

Coolidge May Run as "Independent" in Trio of States

Board of Strategy Urges Plan to Guard Against Treachery in Ranks.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON. International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, July 20.—President Coolidge's campaign "board of strategy" has under consideration a plan to run the president as an independent nominee in Wisconsin, North Dakota and South Dakota, and abandoning the state republican organizations to the La Follette insurgency.

Butler Favors Plan.

William Butler, republican national chairman will convene at Madison Monday to discuss with the president the details of this plan and the political situation in general.

This move was advocated by the president's closest political advisers to circumvent the alleged purpose of La Follette's managers to "steal" the Coolidge electoral votes in those states. This could be accomplished, it was pointed out, by the La Follette controlled republican state organizations selecting as "republican electors," only such men as actually favored the Wisconsin senator.

In the electoral college, although chosen as Coolidge men, the electors could cast their votes for La Follette.

In preparing his speech of acceptance which will be delivered at Continental Memorial hall here, the president is following the same course he pursued in writing his first message to congress. He will consult with republican leaders from all sections of the country, weigh their suggestions carefully, but the speech will be his own. This document will sound the keynote for his campaign and it will contain his interpretation of the platform written at Cleveland.

The president was said to agree with Chairman Butler that the scandals would play "little moment" in the coming campaign. The chief executive was reported to feel that the country is more interested in governmental economy, a tax reduction program and such domestic policies as effect railroad rates, agricultural prices and industry.

The entire police force of the city of New York is engaged in an intensive search for the fiend who mistreated and strangled little Francis, the 8-year-old son of Policeman and Mrs. Arthur McDonnell, and buried the body in a lonely grave on Staten Island. The mourning parents are shown with their two remaining children.

New York, July 20.—More than 300 detectives and uniformed policemen, in addition to a number of special investigators, the greatest number ever assigned to run down a criminal on Staten Island, are continuing their hunt for the murderer of 8-year-old Francis McDonnell. Despite their efforts the identity of the man who strangled the boy in a thicket near Port Richmond last Monday still remains a mystery.

Captain Ernest van Wagner, chief of Staten Island detectives, said that but little progress had been made toward a solution of the crime. He said his forces are devoting themselves now to a process of elimination. This means a thorough questioning of more than 2,000 patients, inmates and employes of the Sea View hospital and of the city poor farm, nearby.

A meeting of the women's police reserves of Staten Island was held Monday and plans were adopted for active cooperation in the hunt for the slayer.

THE SILENT DRAMA

At the Strand. Gloria Swanson is back again in one of her best pictures, "Manhandled," playing at the Strand for the week. The story, by Arthur Stringer, ran serially in the Saturday Evening Post, but whether you read it or not, you'll like the picture. "Manhandled" deals with the problems of life as the shop girl finds them, and Miss Swanson in the role of Tessie McLean runs the whole gamut of emotions, trying the white lights of Broadway and spending time as a modiste's model, all for the love of money. But she learns in the end that the honest love of Johnny Hogan, a hard working auto mechanic, is far better than the temporary luxuries showered upon her by sculptors, store owners, modistes and manufacturers.

Tom Moore, who will be remembered for his performance in "Big Brother," is even more human and more convincing as the mechanic with whom Gloria finds happiness. Allan Dwan directed the picture.

At the Rialto. For the movie fan that really wants something different Zane Grey's "Wanderer of the Westland," at the Rialto this week, fills the bill.

Zane Grey's story is familiar to many who have read the book. It is a story of a man, who is driven out into the desert by an unjust persecution, to become a wanderer and an outcast. The good that he does for others gives him the courage to come back to civilization and fight his own fight and win it. There is virtually every desirable fan interest in the picture, love, thrills, fight, humor—and to top it all, the entire picture is done in natural colors by the technicolor process, a process which promises to bring a new era in the motion picture field. It has never before been attempted in a full length feature. The actual scenes mentioned in Mr. Grey's book—the mountain and desert country of Arizona and the foothills of California—were used as backgrounds for the swiftly moving story, so that nature's handwork is in all its marvelous colorings. An almost perfect cast was picked. Jack Holt makes an ideal hero and Billie Dove is a vision of loveliness in the leading feminine role. Noah Beery and Kathryn Williams also deserve credit for splendid work.

At the Sun. "Fifteen men on a dead man's chest—yo, ho, ho, and a bottle of rum!" That's what you feel like singing after having seen the screen offering at the Sun this week. The film, "Strangers of the Night," a screen version of Walter Hackett's famous play, "Captain Applejack," offers the best opportunity for screen fans to obtain a genuine thrill that Omaha has had for a long time.

The story opens in a mansion off the Cornish coast of England, and leads from the drawing room to a pirate cruise and back before the unexpected climax is reached. For the role of Captain Applejack, Enid Bennett, to be remembered for her work in "Robin Hood," appears in the role of a demure little British girl, while Barbara La Marr is the spectacularly beautiful Russian adventuress. Robert McKim, Enid Bennett and Otto Hoffman, Enid Fitzeroy and Thomas Ricketts share honors in the secondary group of players. Captain Applejack is a "mildest mannered man that ever scuttled a ship or cut a throat" and who heathers the storm of mutiny is told with thrills and laughs aplenty.

At the Moon. The colorful life of the sawdust ring and the romance of the west are combined in "The Circus Cowboy," the screen offering at the Moon for this week. The story concerns a cowpuncher, who pursued by a posse in the belief that he shot a man, escapes and joins the ranks of a circus as a trick rider.

While sheltered in this temporary haven he falls desperately in love with a little tight-rope walker, but many exciting situations come to pass before he claims her as his own. Marion Nixon, who plays the part of the girl in the case, was formerly a circus performer. She offers some fine support for Charlie Jones, who has the leading masculine role. Others in the cast are Jack McDonald, Ray Hallor and George Romann.

An extra added feature is the Dempsey-Firpo fight pictures, shown for the first time in Omaha.
