

Today

Farmers Day.
A Coolidge Speech.
The Spirit Voices.
Watch Railroads Merge.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Thursday was a cheerful day for farmers. Wheat went up for July, September and December, closing at $1.32 for December. In Winnipeg the price was even higher, although our farmers are protected by a high tariff. Canadians think their crop is half destroyed. That "act of God," plus the determination of the big republicans to help Coolidge by putting prices higher, will certainly put them higher.

Cotton growers yesterday saw July prices go up $5 a bale. That rise, unfortunately, was caused by bad news of the crop. Growers can always get good prices for what they haven't got.

For the Wall street gentlemen, betting on Davis, a guardian should be appointed. In all friendliness to Mr. Davis, it must be said that the odds against him ought to be at least 1,000 to 1.

Seibold, who knows politicians, says Tammany Hall is asking: "How can we vote for Davis without voting for Governor Bryan?" They shake their heads when told it can't be done. Seibold doesn't mention the fact that, out west, many citizens are asking the other question: "Can we vote for Governor Bryan without voting for Davis?" That also cannot be done.

Democrats say they will elect Davis on the "oil issue." Here is a speech now being expanded into a longer speech that will go to all republican spellbinders:

"John W. Davis, democratic candidate, was solicitor general, mildly and gently, prosecuting Standard Oil, while the prices of Standard Oil shares rose steadily."

When he left that job, Mr. Davis became general attorney for Standard Oil. And while Mr. Davis was the lawyer of Standard Oil, that concern "acquired," with a scientific accuracy that marks great corporations, the national oil wells in California. Presumably Mr. Davis did not tell his client, Standard Oil company, how to do it, but he certainly didn't tell his client not to do it.

For information as to how great corporations get the people's oil reserve, republican speakers will refer you to Mr. Davis, yesterday Standard Oil lawyer, today democratic candidate for president. That speech will have influence.

Far off, near Spirit Lake, on Mount St. Helen's, a party well armed, is hunting a "tribe of devil men, or ape men," that have bombarded the cabins of miners. Indians say they know the tribe of old. They are called Seantiks, but were supposed to be extinct. According to Indians, they are seven or eight feet high, with hairy bodies like bears. They have a trick of throwing their voices in different directions like ventriloquists, and practice hypnosis.

What would Barnum have given for such a tribe? He had to find his "wild men" in New England. But the hairy, giant, bear-like Seantiks will probably be a disappointment. In New Jersey, crowds were hunting "a devilish creature, shaped like a kangaroo, that jumped over people's heads." It turned out to be a gentle deer, that jumped over picnicers sitting down.

All the old wonders are gone, no sea serpents, giants with one eye in the forehead, mermaids. Even the dime museums that contained them have vanished.

Senator Wheeler, Montana, a democrat, bolts the Davis ticket, saying he cannot support a candidate from Wall street. There have been many candidates from Wall street and some have been elected. But they have not started with quite such frank advertising.

Watch the railroads gradually grow into bigger and bigger units. The Pennsylvania road is said to be buying the New York, New Haven & Hartford road, sometimes called "the man from Jerusalem," because it also fell among thieves.

Mr. Rea of the Pennsylvania will put the New Haven road on its feet if he gets it.

Stock exchange gossip says that Henry Ford is trying to buy the St. Paul. That probably is not true. Ford says:

"There is nothing in railroads. Automobiles will do the carrying." (Copyright, 1924.)

Beatrice—Frank Zaribinsky, farmer, living near Odell, was severely injured by being kicked by a horse. His right leg was broken at the knee and his ankle splintered.

NEW PEN-JEL
Makes Perfect Jell

Now you can have better jellies and jams, everytime, with new PEN-JEL. No boiling juices that won't "jelly". PEN-JEL never fails. A powder of pure, tasteless pectin and fine, acidified sugars. Produces a perfect jell.

PEN-JEL preserves the natural fresh-fruit flavor and color. No long boiling. In 3 to 5 minutes you have the finest jelly and jam you ever tasted!

RECIPE FOR BETTER JAM
2 cups cherries or raspberries 1 cup water
1 pkg. New PEN-JEL 3 level cups sugar

Crush fruit thoroughly. Place in deep preserving kettle with the water. Add the PEN-JEL and stir while bringing to break boil. Boil 2 minutes; add the sugar. Stir vigorously until dissolved. Bring again to boil; count 3 to 5 minutes. Cool and pour into glasses. A 15c package makes 8 glasses of jam.

Storms Reduce Market Edibles

Late Crops Cause Higher Prices for Certain Vegetables on Sale Here.

By MARKET BASKET.
Vegetables which have heretofore been very abundant, are now less plentiful, according to the various markets. This is particularly true of lettuce and tomatoes which are scarce. The recent heavy rains and storms are accountable for this condition.

At this time last year, tomatoes could be purchased for 7 1/2 cents a pound. This year the home-grown tomatoes are very late in arriving. Those seen on the market are shipped while green from the south. When they are received by the Omaha markets, it is necessary to pick them over, resulting in considerable loss and high price. At present tomatoes are selling for 25 cents a pound.

Head lettuce is scarce in comparison with last year, and the little on the market sells for 20 cents a head. Cabbage, however, is abundant. Stacks of extra large heads of cabbage are seen in all the markets and they can be purchased for as low as 50 cents a dozen. Green peas are plentiful, retailing for 35 cents and 29 cents a market basket. Cucumbers are selling for 40 cents a basket. Beets still remain at two large bunches for 5 cents, green onions three bunches for 5 cents, leaf lettuce 5 cents a bunch. New potatoes continue to drop in price and large ones can now be bought for 35 cents a peck. First shipments of Arizona sweet potatoes are now included in the vegetable squares at 10 cents a pound. Sweet corn is another late arrival but is expensive as yet. Summer squash is on display for 10 cents each.

Canning season for plums and peaches is on hand. Burbank plums can be purchased for $2.39 a case. Plums in baskets range in price from 59 cents to 65 cents a basket. Peaches are coming in ripe and a nice size basket can be purchased for 20 cents or if desired for canning purposes, they can be bought in bushel baskets for $2.39 each. New plums are plentiful, retailing for 25 cents and 75 cents a basket. Of interest, is the fact that extra fancy last year's wineapples can still be procured. Rockyford melons, one of the sweetest cantaloupes on the market grown in Rockyford, Colo., are attracting many shoppers at 30 cents each.

Watermelons are coming in in great abundance and are falling in price. They are now selling for 39 cents each. Oranges arrive in large quantities, ranging in price from 1 cent each to 45 cents a dozen for the extra large and sweet. In berries, fancy red raspberries and black berries reign. They range in price, according to quality, from 12 1/2 cents to 20 cents a box. Cherries are larger and riper but a slight trend in price is noticed. Currants are abundant and can be had by the market basket for $1.35 each. Strawberries are few and sell for 20 cents a quart basket. Peas are sweet though green for 30 cents a basket.

Cold meats continue in popularity and will probably hold first place among the eaters for the next month or two or throughout the hot weather season. Pork has taken a slight advance in wholesale price, but the Omaha retail markets have as yet made no change in their price.

In the fish department Lake pickerel, which makes an excellent dish whether boiled, baked, or fried, is seen for 25 cents a pound. Smoked white fish at 35 cents a pound is exceptionally good for the cold lunches.

Aunt Sally's pickled beets, delicious when served with salads, were the feature attraction at one market this week. They are all large beets and sell for 5 cents each. For the discriminating housewife or entertainer, rolled cheese sticks and extra tiny small French peas known as Petits Pois-Extra Fines, can be bought at another market.

Your Husband Wouldn't Do It!

What would become of your husband's business if the typewriter companies and spring-water concerns operated on the Cash-and-Carry plan? If every time he wanted an eraser or a bottle of ink he personally had to run out and get it?

The grocer has no more right to ask you to carry home your groceries, no more right to inconvenience you by demanding cash payments and personal marketing than your husband's tradesmen have to infringe on his time.

Your job is running your home efficiently, and that means selecting a grocer you can trust and demanding real service of him. In addition, we know what to recommend. That's our business.
