

Lincoln High Eliminates Central From State Title Race; Score, 16 to 6

Red and Black Outplays Purple in Three Periods

Marrow Scores Central's Lone Touchdown in Final Quar- ter—Fake Plays Mainly Responsible for Defeat.

Smarting under two successive defeats by Coach Schmitt's Central High school gridsters, the Lincoln High school football machine, led by Captain Teal plunged and passed its way to a 16 to 6 victory over the Omaha boys at Tech field yesterday. The Centralites were outplayed in three quarters of the game. The Purple had a edge in the fourth period when "Valley" Marrow romped across the goal after tearing off 35 yards on an end run for Central's lone touchdown.

Central won the toss and chose to defend the east goal. Corrick kicked off to Hamilton who gained five yards. With the ball in their possession the Lincolnites started a steady march down the field. Teal and Corrick alternating in carrying the ball to mid-field. Corrick, one of Coach Browne's mainstays skirted the left wing for 20 yards. The Purple line held like a stone wall and the Red and Black failed to gain. With the ball on the 27-yard line, McBride fell back to the 35-yard line and booted a place kick between the goal posts.

The quarter ended with Lincoln on the winning edge of the score, 3 to 0. The second quarter opened with the Central gridsters fighting for all they were worth. Marrow was continually bringing the crowd to its feet with his tricky open field running. The Purple flash seemed to find holes no other Central man could see. Before the second quarter was five minutes old Muxen went through tackle for 12 yards. Hamilton then went through tackle for four and then came back again to make it first and 10.

In this particular period the Schmitt boys opened up an overhead attack but failed to complete any of the passes. Time after time Muxen would lay back for a fake kick only to have a Red and Black jerseyed youth jump high in the air to block his throw. At this juncture of the game Solomon replaced Marrow in the Central lineup. The negro speed merchant immediately squeezed through the line for a five-yard gain. A pass, Solomon to Muxen, was incomplete.

COLUMBIA AGAIN ENGAGES MILLER

New York, Oct. 17.—Despite the fact that his varsity crew finished last in the intercollegiate regatta at Philadelphia this year, Fred Miller, coach of the Columbia crew, is to get another chance. In re-engaging him, the rowing committee decided that the blue and white navy's failure was due to its handicap in getting off to a late start last year and trying to master a new stroke.

Miller comes from a famous family of rowers. He rowed on Columbia's freshman crew in 1908, and on the varsity in 1909, 1910 and 1912, gaining a seat in the shell in his senior year despite a year's absence from college. In 1922 he became a member of the rowing committee, which deposed the veteran "Jim" Rice as coach last year.

It seems that the friends on the bank had been out all morning and didn't have a thing to show for their work.

Harness and Running Turf in War Over Control of Tracks in Cleveland

Cleveland, O., Oct. 18.—There has been much said about the association owning the North Randall track going over to the runners, based on the fact that the organization, the Forest City Livestock and Fair company, have also taken out articles of incorporation as the North Randall Jockey club and the announcement made that running meetings will be given over to the runners. New North Randall is the backbone of the Grand circuit; every man connected with the organization is a dyed-in-the-wool harness racing fan with no leaning toward the thoroughbred, so the announcement that running meetings would be held over the course rather took the breath away from harness horsemen the country over.

Brussels, Oct. 17.—Public subscriptions to Belgian allotments of the new German loan probably will not be necessary. The Belgian share of the loan amounts to 1,500,000 pounds sterling.

Down the Fairway

By CHARLES (CHICK) EVANS, JR.
Points on Playing.
FOR a number of years now I have used but two grips in my game—one for all the shots through the green and another for putting. The latter stroke stands by itself and has nothing in common with any other golf stroke.

Most people know in a general way the uses of the various clubs. They know the driver is for shots from the tee—in other words, for the longest shots of the game; the brassie for long shots off the fair green; the long iron for something short of the brassie shot; the different lofted iron clubs for shorter distances, and the niblick for extracting oneself from hazards of all kinds. The moment, however, the beginner golfer takes one of these clubs in his hand he is confronted with his first important problem. How shall he grip it? Can one grip be used for every club, or must it vary with the use to which the club is put? I want to lay added emphasis on the "grip" here.

Usually I advise following nature and comfort in playing golf, but it seems undeniable that the "natural" way of gripping a golf club is absolutely the wrong way. Whether it is because the average American boy has played baseball, it is certainly true that the average man will grab his first golf club with both fists, wrapped around the grip in the same manner that he held his favorite bat. His palms are against the grip and shaft and his thumbs are around the grip. This method of holding a golf club is so common that emphatic condemnation of it seems necessary.

I do not mean that a man who plays with the palm grip cannot, other things being equal, attain a fair degree of success at golf, for there are many good players who use it. It is possible that most of the leading golfers of the country began that way, but I do not think any of them use now. Gardner, a noted player, was a palm gripper until about three years ago, when he changed with what he believes to be of great benefit to his game. I used the palm grip for years and gradually discovered, through suffering, the error of my ways.

I think that the reason that what appears to be the "natural" grip in golf is wrong is that we start out with the wrong idea of the game. We think we are expected to slug the ball and the palm grip is the slugger's grip. In reality golf is a game of touch and rhythm and the idea of brute force must be absolutely banished from the golfer's mind. The leading idea of golf is not how far or wide a ball may be sent, but where it can be placed. Touch, and thereby control of the club, seems to lie in the fingers, for the palm is comparatively insensitive. Then, too, the palm allows a great deal of play to the grip of the club, while the firm grasp of the fingers holds it in control.

The golfer must avoid all tightness of the muscles, for with tightness they fly away. Perhaps I should say that he should try to acquire a sort of relaxed firmness. Aside from this there are other practical reasons in favor of the finger grip. For a number of years now I have used but two grips in my game—one for all the shots through the green and another for putting. The latter stroke stands by itself and has nothing in common with any other golf stroke.

French Steed Tires Entering Home Stretch

Turf Writers in Attendance Intimate Wertheimer Thor- oughbred Appears to Have Gone Stale.

Race Track, Laurel, Md., Oct. 18.—F. A. Burton's Wise Counsellor, winner of the first of the international specials at Belmont Park last September, led from the flag drop to the finish in the $10,000 Laurel Stakes here today. The 3-year-old son of Mentor Rustle stepped the mile in 1:32.5, which was a full second back of the track record.

The Glenn Riddle Farm's Big Blaze took the place from Gifford A. Cochran's Sun Flag. Epinard, after being well up with the pace, quit at the head of the stretch and finished a badly beaten fifth.

Crowd Stunned.

The crowd of 30,000 sat stunned for a minute and then gave Wise Counsellor a great ovation when Steve O'Donnell galloped him back to the scales. It was two minutes after 4 o'clock when the field paraded to the post. When the field was placed in Starter Milton's hands it was seen that he was going to have trouble getting away, for first Big Blaze and then My Play burst through the webbing.

After a delay of 5 minutes the barrier was finally released with Wise Counsellor, Sun Flag, Intimate and Epinard leaving in the order named. Going around the clubhouse turn Intimate appeared to carry Epinard a bit wide. It was due to Parke an Intimate trying to get around Big Blaze.

Yale Harriers to Have Busy Season

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 17.—With 75 men already out and coaches scouring the university for more material, Yale university looks forward to an unusually active season for its cross-country runners. Four meetings for varsity runners, three for freshmen, two amateur championship matches and a series of paper chases, under the Willibrook auspices, are on the schedule for the fall season, which will end November 24.

The varsity schedule includes the following meets: October 23, Springfield college; November 8, Connecticut Senior A. U. meet; November 15, Yale-Harvard-Princeton, at Princeton; November 24, Intercollegiate A. A., at New York.

The freshman schedule is: October 21, Princeton at New Haven; Hartford, Connecticut, November 24, Intercollegiate at New York.

Willibrook cups have been put up 10 in number, by A. B. Cox, Yale '27, of Paoli, Pa., and these will be awarded paper chase winners.

Thomas North Tracy of New Haven, member of the Shell class of 1923, is captain of the cross-country team, which today is rated as giving Yale its brightest prospects in years. Only one of last year's championship team, and he the captain, Treadwell, has not returned this year. Fifteen men of last year's team, therefore, are in the running this year, with four freshmen who are rated topnotchers at hill-and-dale work.
