Beavers Drive Away Deer.
A well-known guide offers a solution as to the reason for the scarcity of deer in places where they have formerly been numerous. A large part of it he attributes to the work of that busy little animal, the beaver. The beaver, he says, builds a dam across a brook that flows through a swamp. This overflows the swamp, kills the evergreens and drives the deer from his winter home.

Goose is Real Patriarch.
Of our common animals the span of life of the rabbit is about seven years; while the hare averages a little longer. The squirrel does not live more than seven years. Dogs and cats seldom survive beyond fifteen, but the pig will reach thirty. The goose is the patriarch of the farmyard, for one has been known to live sixty years.
