Big Get-Together at First Methodist Church November 10 to Discuss Civic, Moral Issues.

A "get-together" meeting of the Omaha Federated Council of Churches, including representatives of every Protestant denomination in the city, will be held the evening of November 10 in the parlors of the First Methodist church. Dinner will be served at the church.

The executive committee of the council, including J. Dean Ringer, chairman; J. R. Cain, jr.; Rev. M. Alan Keith of Pearl Memorial Methodist church, and Elmer Thomas, met Thursday noon to complete plans for the meeting.

Purpose of the council is to consider civic and moral problems in Omaha. Chairmen will be appointed by ministers to arrange for attendance from each church.

Speakers on the tentative program include Prof. Vahan Vartanian, professor of religious education at the University of Omaha; Rev. John L. Burton, pastor Immanuel Baptist church, president of the council; Rev. Donald B. MacLeod of Dundee Presbyterian church, and Rev. Frank G. Smith of First Central Congregational church.

MACDONALD MAY RESIGN AT ONCE

Predictions in as rapid a ratio as labor has been a growing force. While no predictions could have been made regarding the possible future either of the unions or labor parties it seemed hopeless to expect any considerable revival of liberalism which occupies a middle position, fearing to commit itself to the extreme plank of laborism or to the reactionary policy of the conservatives.

The existence of any pact between the liberal and conservative parties for the purposes of the election is still denied by the leaders of the respective parties. There were, however, evidences of the existence of something of the kind when the liberals in a large number of constituencies stood down to help the conservatives in otherwise triangular contests and it would seem impossible to avoid the conclusion that there was some sort of understanding for coalition tactics in the new parliament. Any such coalition is not needed now, and consequently nothing more will be heard of it.

Majority is Unfriendly.
The conservatives have, in fact, a majority so unwieldy as to be almost embarrassing to them. It is a commonplace of politics in England that no really strong government is possible without a strong opposition.

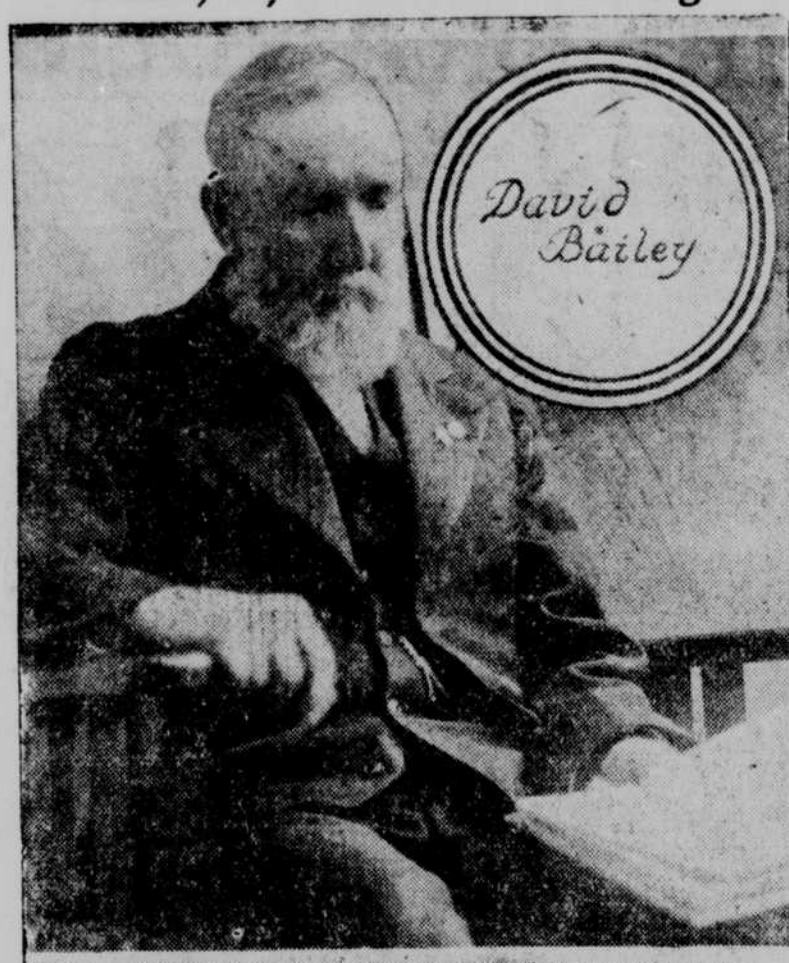

When a government commands such a large majority as to be independent of any possible opposition, it tends to become heedless, listless and lacking in discipline and is more likely to snap divisions in sparsely attended sittings. Thus sometimes a strong government meets defeat through over-confidence.

The view of conservative headquarters tonight is that should the ministry resign and the king send for Baldwin, a new government could be completed before parliament meets. At labor headquarters naturally much disappointment is felt. One leading official said: "It was the liberal intention to put the conservatives into power and they have succeeded at the cost of what virtually is their extinction."

The pact has operated to the advantage of the conservatives who have also won many seats on minority votes in three-cornered constituencies. Most of the liberals who have been elected owe their success to conservative support, our aggregate vote has markedly included but the lack of the election has been against us in the respect of representation.

The debate which overruled the liberal party has not been confined to any particular section of the country or community, even in Scotland, the home of liberalism for the last half-century, not excepting Midlothian, which Gladstone made famous by his electoral campaigns. Liberalism has succumbed to Toryism."

Iowan, 88, to Vote for Coolidge

DAVID BAILEY, 88, of Bedford, Ia., who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. G. Russell, 2532 Fowler avenue, plans to return to his home on Sunday for the purpose of casting his ballot for Calvin Coolidge. "I am going back to vote if I have to walk," said the old gentleman. "I voted for Abraham Lincoln in 1860 and have voted nothing but the republican ticket since that time. My first vote was cast in Springdale, Ia., Cedar county. In 1864 I voted the second time for Lincoln while I was in the army stationed at Murphysboro, Tenn."

Bailey was a member of the 150th Ohio infantry during his service of three years in the civil war. His father and seven brothers were all republicans, he said. He hasn't missed one election.

Ex-"Ak" Queen in Realty Firm Suit

Plaintiffs Charge Baum Company Elected Directors at Rump Meeting.

Brownie Bess Baum Rouse, former queen of Ak-Sar-Bien, is one of the plaintiffs in a suit filed in district court Thursday over the estate of the late James E. Baum. Other plaintiffs are Otilia F. Baum and C. M. Wilhelm, administrators, and Richard T. Baum.

Defendants are relatives of the plaintiffs, David A. Daniel, Jr., and Margaret Baum and the Baum Realty company. The company was formed February 18, 1922, after litigation between these plaintiffs and David and Daniel had been settled. It was provided that there be three directors. These plaintiffs allege that last January David and Daniel, "fraudulently" asked a postponement of the annual meeting for election of directors and that later the three defendants "secretly" held a pretended meeting at which they elected themselves directors.

The court is asked to set aside the acts of this meeting. An accounting is asked and an injunction to stop payment of any money except the regular monthly dividends from rentals.

Nation-Wide Peace Expected to Be Declared at New York Today.

New York, Oct. 30.—An armistice has been declared in the tong war and it is expected that a nation-wide peace will be formally declared in Chinatown today.

At a meeting of representatives of the warring On Leong and Hip Sing tongs here last night, at which the Chinese consul general acted as mediator, a treaty was approved. All that remains to bring an end to the hostilities which have raged in at least seven great cities of the country and has caused a score of casualties are the signatures of the leaders of the rival tongs.

It was learned for the first time last night that the latest outbreak of the tong war was the result of a business rivalry between the tongs of 25 years' standing. Police learned from members of the tongs that the treaty of peace to be signed today determines the mercantile rights of each side.
