

EXTENSION WORK BALLOT PROVIDED

Brookings, S. D., Oct. 20.—The November program for the 300 organized rural communities in South Dakota, just sent out by the agricultural extension department of State college, offers suggestions to the members as to how they may ballot on the kind of extension work they wish to have promoted by their county agent for 1925. Suggested projects include dairying, animal disease control, soil improvement, control of insect pests, crops, horticulture, animal husbandry, rural engineering and rodent control. Projects suggested for the women include foods and nutrition, clothing, home, health and sanitation, and household management.

More economical rather than increased production will be stressed in the 1925 program, according to the extension department. The results obtained in the ballot in the various communities will largely determine the program to be carried out by the county agent next year. More than 15,000 farm families are taking an active interest in programs sent out by extension department each month.

GYPSIES BURY CHILD AT YORK

York, Oct. 20.—Funeral services for Rose Timka Bimbo, 3-year-old Gipsy who died in camp near Waco, were held Saturday afternoon at St. Joseph Catholic church and burial made in Greenwood. After the body was prepared by a local undertaker the gypsies wrapped it in a costly scarf of red silk, elaborately embroidered with Egyptian emblems in various colors, and a second wrapping of costly gold lace. Besides bouquets of artificial flowers there were placed in the coffin a cake of soap, bottle of perfume, gold cross, money and other objects. The gypsies are traveling in 14 autos to Chicago from California, where they have recently attended the coronation of the national gypsy queen. The cemetery lot and burial expenses were paid for with a check on a Chicago bank in which Chief Bimbo owns most of the stock.
