This Week's Choice Real Estate Values

"HOW'S BUSINESS?"

By D. E. BUCK, Realtor.

This is quite a common question and a pleasant one when you can honestly answer it.

Realtors and builders generally in Omaha are reporting the biggest demand for modern homes since the spring business of 1923. In fact, all business has taken such a spurt in the last four or five weeks that it is quite noticeable that business men are not even talking politics. The building and loan associations are making liberal loans and, in order to encourage building new homes and to assist the home owners, have reduced their interest rates to 6 per cent, the lowest interest rate charged by the loan associations in the last eight years. People have plenty of money now to purchase modern homes, and it is surprising the number of cash sales that are being made as compared to last spring or even the years 1922 and 1923. The very favorable crop conditions throughout Nebraska and Iowa is putting some old-time pep into the real estate business; the farmer's money must have an outlet, and when crops are good business is good, especially in Omaha.

D. E. Buck & Co. report the sale of 15 homes listed with them; total valuation $101,450, since August 15, only one of which sold under $5,000, and 11 out of the 15 sold the purchaser paid cash, or cash above the mortgage, so no terms were necessary. One of the 15 sales was made through the Multiple Listing exchange by the Tukey company.

D. E. Buck & Co. are enthusiastic over the success they have had in building in Standard Place addition. They have built 17 homes in this addition since February 1 this year and have sold 16 of them, only one left to sell. Mr. Buck has just started excavations for four more homes in this addition, one in Minne Lusa and two on Bedford avenue. These homes will be ready to occupy by November 15.

This firm will continue to use only the best material and first-class workmen, as Mr. Buck believes that better-built-homes are more easily sold and that good construction speaks for itself. One marked advance in real estate is noticed in lot values in Standard Place. Mr. Buck states that good city lots could be bought readily last winter in Standard Place for $850 to $1,000 each, while now no lots are offered under $1,050 to $1,400. He believes that the fall election will slip quietly by and that 1925 will be Omaha's biggest year in real estate transfers and new building business, as many of our old neighbors are coming back to Omaha from Los Angeles, Florida and other boom districts to live in and enjoy Omaha's steady growth, believing Omaha the best town in the United States of America.

GLOVER AND SPAIN MAKE BIG SALES

Four investment property sales totaling $51,750 have been made in the last 10 days by Glover & Spain, realtors.

These sales include a four-apartment brick building at 3115 Davenport street to David L. Carpenter for $18,000; a brick store building at the corner of Twenty-fourth and Erskine streets to Mrs. L. N. Northan for $16,000; a frame duplex at 2220-22 Spencer street to Mary Glasman for $6,750, and a brick business building at 1154-56-58 North Sixteenth street to Joseph Hansen for $11,000.

SUNDAY

Beautiful Homes on Hanscom Boulevard

Ideally located are the eight new homes now nearing completion between Frederick and Spring streets, which are being built by C. G. Carlberg, realtor. Fronting east on Hanscom Park boulevard, setting well back from the street, these homes have beautiful lawns and a double row of large maple trees.

Consisting of five and six rooms, they are of the sizes most in demand. Built by day labor, of the best materials, and well planned architecturally, they will make cozy homes. All have long living rooms, fireplaces, breakfast nooks, and the modern features to make housework easy.

Situated in Parkvale, on the Park West car line, among new, high grade homes, they are in a fine home neighborhood, only 18 minutes to Sixteenth and Farnam.
