LINCOLN NEWS AND COMMENT

Attend the picnic at F Street park Saturday, August 4th, by Mt. Zion Baptist church.

Mrs. W. L. Todd entertained the Utopian Art Club at their home, 224 South Nineteenth street, last Thursday night. A nice crowd was out and a successful meeting was held.

The second banquet given by the mission at Mt. Zion Baptist church last Tuesday night was of much success. Quite a crowd enjoyed the sumptuous repast.

Mrs. Alma Wiley returned Monday from a visit with mother, sister and friends at Plattburg and St. Joseph, Missouri.

R. H. Young spent Sunday in Omaha on business.

Mrs. M. Harding returned to her home in Chillicothe, Mo., last Monday after some stay with her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Patrick.

Rev. T. D. Scott of Leavenworth, Kansas, is spending his vacation here with his friend, Rev. M. C. Knight.

Rev. C. W. Wilson left last Saturday for Kansas.

Messrs. T. T. McWilliams and E. I. McWilliams leave this week to attend the Imperial Council of the Shrine at Indianapolis, Ind., August 6-7-8. They will travel by automobile.

The A. M. E. church Sunday school was nicely attended. Rev. T. D. Scott of Leavenworth, Kans., preached morning and night and was interesting to hearers.

Rev. G. W. Carter of the Newman Methodist church held rally last Sunday. Rev. H. W. Botts of Mt. Zion Baptist church preached in the afternoon. The several churches and pastors were in attendance. Rev. Mr. Carter goes to his quarterly conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Zack Johnson have returned home from a two weeks' visit with relatives in Junction City, Kans., and other points.

Services at Mt. Zion Baptist church were interesting last Sunday. The pastor preached two helpful sermons. The Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. had fine lessons with instructions. The Saturday Night Serving club had much success.

Miss Nanny Burroughs of the celebrated girls' training of Washington, D. C., will speak at Epworth park, August 10, in the afternoon, under the auspices of the Epworth assembly. No doubt great crowds will hear her.

Rev. H. W. Botts and his church have arranged to entertain Miss Burroughs and company at the church Friday night, August 10th. Come and hear her, if you don't get to hear her at the park.

Hiram chapter No. 59, R. A. M., re-elected old officers for the ensuing year. I. B. Smith, H. P.; T. T. McWilliams, king; Wm. Woods, treasurer, and W. W. Mosley, secretary.

Ricketts Com'dry elected the following officers for 1923-4: W. W. Mosley, E. C.; H. R. Young, Gen.; J. B. Smith, C. Gen.; Wm. Hightower, treasurer, and A. L. Williams, recorder. Covenant and communion at the Mt. Zion Baptist church next Sunday, August 5th.

VETERAN OMAHA ATTORNEY GIVES INTERESTING STORY OF EXTENSIVE TRIP

Omaha, July 30, 1923.

Editor Monitor:—I am delighted to respond to your request for a few lines to the Monitor concerning my recent trip from the Missouri river to the Atlantic ocean, and from New York to Lookout Mountain in Tennessee. You may not believe it, but it is nevertheless true that during my residence in Omaha of forty-three years I have seldom been out of it, my responsibilities, domestically and professionally requiring my presence here. So on June 4th our children (eight of them), realizing our long struggle, paid our way on this trip as a surprise to my wife and me, and without any solicitation on our part. So that on June 4th we left Omaha, direct for Chicago, remaining at Sterling, Ill., for five days to visit my daughter's husband's family, thence to Detroit, Michigan, where we visited the Ford Auto factory, thence on Lake Erie to Buffalo, N. Y., by boat, thence to Holyoke, Massachusetts, where we remained with my sister and brother for four weeks, thence to New York, where we remained for four days with Mr. Morris' family of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and who constructed the Brooklyn bridge. Thence to Washington, D. C., where we observed every matter worthy of observation in the National Capital, thence to Norfolk, Va., by boat, thence to Knoxville, Tenn., the place of my birth, where we remained for fifteen days visiting cousins. While there I visited the Knoxville colored college, a creditable college to any race in America. I was delighted to see it and its extended improvements, as in July, 1870, I stood beside it, when the first stone was laid in its foundation. Oh, what a pleasure this was to me to see this lovely structure after so many years.
Knoxville, Tennessee, has grown during the past thirty years surprisingly. During that period of time it has grown from a city of 25,000 to its present population of 100,000. All of the former suburbs have been annexed to the original city. It has become a lively and progressive city. It is a city where the colored race are numerous and well to do. I met one of my old-time colored friends who, when I first knew him forty-two years ago, was a poor boy; today he owns one of the finest business blocks in that city, worth $70,000. It is located on the spot where I was born on Gray street. While there I visited the old farm on Beaver Creek on which our family lived when I was a boy. There I met Chas. Long, a colored man, whom my father had reared from boyhood, the one whom the Ku Klux's caused father to part with or suffer death. He was overjoyed to meet me, threw his arms around me as lovingly as if I were his brother. He has raised a large, creditable family and is well to do financially. I was horrified to behold in this city for five consecutive nights, on a hill within the city limits, a lighted cross 6 feet high, erected and cared for by the Ku Klux Klan, called the fiery cross—this with the knowledge of the county and city officials. Leaving Knoxville we remained at Chattanooga, Tenn. There we viewed the old battle grounds, also ascending Lookout Mountain, also Signal Mountain, where we slept all night, thence home through Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa, to dear old Nebraska, arriving here July 26. And of Nebraska I may sing:

Nebraska land, Nebraska land,
I love your waving fields;
Nebraska land, Nebraska land,
I love your golden yields.
It matters not where I may be,
What foreign fields I roam,
You'll always be most dear to me—
I love you, 'cause you're home.

SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN BY HUSBANDS OF MEMBERS OF ELITE WHIST CLUB

The members of the Elite Whist Club were given a surprise party by their husbands Thursday evening, July 26th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Donley.

How the surprise feature could be accomplished was long discussed. Miss Edna M. Stratton, the North Side "Y" secretary was prevailed upon to assemble the members at the Y. W. C. A. building and later convey them to the appointed place. This she did by a fine stratagem. She invited the members of the club to meet "A Friend." While Miss Stratton went to the station for her "guest," who was not expected, the club members assembled, and were received by their president who was at the "Y" early to act as hostess for the secretary. The "friend" did not come and an auto ride was suggested by the pseudo hostess. When the members were in the autos, they were driven to the Donley residence, where their husbands, in seclusion, awaited them.

Upon their arrival, group photographs were taken, afterward they dined, then played whist. Upon the conclusion of the games, each club member and each woman guest was presented a berry spoon, and the club was presented a book, "The Gist of Whist." Several instrumental and one vocal number were given, the latter by Miss Stratton.

Those attending the surprise were: Mrs. Alexander Tillery of Chicago, Ill., Miss Edna M. Stratton, guests; Messrs. Clarence Desdunes and H. W. Black, substitutes, and the following members and their husbands: Mrs. Dan Desdunes and Mrs. William Murphy; Messrs. and Mesdames E. R. West, Jasper Brown, George Watson, Augustus Hicks, Charles Seymour, Charles Solomon, T. P. Mahammit, H. J. Pinkett, Mr. Nate Hunter and Mr. James C. Donley.

ENTERTAINS FOR DAUGHTER

Hillcrest, the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Jones, was the scene of a delightful social function Monday, when Mrs. Jones held a reception between the hours of 4 and 8, for her daughter, Mrs. W. B. Reed of Denver, Colo. In the receiving line with Mrs. Jones and her daughter were Mesdames Austen Serrant and James W. Madden of Chicago, and Ray Gibson of Tacoma, Wash., young matrons and former Omaha girls, here visiting parents and relatives. Assisting through the rooms were Mesdames Aaron Bowler, J. Alice Stewart, H. J. Pinkett and T. P. Mahammit. The refreshments were served by the following girls: Florence Jones, Helen Redd, Ernestine Singleton, Melva McCaw, Constance Singleton, Ruth Pegg, Dorothy and Elizabeth Allen, Margaret Murray and Cleota King. The house was artistically decorated with palms, ferns and garden flowers. About two hundred guests called during the receiving hours.

E. F. Morearty, Lawyer, 700 Peters Trust building, Jackson 3841 or Harney 2156.

Mrs. Delia Ward and Miss Louise Gibson left Sunday for Denver and Colorado Springs, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Williams and daughter, Alma of Chicago, are visiting their sisters, Mrs. McGee and Mrs. J. McCorkle, 3456 Patrick Ave.

Mrs. James W. Madden and little son, Jimmie, leave for their home in Chicago Saturday after a two months' pleasant visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Singleton.

Mrs. Hattie Overstreet of Dallas, Tex., is visiting her brother John T. Stoneham, 2764 Lake street.
