$85,000,000 Plan to Raise Cotton in Iraq Launched

Washington, Oct. 17.—Presidential and stage hours clashed this morning at the White House and at the conclusion of two hours of merry battle it was declared a draw.

John Drew, Al Johnson and about 40 other members of the Coolidge and Davies stage club won in determining the hour for a breakfast engagement by arriving at the White House at 9:30 after the president had waited an hour and a half past his usual breakfast time.

Mr. Coolidge stepped from the arena of wit and fun, however, promptly at 10:30 to meet the cabinet at the regular hour, just as his guests in the midst of a serenade were joining in the chorus of "Keep Coolidge."

It was a lively morning, both in the breakfast room and later on the White House lawn, where the actors entertained Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, not only with songs but with impromptu speeches. Johnson mixed in a few "presidential jokes" and was successful in his threat to make Mr. Coolidge "laugh out loud."

When it came to the singing of campaign songs Mrs. Coolidge joined in with an enthusiastic soprano.

Before departing for the cabinet meeting the president expressed his gratitude for the visit and assured the callers that the doors of the White House were open to them "at least until next March 4."

Concession Granted for Huge Irrigation System to Be Established by English Syndicate.

London, Oct. 17.—A concession valued at $85,000,000 for a cotton growing scheme in Iraq is reported to have been granted to Dr. Assar, the Syrian financier, who is turning it over to a syndicate in which Norton-Griffiths & Co., Ltd., the works contractors of London, are interested.

The project is regarded by the Iraq government as one with enormous potentialities, and as offering the assurance of prosperity for the country. The whole scheme is to be worked in a series of undertakings to be operated independently, with a concession in each case for 60 years, and with the possibility of a renewal for another 20 years.

Reverts to Government.

All the works executed on government lands and all the lands placed at the concessionaries' disposal, with the constructions on them, are to be handed over to the government at the end of 60 years.

The three main schemes are: The Habaniyah reservoir, the Tuluji Barrage, and the irrigation system dependent on these works on the Euphrates river.

The weir on the Dujalah river and the system of irrigation works dependent on it.

The dam at Tawlah, on the Dujalah river. A sufficiency of water is to be available for the cultivation of 7,000,000 acres of cotton yearly.

The first scheme is to be embarked upon this year, and will involve less than $2,000,000. The government, for the period of the concession, will be entitled to a crop percentage not to exceed 11 per cent, the figure to be definitely fixed after considering the financial aspect of each separate project.

Effect on Egypt.

It is expected that the development of the Iraq territory, where it has been proved that high-grade cotton can be raised, should benefit the Lancashire textile industry in view of the cotton scarcity. Save in the case of skilled technical labor the agricultural employees must be recruited from the Arabic-speaking countries. It is probable that there will be a big migration of Egyptian fellahs to Iraq.

The concession provides for the exemption of customs dues on all material and agricultural machinery necessary for carrying out the project.

Dr. Assar, who is a friend of the king of Iraq, has a financial reputation in the east, and has previously obtained concessions from the Turkish government for French and Belgian interests.

South Side Legion Plans for Drive

Committee Named to Arrange for Post's Armistice Day Program.

The South Omaha post of the American Legion held a get-together meeting at headquarters Thursday night to boost the post's membership drive.

Russell Gentsley of the Omaha legion post told how the Omaha post engaged the drive which made it the largest in the world.

Members of the South Omaha post were invited to attend the Omaha post's Armistice day banquet, at which the new national commander will speak.

A committee was appointed to consider a possible Armistice day program for the South Omaha legionnaires.

FATHER OF BRICK VICTIM IS JAILED

Roda Nebrich, 2817 R street, was sentenced to seven days in jail Friday for drunkenness and abusing his wife.

Thursday Roda testified in court against a neighbor whose arrest he caused on charge of breaking the arm of his son, Charlie, 12, with a brick. The neighbor is said to have thrown the brick at the Nebrich boy, who had entered his yard to retrieve a baseball batted from the street.

HOG PRICES HAVE REACHED PEAK

Hog prices have reached their peak, according to stockmen at the Omaha yards. They will rise no higher and will drop during the winter months.

Hog prices range now from $11 to $11.60. Last year at this time hogs were bringing only from $5.50 to $7.50.

Pork prices will sink this winter because packers have their winter supply of meat and can buck high prices.

Buckles Bound Over.

John Buckles was bound over to district court for trial on another one of the 11 robberies to which he confessed in July. Buckles is waiting trial now for another of the robberies.

Police officials declared that the second is being prosecuted because Buckles failed to plead guilty in district court as he had promised police. Buckles' bond is $5,000. He is held at police station in default of funds.

Fund for Eddie Morgan.

Police officers are collecting a fund to send Eddie Morgan, athletic director, west for his health. Morgan's lungs are in bad condition, according to his doctor.

Morgan joined the force in 1905, and was one of the first motorcycle officers in Omaha. A Farmer Burns once described him as "as good a little man as there is on the mat."

Japanese Navy to Meet, Repel Imaginary Foe

Part of Annual Maneuvers; Ships Sail Under Secret Orders to Repulse Attack.

By International News Service.

Tokio, Oct. 17.—The defense of Japan against an "imaginary" enemy which might attack by sea from the Hawaiian island, the Philippines, the Straits settlement or the Formosa sea is being worked out in the annual grand maneuvers of the Japanese imperial navy.

The prince regent is an observer at the maneuvers and will inspect the fleet after the two opposing squadrons meet in the final action of the problem.

Practically the entire imperial fleet, including major battleships, cruisers, destroyers, subchasers and the one airplane carrier, is taking part in the maneuvers, and in consequence a special coast defense corps has been organized at the Kure naval station, between Kobe and Nagasaki, under the command of Captain Takahashi, to be ready for any emergency.

The naval staff college in Tokyo and other naval schools are to be closed during the three weeks required to work out the problem given, and the faculties and students have been distributed among the various vessels and coast defense stations to observe the operations.

The attack is to be made by a major portion of the combined squadron, and a special unit has been organized to defend the coastline. The Navy department has made a close secret of the naval strategy to be tried out during the maneuvers, most of the warships having sailed under sealed orders.

Army maneuvers, which will be held later, are directed against the attack of an "imaginary" enemy which might come down through Siberia, with the consent of Russia, and invade Korea, where a base would be established for an attack on Japan.

USE OF TEA URGED IN PLACE OF WINE

Tea, instead of wine, was recommended to Mrs. Earl Kindall, 2525 Sherman avenue, as a stimulant at the end of a hard day by Judge Frank Dineen Friday morning.

Mrs. Kindall, the wife of a deputy game warden, was charged with drunkenness. The charge was dismissed. Mrs. Kindall told the judge that it was her custom to refresh herself with a glass of wine after a day's work.

WIFE DECLARES MATE STRUCK HER

Belle Maloney filed suit in district court Friday for divorce from John Maloney, her husband, 1523 North Eighteenth street. She has not lived with him for the last six years. They were married in 1904 and have a married daughter and a son, 11. She says he has not supported her and has struck her.

Get Out and Vote!

THE big job of calling at every home in Omaha and requesting the men and women to register and vote is best done by women, according to the get-out-the-vote committee, which has headquarters in the courthouse.

"In the first place women can command their time better than men who are bound by business hours," said Mrs. Charles Neal, who has charge of the canvass.

"And, in the second place, nine times out of ten, a woman comes to the door. And she can be talked to best by a woman canvasser."

Still more workers are needed, Mrs. Neal says. Volunteers are asked to call at headquarters, southeast corner of the courthouse, first floor.

Library's Study Value Stressed

Better Educational Facilities Needed, Speaker Tells Association at Omaha Meet.

Need of even better educational facilities for libraries than the United States now boasts was stressed by Carl H. Millan, Chicago, secretary of the American Library association, in an address to members of the Nebraska Library association at the Omaha Public Library Thursday night.

"No person is educated if he stops trying to acquire knowledge as soon as he leaves school," Mr. Millan said. "With this theory in mind we must think of the vast number of persons who must rely on the public libraries of the country for this later education and must keep our subjects up to a point where they will fill this want."

"The libraries' contribution to adult education will be in the field of supervised or directed study. Some libraries are already attempting to do this. They have established an office where anyone desiring aid in studying may go. But in the end the greatest aid a library can give is along the stated desires of an individual and this desire must come through direct contact with all the research branches of an institution."

More than 100 members of the Nebraska Library association attended the meeting.

Home Found in Ruins by Fire

Couple Returns From Movie to Discover Farm House Burned Down.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Taylor returned after attending a movie in Omaha to find their home at Twenty-eighth and Murdell street a smoldering ruin.

Bremen received the call at 1:15 and found the entire house in flame. They were unable to check the fire due to the fact that there are no water mains near the Taylor farm.

Fire was caused by an oil stove left burning. It is believed.

MATE ADMITTED LOVE FOR ANOTHER

Albert F. Baker, a truck driver for Hess & Swoboda, told his wife Ruth, an employe of the Union Pacific telegraph office, that he cared for another woman and wanted her to leave, she alleged in testimony in domestic relations court where she was granted a divorce Friday.

He was shaving one day when she asked him for a kiss, she said. He told her there were things he, too, wanted and didn't get. Then he went out and returned about 9 and "told her about it," she said.

"Sometimes he would not speak to her for two weeks, she alleged. She lives at 705 South Fifty-first avenue.

A Frock Is as Smart as its Fabric--

These Are the Season's Best

Corded Fabrics Lead the Silks

Belding's Bengaline, a fine corded silk weave inherits its smartness from years ago, and justly merits its acceptance as probably the one smartest silk of the season. Other bengalines in rust, brown, navy and shutter green; all 40-inch width.

$3.95 to $4.95

Crepe Faille is a much lighter weight silk, very finely corded and as soft as a crepe or satin—less talked of, but of equal importance with bengaline. Navy, seal, fallow, black, brown and grey; 40 inches wide. Belding's.

$4.50 the yard

These corded silks, selvaige-marked Belding, are obtainable in Omaha only at Thompson-Belden.

Black Satin Lakme Velvet

The majority of frocks in our section of ready-to-wear are black satins.

The smartest frocks are, of course, of the finer quality satins of highly lustrous finish, such as our piece goods section offers in 40-inch width at
