MORE OPIUM USED IN CHINA

American Professor Says Greater Amount Is Being Consumed.

China, under pressure of internal strife, has relapsed deeply into the thrilldom of narcotics, according to Rev. Dr. H. H. Gowen, professor of oriental languages and literature in the University of Washington, who has just returned to Seattle, Wash., from a tour of the Orient.

"Farmers in many districts have been practically forced to return to the cultivation of the poppy," said Dr.
Gowen today, "because the military governors have assessed their lands on the basis of what they will produce in opium. Military governors in other districts are actually paying their soldiers in opium."

Not since 1907, when the powers made their first effort to release China from narcotics, has the habit of their use been so firmly fixed as now, according to experts interviewed by Dr.
Gowen. He said that morphine had been introduced and was having an effect many times worse than that of opium, to which the Chinese had become accustomed.

Law Makes Weddings Quiet.

Noisy wedding parties are needless and nuisances, according to police at Steeleton, Pa., so they have been prohibited. Honeymoon cars which pass through the city must not blow their horns continuously, a new city ordinance warns. They disturb too many day sleepers.

Lightning Struck a Church at Toka.

Lightning struck a church at Toka, Hungary, and killed the pastor, who was standing at the altar, and two of the congregation. The bolt ran along the floor and burned the boots of many people in the church.
