

A bear of a caddy.—Brown Betty, a pet cinnamon bear cub as a caddy for Gordon Guthrie, son of Dave Guthrie, the "pro" of the Buck Hill Falls Golf Club, Pennsylvania.
—Wide World.

Camp Good Will, at Washington, D. C., where the poor kiddies of the National Capitol city are cared for through the hot summer months.
—Wide World.

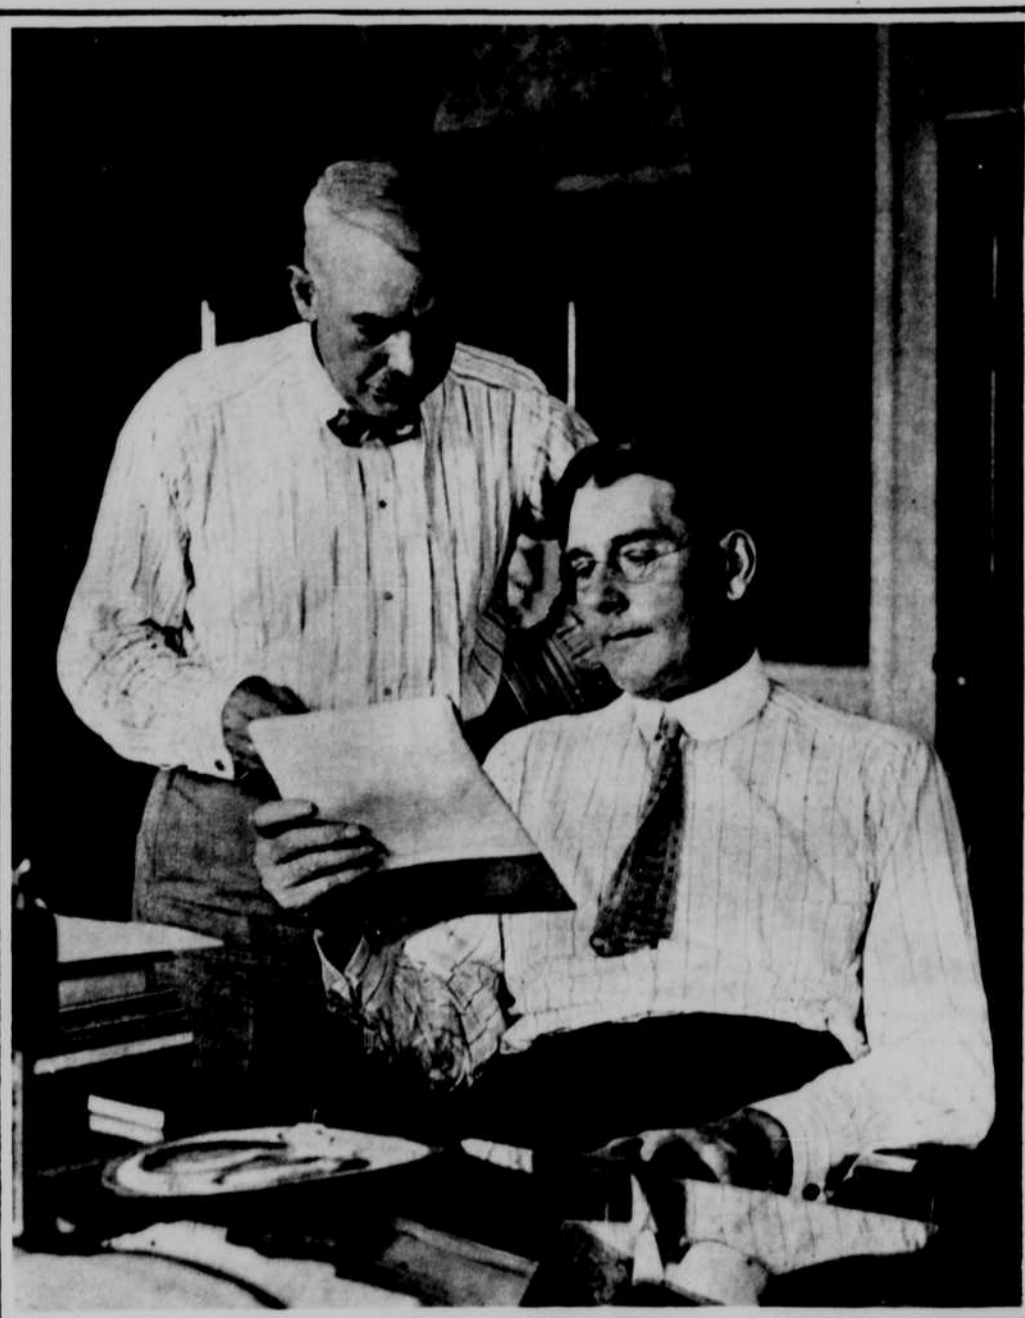

President Doumergue in the left foreground, after receiving Secretary of State Hughes, Ambassador Herrick and members of the American Bar Association at the Elysee Palace.
—Wide World.

The Ursus Kermodei, species of white bear, and the only one of its kind ever captured alive. It is now in Victoria, B. C., having been taken by Indians on Princess Royal Island, northern British Columbia. Zoologists have sought a specimen for twenty years.
—Wide World.

Charles Ponzi, whose financial scheme brought him a Federal sentence about four years ago finishes his sentence of the Government and is now out on bail of $14,000 pending his trial in the Suffolk County, Mass., courts.
—Wide World.

Dog Days in Washington, with the mercury hovering in the vicinity of 106 Degrees above zero, is sufficiently hot to melt the jackets from Secretary of the Navy, Curtis Wilbur and Rear Admiral J. L. Latimer.
—Wide World.

A British Aerial Derby: start of pigeon race in England. Five thousand birds were released from five railway cars in the yards at Ashby-de-la Zouche in Leicestershire, England, recently. The birds came from Leeds and adjoining towns.
—Wide World.

