

"THEY'VE MADE GOOD," - COOLIDGE

U.S. Veterans' (Tuskegee) Hospital No. 91 Capably Administered by Negro Personnel.

- 1. Panorama showing half a dozen of the twenty-seven permanent buildings.
- 2. Main Infirmary Building.
- 3. Front view of main building.
- 4. Bird's-eye view principal and nearby buildings with Tuskegee Institute in the dim background.
- 5. Dental Laboratory.

- 6. President Calvin Coolidge, Dr. Robert R. R. Moton, Asst. Sec. of Treasury Clifford, Asst. Sec. of Commerce Huston, and the Governor of Alabama.
- 7. X-Ray Laboratory.
- 8. Medical Officers' Staff.
- 9. Nurses' Staff.
- 10. Lt. Col. Joseph H. Ward, Commanding Medical Officer.
- 11. Part of the all colored personnel of three hundred.

Photographs by C. M. Bettey, Photograph Division of Tuskegee Institute.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

The Race Coming Back in Literature. Many years ago the Negro people in the United States had a large number of men and women doing literary work of a high order. Paul Laurence Dunbar and Charles W. Chesnut stood at the head of this splendid group. They wrote excellent books of prose and verse and they were valued contributors to the periodicals of the times. It looked as if we had come to stay in the literature of the nation, but they gradually dropped by the wayside and their places were taken by white Southern writers of history and fiction, whose work was intended to be propagandistic rather than cultural and informing; intended to degrade the free Negro at the expense of the slave Negro by magnifying the virtues of the latter and denying any virtues at all to the former. They accomplished an infamous work and it will long continue to rise up in the judgment to plague its authors.

And now we are having a new crop of literary people of the Negro race who are making a place in book and magazine work, and who are giving promise of doing much to undo the infamous work of Southern writers of fiction and verse in the preceding generation. No people can get very far in their own estimation or that of their neighbors who do not write their own history, their own prose and verse, who do not have their own philosophers and scientists. We are getting these, but we are getting them gradually, slowly; the main thing being that we are getting them.

The modern world is dominated very largely by ideas, and the more literary people we have with ideas who make a place so that they can impart their ideas to others, whose good opinion and influence are worth while, and no person nor race lives unto itself alone, the more useful and helpful do we become to ourselves and to others.—The Negro World, New York.

OMEGA PSI PHI HOLDS COLLEGE NIGHT

(By the Associated Negro Press)

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 24.—The local graduate chapter of the Omega Psi Phi held the annual student meeting for all college men in the city Tuesday night at the fraternity house. H. H. Thomas acted as master of ceremonies.

GLEE CLUB LEADER TAKES OVER BIG CHOIR

(By the Associated Negro Press)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 24.—J. Henry Lewis, leader of the famous Amphion Glee Club was installed as leader of the Metropolitan A. M. E. church choir, the Rev. Chas. E. Stewart, pastor, Saturday evening. The Amphion Glee Club will celebrate its 33rd anniversary November 30.