Tugs moved up fast rounding the last turn and catching Rond stopping passed him easily to win with ease. Bond was urged into a long lead and kept it to the far turn where he commenced to fire but made a game finish to save second place. Bon Box finished resolutely and ran her race. Manokin showed speed but was done after entering the stretch. Wireless after racing in closest early pursuit of the pacemaker quit to a walk.

Three Former Champs Forced Out of Running

Max Marston, Present Title holder, Defeats British Walker Cup Team Member-Gardner Wins.

The fighting spirit of a 17 year-old school boy of Washington, D. C., who did not when he was licked added to the excitement of the first round on match play in the national amater playing 18 holes, eight down with 15 holes left to play, Roland R. Mc-Kenzie, who attracted attention first by a 73 in the first half of the qualifying round, squared his match with George Von Elm of Los Angeles, at the home grene by doing the afternoon round in 68. Then he lost at an extra hole by taking three putts. Never has the tournament seen a more sensational uphill battle that just failed of victory.

The first round saw the elimination of three former amateur champions. At the Merion Cricket club where 1916, Chick Evans of Chicago, experienced one of the worst defeats of his career when he was downed by another Chleagoan, "Rudy" Knepper, who usd to play for Princeton and floux City. The score was 9 cup team and former amateur champion lost at the home green to W. L. Hope, Scottish member of Great Britain's Walker cup team, now the only Briton surviving in the tournament. H. Chandler Egan of Portland, Ore., former champion was put out by E. H. Driggs, jr., of New York, 7 and 6. The present champion, Max R Marston of Philadelphia eliminated Major Charles O. Hezlet of the British Walker cup team, 3 and 1, over a Briton, eliminating Tony Americans were victor in the other nternational matches of the day.

Bobby Jones of Atlanta defeating J. William I. Hunter of Los Angeles former British amateur champion. 2 and 1.

Platt, who has to his credit vicories over Francis Ouimet and S. Davison Herron in past national tournaments, plays Marston tomorrow.

"TINY" HERMAN RETURNS TO OMAHA

"Tiny" Herman, Jack Lewis' heavyweight fighter, returned to Omaha yesterday from a successful tour of the Pacific coast fight centers, where he won the five battles in which he participated. His best victory was at the expense of Floyd Johnson, Of the five fights Herman won two via knockout and three by decision. According to Lewis, several fight clubs are angling for Herman's serve
