Your Sports Round-Up

By James Sawyer

Lincoln High school's basketball seniors opens April 16 when they meet Omaha South here in Lincoln. The returning letter men on the team are Bob Barnett, John Beideck, Roger Bottorff, Don Erway, Ran Johnson Larry Luhrs, and Jim Maul. Jensen, the coach, thinks he has a pretty good team this year.

Coach Pfeiff has a track problem this year he is lacking lettermen for his track team this season. The only returning lettermen are Dick Egger (mile), Jack Winter (440), and relay and Bernie Randolph (pole vault).

The Lincoln Chiefs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce announce a new style knothole club for the boys and girls of Lincoln. Any Lincoln school girl or boy from the 4th through the 9th grade will be able to join the Jaycee Wigwam Club. This new organization will replace the old Knothole Gang of the past few years. Club membership cards will be distributed in the Lincoln schools in the near future. There will be approximately 16 Wigwam Nights during the season. In addition to seeing baseball, the Jaycees are planning other events for the members of the club, including a special field night and awarding of prizes to Wigwam members. Admission to the games will be the same as in 1952. They must show their club cards and pay the 10 cents charge which includes federal tax. Each Friday night that the Chiefs play at home will be Wigwam Night at Sherman Field.

Disc Diggin's

Greetings Disc Jockeys! I'm back this week with some good platter chatter.

An oldie that is rising upward is; "Caravan" by Ralph Marterie. One of the popular hot plates "Let Me Go Home Whiskey," by Amos Milburn, is real gone.

Roy Brown breaks down with "Hurry Hurry Baby," a sure hit on anybody's player.

Attention, Jazz Lovers! a must is "Jam Session," featuring such Grand stars as Charlie Parker, Flip Phillips and Benny Carter.

Wanta hear something cute? You should cap Frankie Laine and Jimmy Boyd in "Tell me a Story".

Better pick up a few of these records this week. Remember variety is the spice (song) of life.

Joe Black, Brooklyn Dodger pitching star, will remain on relief this summer so reports Manager Charley Dressen.

Dressen has announced that Jackie Robinson will open the season at third base and Rookie Junior Gilliam will be at second.

Gene Baker has been returned to Los Angeles by the Chicago Cubs. Baker, when he appeared in the Western League with Des Moines, was the first Negro to play in the loop.

Former Western Leaguer Bill Bruton, Denver, is getting a real trial with Milwaukee. He has been getting the call for the centerfield post in most of the exhibition games.

Connie Johnson and Bob Boyd, both formerly with Colorado Springs, are still with the Chicago White Sox. Boyd has been hitting well in exhibition games. He has been playing in the outfield and at first. Johnson looked very good in an exhibition game last week. Johnson broke Bobby Shantz' Western League strikeout record last season.

Sammy Williams, popular Omaha Golden Glover, won his Intercity bout last week in Chicago. Williams scored a second round TKO.

Dick McWilliams will not participate in track at Lincoln High this spring. Dick has reached age limit for prep athletic participation.

Jon McWilliams, Sidney, Sylvester Harris, Kansas City, Mo., and Charles Bryant, Omaha, will answer Coach Bill Glassford's spring football call at the University of Nebraska.

Rod Washington, class A sprint champion in last year's Nebraska high school meet, is expected to score a lot of points for Wesleyan this spring.

Satchel Paige has been doing better than all right in his spring training appearances with the St. Louis Browns.

Monte Irvin last week injured the same ankle which he broke in Denver last year. However, the injury wasn't considered serious.

Power of Silent Prayer

What a terrific force would be released if a universal period of prayers for the freedom of all oppressed people behind the Iron Curtain was offered up in every church throughout the free world. If these prayers of every faith could be translated, broadcast, released, to be carried by the winds or smuggled across the borders, if they could reach the people to whom they were directed with a request that they join, silently if necessary, in such prayer—what a great force would be at work. Let no skeptic deny its power.—From an address made by the Hon. William F. Knowland before the California Motor Transport Association and printed in the Congressional Record.

Solution to Last Week's Puzzle on Page 4.

You Are the Detective

Upon your arrival at the home of Burton Grimes, you find two men bent over his body which lies on the floor in his first-floor study. One of them turns to you.

"It was I who phoned you," he says. "I'm Dr. James Gleer. I've been Mr. Grimes' personal physician for years. I hurried over here in response to a telephone call from this gentleman, who told me he had arrived here and found Mr. Grimes lying on the floor obviously very ill. But I was too late getting here—he was dead!"

"I'm Frank Ferris," says the other man. "Perhaps you've heard or seen me on radio and television. I arrived in town only this morning, and knowing Mr. Grimes' reputation in the production of radio and television shows, I called him on the phone and arranged an interview with him this evening. It's too horrible that we had to meet in this way!"

You nod, then turn to the doctor again. "Was it poison?"

"Indications are that it was. But, as you can see, there are no glasses or bottles in this room.

You walk over to the desk, note the uncapped bottle of green ink, the half-consumed package of cigarettes and the various radio scripts that litter the surface of the desk. Then you pick up the brief case

"That's mine," says Ferris.

After asking his permission, you look through the contents—newspaper clippings, press notices, letters of recommendation, and the like.

"Who let you into the house?" you ask Ferris.

"Oh, I let myself in. I rang the doorbell a number of times, but without response. I knew someone must be in because all the lights were on. So I tried the door and as soon as it opened, I heard Mr. Grimes' groans. He must have been in great pain. He couldn't talk."

"Well, Mr. Ferris," you say, "it may cause you some pain, too, when I tell you that you have to come to headquarters with me. You made one big mistake?"

What was that mistake?

Solution

Ferris claimed that Grimes was in such pain that he could not talk. But yet, although they had never met before, he phoned Grimes' personal physician. How could he have known the name or telephone number of Dr. James Gleer?
