topic Sunday morning will be, "Our Lives; How are We Using Them?"

The Christian Endeavor topic Sunday evening, at 7:50 will be "Lesson from the Psalms. A Prayer Psalm. Ps. 86:1-17." The leader will be announced at the morning services.

The pastor has accepted an invitation to address the congregation of the Bellevue Church, Sunday evening on some phase of the race problem. More than thirty years ago the pastor worshiped for the first time in that church as a student in Bellevue college.
