

Twenty-Five Cornhuskers Leave Today for Scene of Oklahoma Game

Nebraska on Short End of Team Weight

Sooners Will Outweigh Huskers Line—Hutchison, Collins and Locke on Injured List.

INCOLN, Neb., Oct. 8.—Cornhuskers polished off a game with the Sooners Wednesday evening after which the Huskers were hounded and everything was put in shape for the swing in to the southland where the Huskers tackle Oklahoma Saturday.

Based on compilation of weight statistics, Nebraska will be on the short end of the weight again. All of Oklahoma's advantage is in the line, however.

All of the first string which started against Illinois, barring Hutchison and possibly Melvin Collins, are ready for the Sooners fray. Hutchison will make the trip, but his broken collar bone will keep him out of the last practice Wednesday, although it is not thought the infection will keep him out of the game.

Wednesday evening was the first match which the Huskers have experienced thus far this season. Coach Dawson was making no pre-game statements, as he still feels that the Huskers are an unknown quantity. He sized up the situation before the Illinois game in these words:

"If the boys go we will have no cause to worry, but whether they will do that or not is the question."

Roland Locke is getting out each evening, but his ankle is in such shape that he is unable to do much work. As a result, he is putting on much weight. The Nebraska speed demon may get in the Sooners game for a short time, but his presence is doubtful.

Another promising halfback, Frank Mielzen, is still hobbling with an injured ankle, but Trainer McLean believes he will be ready for practice by Saturday.

The program calls for the arrival in Oklahoma City Friday noon with a workout there in the afternoon. The Cornhuskers will move on to Norman about an hour before game time Saturday. Cornhusker reporters are preparing a big send off for the team here.

The tentative lineups, with the weights of both teams, may appear something like this:

Nebraska	Oklahoma
Price, 170	Collins, 165
Penick, 185	Walters, 185
Wolf, 190	Walters, 185
Shaefer, 182	Weston, 183
Clark, 190	Hobbs, 193
Sumner, 190	Molten, 193
Brookman, 190	Robertson, 193
Young, 182	Rhodes, 182
Hendrix, 181	Rhodes, 182
Zentgraf, 182	Myers, 184
Hirshon, 190	Myers, 184
Total weight, Oklahoma, 1,300 pounds, average, 152.5.	Total weight, Nebraska, 1,242 pounds, average, 157.5.
Total weight of backfield, Oklahoma, 667; average, 167.	Nebraska, 653; average, 167.
Total weight of line, Oklahoma, 1,910; average, 175.8.	Nebraska, 1,910; average, 175.8.

In the four games which Oklahoma and Nebraska engaged in the Huskers have three victories, the 1919 final ending in a 7-7 tie.

RESULTS OF OTHER GAMES.
1912—Nebraska, 12; Oklahoma, 9.
1913—Nebraska, 12; Oklahoma, 7.

Walter Johnson Denies Report About Him Purchasing Stock in Oakland Club

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Walter Johnson said today after he was beaten for the second time during the world series by the Giants that it was doubtful if he would play ball next year.

The big pitcher, who waited 18 years to get into baseball's classic, would not elaborate on his state of mind, but did deny a report that he had bought stock in the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league.

"I could not hold them," he said, referring to the game which he evidently considered to be his last appearance in a world series, if not in big league baseball.

"I'm sorry," he continued, "I had two chances to beat them, but I could not hold them at either time."

Manager Harris was philosophical. "They made breaks and they beat us," he said. "Life is that way. But we'll catch them tomorrow. Zachary will pitch."

Roger Peckinpaugh, veteran short stop and captain of the Senators, whose absence because of a charley horse has been severely felt during the last three games, was determined to play tomorrow.

"I'll get in that game if I break a leg," he said.

Manager McGraw was in happy spirits as his team made ready to be escorted by a motor column through town to catch the special train en route to Washington shortly before 6 o'clock.

"I think Neff will be ready to use tomorrow," he said. His hand was in fair shape today and 24 hours should make a lot of difference. If Neff cannot work, Barnes will get another chance."

The veteran manager would not predict an end of the series tomorrow. "Washington is a good game team and anything can happen in baseball, you know," he said.

ST. LOUIS CHAMPS HAVE REAL TEAM

When the Curlee Clothiers, municipal amateur baseball champions of St. Louis, clash against the Murphy-Didd-Hits at League park Sunday, amateur baseball fans will have an opportunity of witnessing one of the best balanced amateur teams in this part of the country.

The outstanding star of the Missouri nine is Maguire, center fielder, who last season led the Three-league in hitting. This gent's fielding last Sunday was one of the features of the Curlee's double win over the Omaha champs.

The boat of the sandbar, and then they found that the boat was leaking and that a half a foot of water was in it. They then tried to row to shore and found that the current was going down river about as fast as a man could walk.

"The next time I go on the Platte river," says Jack, "it will be when it is frozen solid and I can walk on it. That current is so swift and strong that even fish sprain their tails trying to swim up stream."

Giants Defeat Senators, 6 to 2

The Giants suddenly found himself without a second baseman, and had to play Frisch.

Heinie Groh, his day one of the greatest third basemen in the game, would undoubtedly have been playing in this series in place of Lindstrom had he not met with an accident during the playing season. McGraw has no substitute of established ability to take Groh's place.

He had been watching Lindstrom carefully and decided to take a chance with him. He could always shift Frisch to third, put Kelly on second and use Terry at first. Lindstrom had been one of the sensations of the series. With Jackson and Frisch he gives McGraw the youngest infield that ever played in a world series. McGraw himself was not much older than Lindstrom when he began playing third base for the Baltimore Orioles. Perhaps he sees in Lindstrom a reflection of himself years ago.

You couldn't call it a good game today. Washington played bad baseball at times. The Giants were far from perfect. When ball clubs get poor pitching they play poorly.

The Giants can close the series by winning tomorrow in Washington. That would give them four games to two. If Washington wins, the series goes into seven games, which is unusual in these championship battles. The clubs are evenly matched, no doubt of that. McGraw will probably start Neff tomorrow, and Harris must go with Zachary.

Hogan Shows Up Well at Iowa
Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 8.—The game here last Saturday between Iowa and Southeastern Teachers college of Oklahoma was of considerable value to Coach Burton Ingwersen because he was able to get a line on his second-string men as to what they were able to do in actual competition. It would not be surprising, local athletic sages declare, if Ingwersen would send in an almost entirely new backfield from that which started the game last Saturday when the Hawkeyes met Ohio State the end of this week.

Hogan, who went in as a substitute half, showed up very good, and although he scored no touchdowns was instrumental in placing the ball where the goal could be made. Scantlebury also displayed his wares in good fashion when the Hawkeyes met regular quarterback, doubtlessly will start again this Saturday, it was said.

NEBRASKA TOWN TO HONOR VANCE
Hastings, Neb., Oct. 8.—When "Daddy" Vance, whose sensational pitching the current season has been responsible for the strong showing made by the Brooklyn Dodgers, returns to his old home town after the smoke of baseball battles clears away this fall, he will get a rousing reception.

Plans have already been completed for a complimentary dinner in the Lions club, of which "Daddy" has just become a member.

Vance went to high school here and later was sold as a $3,000 lemming to the St. Joseph club of the Western League by Edward Deines and Frank Castle of this city. "Daddy" considers his patron saints since the deal marked the beginning of his meteoric rise to pitching fame. As a token of his appreciation, "Daddy" invited both men to attend the world series as his guests and offered to pay all expenses of the trip.

Mrs. George Redick Loses at Country Club
In Tuesday's match play at the Omaha Country club for the Ellis Sprague Memorial handicap trophy, Mrs. A. H. Sibbernson, aided by a handicap of four, won from Mrs. George Redick, 5 and 4, while Mrs. Guy Kiddoo, with a handicap of seven, defeated Mrs. Lawrence Brinkner, 2 and 1.

In the semi-finals, Mrs. C. E. Metz will play Mrs. Sibbernson and Mrs. Guy Kiddoo will meet Mrs. Sam Caldwell.

This afternoon a mixed foursome competition will be held.

Two Lincoln Golfers Shot Same Hole in One
Lincoln, Oct. 7.—R. E. Scott of Lincoln, playing on the Antelope municipal course here yesterday, made hole No. 9 in one shot, and a few minutes later O. M. Warren, playing in a foursome directly behind that in which Scott was playing, dropped his ball into the No. 9 cup on his drive. It is a 50-yard hole.

SCRAMBLED SPORTS

GRANGE MAY NOT REPEAT HIS 1923 PERFORMANCES.

"RED" GRANGE, the star of the University of Illinois football team, who was high point scorer in the Western conference last season, may not shine as brightly this year as he did last.

The Nebraska game was the first football contest since Grange entered school that he had not scored a point for his team. He made two spectacular runs and tried many times to reel off long gains, but he was a marked man from start to finish. The publicity given "Red" throughout the country has made him stand out head and shoulders over his teammates, and naturally in every game in which he plays he will be "marked." Players on opposing teams will enter the game to stop "Red" Grange. Nebraskans were instructed to stop Grange and they did.

Several times in the Nebraska-Illinois game Grange ran into his own interference. He was too fast for his interference, and his best gains were registered when he broke through a tackle or skirted the ends where he could take a zig-zag course down the field without running into his own interference.

When "Red" saw that he couldn't gain much ground against the Huskers he resorted to forward passing. He flipped the pigskin through the air fast and accurately. He will throw many a scare into the enemy with his passing.

As the large crowd filed out of the wonderful stadium one could hear fans asking this question: "Why didn't Nebraska try more forward passes?"

Illinois got away with five out of their six passes, while Nebraska made a total of 12, and before the end of the intercepted by the snow flurries start fluttering around these parts, this little western state is going to come in for a lot of attention from the race tracks of the country.

It is well known in turf records that Idaho has sent several boys to the race who in a few years became famous pilots of horseflesh.

First there was Albert Johnson, whose contract was first held by Stuart Polk, western horseman. Polk sold Johnson's contract for a fat sum. Then there were the three Fator brothers—Laverne, Elmer and Martin. These three rode to prominence and stood well up on the list of American jockeys. In one season at Tijuana Martin Fator led the jockeys of America for the year in the number of winning mounts.

The latest jockey from Idaho to gain nationwide fame as a rider of thoroughbreds is Ivan Park, considered one of the most brilliant riders of all times since the days of Tod Sloan.

One might say that the famous baseball pitcher and the topnotch jockeys are putting Idaho on the map in sportdom.

Coach Adams Sends Omaha Cards Through Hard Practice Session
Despite frequent deluges of rain, the University of Omaha Cardinals went through a hard practice yesterday afternoon at Fontenelle park.

Much time was put in perfecting the offense and defense on the kick-off, and the afternoon's work was rounded off with intensive signal practice, a half hour of scrimmage.

Tomorrow the Red and Black gridirers will meet the American Business college team in a practice game at Fontenelle park. The Business men are reported to have a good lineup, and Coach Adams expects the tussle to show up the weak points in his eleven. Monday afternoon the Nebraska Deaf and Dumb Institute will furnish the opposition, and if that does not satisfy the craving for battle, the Omaha Central team will be tackled before the season's opener against Tarkio, October 17.

In a slight shift of the lineup yesterday, Theelen, halfback, was placed at tackle, and looked good in his first attempt as play-smearer. With Meek and Captain Bolendahl, a pair of smashing tackles, and Pinto, who has been breaking through in great shape, the Cardinals should be able to hold their own in the tackle department with any team in the conference.

Diets, Emigh, Slater, Mead and Sterner have all been hitting the line and running the ends in good fashion, and it is uncertain who will start against Tarkio next week in the backfield.

Coach Adams has signed a game with the Nebraska college, October 31.

Midland College Looms Up as Strong Contender for State Conference Title
The Nebraska intercollegiate football season got under way last week-end when Coitner college defeated Doane college at Crete, 11 to 12, and Midland college turned back Wayne Normal at Wayne, 20 to 2.

The Cotner-Doane game was a hard fought contest, the Bulldogs winning because they were successful in making the extra point after one touchdown.

Midland's defeat of Wayne marks the former school as one of the strongest teams in the conference. The work of Carmody and Chambers of the Midland back field and Captain Moran of Wayne stood out in this contest.

Ladkin Pulls Up Lame in Trial Workout

East's Hope in Big International Race With Epinard Has Sore Infoot.

ATONIA, Ky., Oct. 8.—Ladkin, one of the main hopes of the east in the international special races here Saturday, pulled up lame after a mile and a quarter try-out here today. A sore in foot caused by the hard tracking was given as the cause, but veterinarians were sanguine over his chance of getting in the last international against the great Epinard.

August Belmont's colt went the full international distance in 2:10 2/5, breezing the last quarter. He was given his head but a short time, and then checked. It was while being led off the track that a slight limp was noticed and almost immediately the report spread that the eastern contender had gone hopelessly lame and would not start.

Epinard, Pierre Worthelmer's creditable performer, was breezed three-quarters of a mile between races, negotiating the distance in 1:15. Jockey Everett Haynes held his mount hard all the way. Haynes accepted a mount on Bewitching in the second race of today's Latonia card in order to accustom himself to the local starter's method of letting the barrier go. Bewitching finished seventh in a race which had 12 starters.

Sarazen, Princess Doreen and Chillum were given workouts today. The Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt gelding covered the full distance with his weight up in fast time of 2:04, breezing at the finish.

Princess Doreen, the hope of Kentucky and the west went a mile and a quarter with her weight up in 2:05 1/5, breezing at the finish. Chillum breezed 5/8 of a mile in 1:02 1/5. He carried full weight and appeared to be in good condition.

Marble Champ Attends Series
New York, Oct. 7.—George Lenox of Catonsville, Md., the boy who won the marble shooting championship of the world at Atlantic City, had a ticket to the world's series this year, is a guest of President Heydler of the National league at the big games. He sits just behind Heydler's box.
