Mrs. J.A. Gregg Convalescing In Florida

JACKSONVILLE. (ANP).
Mrs. J. A. Gregg, wife of Bishop John A. Gregg, prelate of the 11th Episcopal district of the A.M.E. church is convalescing rapidly at Brewster hospital here after a serious operation. A fall some years ago, dismissed slightly at the time, had injured a hip bone. In late months its pain had become almost unbearable.

A German physician who had been one of the persons perfecting the use of a silver ball in the hip socket, visiting Jacksonville as part of a tour, operated on Mrs.
Gregg. Bishop Gregg, who is also chancellor of Edward Waters college here, has remained at her side.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1949.
Social Righteousness and the Strength of a Nation

In a review of Hanson Baldwin's book, "The Price of Power," Brigadier-General Donaly Armstrong wrote: "Man and not the machine, in spite of the importance of industry in war, is still the artisan of victory. Morale has always been of greater significance than material things and the atomic age only increases the importance we must attach to leadership and moral courage . . . We must realize our power, but we must comprehend the new responsibilities that that power inevitably brings." These are the words of a soldier. But unless the nation is ruled by justice is its morale going to be high.

The profit motive unchecked by a regard for righteousness is the deadliest of dangers. A nation ruled by it cannot hope to breed a race characterized by a high moral courage. America is not yet standing where Carthage stood, but we must beware lest the worship of Mammon lead us there.

A Temperance Lesson Found in Our Text from Isaiah

If America is to bring forth the harvest that God demands of her, must have citizens with healthy bodies and clear minds.
Habits which weaken either are destructive to the community.
The problem which arises from the use of alcoholic liquors is a pressing question. Americans spent in 1947 about nine billion dollars for alcoholic beverages.
That is a large proportion of all our spending, and it means that the more or less habitual use of such beverages is wide spread among people. When its effects on the nation are faced the situation becomes frightening.

No one should begin drinking without knowing exactly what he is doing. He ought to know that he is taking into his system a chemical compound which has the immediate effects of diminishing his powers of judgment.
It is a fact, scientifically discovered, that alcohol at once affects the brain. A man with a drink or two feels more able and skillful, is more self-confident, than he was before he took the alcohol into his body. He may jump into his automobile and drive off with a fine feeling of superior control. But his reactions have been slowed up, his power to judged distances is lessened, he takes chances he would never think of taking were it not for the false confidence engendered by even a moderate dose of alcohol, and the probabilities of his getting into an accident are increased. If people thought of all this before they decided to take just one drink, fewer drinks would be taken. Can any one afford to throw away any of his powers of self-control?

The social consequences of the use of alcoholic drinks are terrifying. Crime of every sort is

Meetings Postponed

Revival meetings scheduled at the Northside Church of God have been postponed until November 21 to the 28, according to Rev.
Robert L. Moody, pastor. The Rev. Richard J. Taylor of Junction City, Kansas, who is the evangelist for the series, will not be available until that time.

Mt. Zion To Have Revival

For two weeks following November 6, an old-fashioned revival will be conducted at Mt.

connected in a vast number of cases with drinking. Vice and the resulting venereal diseases is linked with liquor. The traffic itself requires a constant policing which is costly and exposes the regulating authorities to the constant danger of corruption. When we read about the large sums taken in taxes from the traffic we must always remember the cost to the country in damaged lives, in an attempt to control a business which always seeks to evade control, in courts and jails and hospitals and police headquarters.

Do you really think that the monetary thrill which is all that any human being can get out of drinking is worth the risk? Certainly people who want to be Class A citizens will think a long time before they introduce alcohol into their bodies.

Praises UN High Score

Jackie Robinson

Jackie Robinson, brilliant second baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, talked about the United Nations in these terms: "When a batter's timing is right and there's no hitch in his swing, the chances for winning the game look best. Right now, it looks pretty certain that the United Nations will be scoring high for world peace. But we've got to make sure that the U.N. doesn't develop any hitches in its swing.
That means we in the U.S.A. have to improve our swing, too.
We've got to lick racial discrimination and religious bigotry because these evils divide our country, and only a strong, united America can help the United Nations build world peace. Respect for human rights is a fundamental principle of the U.N.
When we work for equal opportunity for everyone in our own country, we are helping the U.N. fight for human rights all over the world."

Zion Baptist church here, according to its pastor, Rev. W. I. Monroe. Daily prayer meetings will be conducted at the church, which is located at 12th and F streets beginning Monday, October 31.

The speaker for the series will be the Rev. Mr. Boston, pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist church in Sioux City, Iowa. Rev. Mr. Boston has the reputation of being a persuasive evangelist. The public is invited to all of the meetings.
