Many Philippine Dialects. The languages spoken by the native inhabitants of the Philippine islands are variously reckoned, some authors distinguishing as many as fifty, others twenty or less, a difference due to the variant definitions of "language" and "dialect." But all these languages or dialects belong to one or other of two classes, those of the Malayan race and those of the aboriginal inhabitants the Aetas or Negritos.

North America. The areas and the populations of the three countries that make up the mainland of North America are: Canada, 3,723,665 square miles, population, 8,788,533; the United States, 3,027,000 square miles, population 105,710,620; Mexico, 739,000 square miles, population 16,000,000. Besides these, there are Greenland, a Danish possession, Newfoundland, a British colony, Cuba, an independent republic, and the other West Indian islands.

The Yellow-Headed Blackbird. The scientists have named the yellow-headed blackbird Xanthocephalus exanthocephalus. They have doubled up on the name for reasons best known to themselves, but presumably the blackbird was not rare in the least what his name is, for his chief worry in life seems to be found in constant but unsuccessful attempts to make a singer of himself.

As to Misfortunes. If all men would bring their misfortunes together in one place, most would be glad to take their own home again, rather than to take a proportion out of the common stock.—Solon.

Fishes Crowd Sea. Fishes in the sea of Galilee are in the habit of going about in shoals of more than an acre in extent and so closely packed that it is impossible for them to move freely.
