

Plot to Throw Election Into House Is Bared

Democrats and La Follette Conspired Months Ago to Block Voters' Choice, Sears Charges.

Corruption Rampant.

"In behalf of the Bloom candidacy there was more fraud and corruption than I have ever heard of before in any election. Mr. Nelson is the main lieutenant of La Follette in Wisconsin. A few days after the hearing had report of the committee, Mr. Nelson secured a copy of the evidence and so was conversant with the facts. He at once got busy with the democrats and Bloom supporters, but had nothing to do with republican members of the committee, although he claimed to be a republican."

"The record as made up, that was before the committee, disclosed the following frauds perpetrated by the Bloom forces at that election—and some I may have forgotten."

"In one voting precinct the judges of election forced 10 ballots after the voters had placed them in the hands of the judges, changing them from Chandler to Bloom. In one precinct 51 ballots were taken from the pile ballots in front of the judges. Seventeen of them were later discovered in an adjoining back room with the top three marked for Bloom."

Ballots Were Stolen.

"In another precinct 35 were taken out of the pile of ballots with the knowledge of the judges and were never heard of after that. They were being used for fraudulent voting."

"In one precinct four workers for Chandler were ordered out of the precinct on pain of physical violence. In one precinct a man and his four sons, democrats who had always voted for Chandler, on attempting to vote were told that they had already been voted. In one precinct, contrary to law, a sign was up 'Vote for Bloom,' close to the poll. In one precinct on account of the frauds that had been perpetrated during the day, a woman clerk refused to sign the record."

"When the 17 ballots were discovered in the back room, within a few moments, four men came in and demanded the ballots that had been found, giving as the reason that they were officers and that they wanted to take them to the police station. The ballots never found their way to the police station and the men were undoubtedly from the democratic headquarters nearby. There was evidence that voters remained away from the polls because they heard of the frauds that were being perpetrated."

"When the votes were all counted it was found that on the face of the record Bloom had 128 majority over Chandler. The majority of the committee, all republicans, concluded that in the face of the fraud shown that undoubtedly Chandler had been deprived of more than 126 votes by frauds perpetrated against him and the election, and so held."

Election Contaminated.

"The republican members of the committee did not make a party question of this election, but tried to dispose of the same as a case would be tried on its merits in court. On that basis we concluded that an election so tainted by fraud should not be allowed to stand."

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with a twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germ that leads to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking Creomulsion in accordance with directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Girl Follows in Mother's Footsteps

Jane Sutcliffe, 3715 Leavenworth street, has taken the position of assistant secretary to Federal Judge J. W. Woodrugh. Her mother, who died recently, was Judge Woodrugh's secretary for more than a quarter of a century, as his secretary.

Jane Sutcliffe

New York, with Bloom, a democrat, on it, was split, 23 democrats and 22 republicans. I do not think that any member of the committee knew of the numerical division between the parties. I have been told that by several of the republicans and at least one democrat. I did not know how Iowa or Kansas were divided, nor New York.

"After our report was in, that is, the majority report, an attaché of Senator Copeland's office—so he interviewed told me—wrote an interview and placed it in the mouth of a New York democratic congressman, saying that the reason for our report was that should Chandler replace Bloom in the office of the republicans the New York vote should be thrown into the house. My understanding is that the democratic member of congress did not know of the pretended interview until after it had appeared in the paper."

"It was then that Mr. Nelson got busy, and when the house took the matter up on the floor some days afterwards Nelson came down the aisle with 45 minutes of democratic time to talk in favor of Bloom, in spite of the fact that he claimed to be a republican, which would cut no figure, and in spite of the fact that all the facts that I state above, and more, were contained in the evidence and data that were in Mr. Nelson's hands."

"Nelson did not and could not argue the facts in the case, but with a holy rolling of his eyes he charged fraud on the republicans. Myself and others on that day concluded that La Follette was going to be a candidate for president and that Nelson's motive was solely and alone, that his hope was to get a few states for La Follette and throw the election in the house if possible and to keep the New York vote from going to the republican nominee. Mr. Bloom expected to be thrown out, his friends expected him to be thrown out and he would have been had not Mr. Nelson's conduct been a fitting climax to the fraud perpetrated by the Bloom candidacy on election day. Mr. Nelson's committee, as I recall, has never reported on the La Guardia contest. Mr. La Guardia being a member of the Nelson bloc."

"In the house Nelson was known as one who simply carried out La Follette's orders and enough of the La Follette bloc joined the democrats as purely a political proposition to continue Bloom in his seat. As I recall, Mr. La Guardia, however, voted for Chandler."

BATTLE SPLITS "BOB'S" PARTY

They were tossed into a waiting dory. In the corridors stood other occupants of the building who were frankly amused by the troubles of their neighbors. Even the elevator operator, who, earlier in the day told me the fight was over, now grinned and spoke of the trenches.

And trenches they were to Otto Mutz, aged Nebraskan, and Frank Harrison, vigorous Californian.

At 3 Harrison carried the war to the enemy. The idea of a restraining order had been abandoned. In its stead was substituted a writ of replevin to the La Follette treasurer.

Again the thin constable came down the corridor. Again he carried a folded strip of paper. But this time it was for Otto Mutz. The state chairman was standing guard by his precious packages. Up stepped the constable, handed the paper to the old man, and service had been obtained.

And again there was a flight to the lawyer. From that flight Mutz had not returned tonight to the scene of his earlier triumph.

"I Want a Lawyer."

As he hurried down the steps, time flying too rapidly to permit waiting for the elevator, he shouted, in answer to a request for his next move: "I've got to see a lawyer."

There was something tragic in it. He had been so completely victorious a few moments before. Perhaps he will be victorious again. The courts will decide October 18 when hearing on his writ will be given, clearing on Harrison's writ is set for October 20.

In the meantime, Justice Stephens is trying to figure it all out.

"If a replevin B and C replevin B?" he asked plaintively of a lawyer who wandered into his court. The answer was missing and Justice Stephens turned back to a pile of law books to learn the answer to this riddle.

However, he has more than a writ of replevin on his hands. Mutz has filed a petition for a court order directing Will H. Clay, Lincoln postmaster, to deliver to him all mail addressed to the La Follette headquarters. Harrison is named as defendant. At 10 tomorrow morning Mutz and Harrison will meet again, to tell the judge who should have the privilege of opening letters in the offices of the La Follette campaign headquarters.

Literature Moves Back.

And while Justice Stephens was crinkling his brow in an endeavor to solve the A B C puzzle, Harrison, with a broom as a sword, stood watching the return of the property. Piece by piece it came back and then miles of onlookers in the corridors grew more and more broad.

Probably the only happy persons on the scene, disinterested spectators excepted, were the draymen.

"Well, we get a double job out of this," one of them said, as he staggered down the corridor under the weight of a thousand circulars extolling the virtues of "Fighting Bob," and his grin was the grin of a man who has seen two dollars grow where seed was planted for only one.

Two Injured in Nebraska Wreck

Oil Cars Burn as Train Goes in Ditch at Grand Island.

By Associated Press.

Grand Island, Neb., Oct. 15.—Three men stealing rides were injured, two perhaps fatally, several others are unaccounted for, and seven carloads of oil and five carloads of livestock are burning as a result of a wreck near Abbott, 10 miles west of Grand Island, at 9 a. m. today.

There are no means of combating the flames which, it is expected, will burn for several days. The train wrecked was extra Burlington through freight, No. 5087, composed mostly of oil cars.

The cause of the wreck is unknown. According to the engineer, something flew up in front and passed the cab as the train reached the spot where the cars, 14 in all, were derailed. The airbrakes were immediately applied, but when the train was brought to a stop the wreckage was in flames. Occasional explosions marked the progress of the flames.

Of the seven cars of livestock in the ditch, two were saved by the train crew and community volunteers. The engine crew at passenger train No. 42, following the freight, pulled over a scope of oil cars from the fire from the rear.

With an unknown number of men stealing rides, only three are accounted for, all having been removed to St. Francis hospital in this city with burns and other serious injuries.

The column of smoke from the burning cars can be seen for 10 miles, and hissing of the burning oil can be heard nearly a mile.

At the hospital the names of the two men more seriously injured were given as William Hagarty of Fremont, and Amos Dougherty of Greeley, Neb. The third man, Lesley Charlton, 2112 Windsor avenue, Kansas City, Mo., will be able to leave the hospital today, his injuries being not serious.

The total attendance at Holdrege in afternoon was more than 3,000. The local commercial club fed more than 5,000 persons at noon.

The purebred sire at this point was donated by ex-Governor Keith Neville of North Platte and was consigned to J. C. Ericson for the Boys' and Girls' Calf club.
