CELEBRATE STEPHEN FOSTER'S CENTENNARY
Pittsburgh, Pa.—The centenary of the birth of Stephen C. Foster, author of "Old Black Joe," "My Old Kentucky Home" and other equally famous folk songs was celebrated here on July 5. Foster was born July 4. Many of his songs were about the Negro and in recent years have been confused with Negro spirituals. Some Negroes have attacked the spirituals for evils inherent, not to them but to the songs of Foster, which told of the ignoble condition of the slave and glorified the kind master.

JUDGE KISSES AGED COLORED NURSE.

Media, Pa.—When John M. Broomall, III, took the oath of office as a judge of the common pleas court here, his colored nurse, Mrs. Margaret O. Hilton, of Cambridge, Mass., was the first to greet him. Judge Broomall, who stands over six feet and is massively built bent over the aged woman and gave her a kiss which echoed in the courtroom. Tears streamed down the judge's face as his old nurse left him saying: "God bless you, my boy, and make you a great judge."

Mrs. Margaret O. Hilton, who is 85 years old, and reputed to be wealthy, had nursed Judge Broomall from the day he was born until he was 6 years old.

Later she went to Cambridge, opening a children's home, which was later turned over to her by the Massachusetts state government.

Mrs. Hilton is a widow. Her husband, Charles Hilton was a grandson of the personal valet of George Washington, it is said.

OHIO SUPREME COURT BANS JIM CROW SCHOOLS

Cleveland—Residents of Beechwood, a suburb of Cleveland, but more closely adjacent to Shaker Heights village, are jubilant over the news that the supreme court of Ohio has again taken a stand against segregation in the schools by dismissing the case of the board of education of Shaker Heights asking that the 12 or more Negro children of Beechwood be barred from the schools of that district.

Three months ago the county prosecutor brought action in the court of common pleas to force the board of education of Shaker Heights to admit colored children to its schools, since Beechwood has no school facilities and two years ago a contract was made by the Beechwood authorities with the Heights board to admit all children of school age to its schools. The prosecutor won the case, but the Heights board being chagrined over the action of the court of common pleas, carried the case to the court of appeals, where the case was again lost to the Heights board. Being dissatisfied by the fact that they had been defeated twice in the courts, the Heights board carried the case to the Ohio supreme court and lost again. The action of the court of appeals was affirmed.
