

Creighton Bluejays Snow North Dakota Team Under 34 to Score Saturday Grange's Spectacular Work Enables Illini to Hold Chicago to 21 to 21 Tie

Wynne's Eleven Has Easy Time With Visitors

"Ike" Mahoney Returns Kick-off 80 Yards for Touchdown—Nelson Stars for Losers.

By RALPH WAGNER.
CREIGHTON's undeviating policy of "blitzing" swooped down on North Dakota university footballists at Western league park Saturday afternoon and pecked out a 34 to 0 victory.
Coach Wynne's eleven had no trouble in crushing the Dakotans, and at no time was the Creighton team's goal line in danger of being trampled on. The Creighton line which turned back the Marquette "golden avalanche" last week, found little opposition in the visitors, while the Blue and White halfback pinned the Flickertail forward wall for long gains.

A small crowd turned out to see the Bluejays try their stuff against their second North Central conference opponent. Outside of "Ike" Mahoney's 80-yard return of a kickoff for a touchdown at the start of the second half, the contest was minus the exciting moments of the Creighton-Haskell Indian game played here two weeks ago.

Play during a greater part of the contest was in the Flickertail's territory. Not once did the visitors advance within the Creighton 20-yard line. The interference given the Dakotans was good only in spots and the Bluejays found little trouble in breaking through the full North Dakota forward wall and throwing the enemy for a loss.

Coach Wynne of the Bluejays opened the contest with his second string halfback in action. This combination failed to dent the Flickertails and most of the period was devoted to booting the leather, first from one end of the field to the other. Soon after the second quarter got under way Mahoney, quarter, and Keane, crack halfback, were inserted into the lineup. The addition of these two Bluejays to the team was a signal for scoring action. Mahoney opened his part of the contest by booting the leather to the Flickertails who started an overhead attack. After grounding one flip the visitors tried another. Mahoney intercepted a pass from "Shorby" Nelson and returned the ball through a broken field to the Dakota 40-yard line.

Keane then swirled the left end for four yards. An offside penalty set the Bluejays back five yards, but on the next play Ray Lower peeled off 35 yards round right end, stopping at the 20-yard line. Keane then circled left end wide and didn't stop until he had made 15 yards with two Flickertails banging on his arms. The Dakota secondary defense didn't lose sight of this. He called on Lower again for an end run and the latter responded by going around right end for a touchdown. Mahoney then kicked the goal.

On an exchange of kicks Creighton got the ball and marched down to the Dakota five-yard line. Two passes from Mahoney to Allen and Bertoglio advanced the Bluejays to the visitors' five-yard line where the ball was kicked to Creighton in possession of the ball.

The second Creighton touchdown came soon after the whistle sounded for the second half to get under way. Currie of the Flickertails kicked off to Creighton. The ball bounced off Nolan's shoulder into the waiting arms of Mahoney who was standing on his own 20-yard line. "Ike" then pecked his way into the arms and started for the goal line. He ran through the "heart" of the Dakotans and didn't carry an eye to the goal line. The entire Dakota team started after the Bluejay but the fleet Mahoney was a little too fast. He did his job right by kicking the goal.

The Bluejays again received the kickoff, but couldn't repeat their performance. A 15-yard penalty and Creighton's chances to advance, and Keane kicked to Nelson. The Flickertails couldn't gain, so Currie kicked. Creighton then marched down to the 10-yard line, where the visitors bucked up and held. On the fourth down, Mahoney flipped a pass over the goal line which was too high for Allen and the Dakotans took the ball and put it in play on their own 20-yard line. Again the visitors kicked, this time Creighton getting the ball on its own 25-yard line. Currie attempted to kick out of danger, but his center made a poor pass and the Bluejays blocked the kick, recovering the ball on the visitors' 15-yard line. On the next two plays Fitzgibbon of Creigh-

World Series Arbiters Seek Advance in Pay

Umpires Demand Raise From $2,000 to $5,000—Landis Powerless to Act on Case.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—To officiate in future world series ball games the umpires have demanded $5,000 each. If this ultimatum is turned down they will refuse to work.
According to the world series rules the umpires have demanded $5,000 each. If this ultimatum is turned down they will refuse to work.
The umpires in the Washington-New York series were Tom Connolly and Bill Dineen, American League, and Bill Klem and Ernest Krieger, National League. After the first game at Griffith stadium these officials decided that they never would umpire another interleague engagement under the present system for financial reward. In short, they entered into an agreement to "go on strike" having the moral support of all the other arbiters on the major league staffs.

Grange's Spectacular Work Enables Illini to Hold Chicago to 21 to 21 Tie

Chicago Held Illini to a 21-21 Tie

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Chicago held the Illini to a 21-21 tie before 32,000 spectators in the most startling upset of the 1924 western conference football race on Stagg field today. The Illini, beaten 21 to 14, at the start of the third period, tied the score when the famous Harold (Red) Grange broke away for an 80-yard run and Britton added the extra point by kicking goal.
Grange played a phenomenal game, scoring all of Illinois' touchdowns. The famous Illinois redhead carried the ball in 20 plays, gaining 300 yards and a figuring in 16 forward passes, seven of which were completed for 177 yards.
In addition to his 80-yard run Grange thrilled the crowd with an other dash of 59 yards and made frequent slashes through the line for five and 10 yards.
Chicago, carrying the fight to Illinois at the start, ripped the Illini line to pieces throughout the first period without Illinois getting the ball only for a few seconds in this period.
Using McCarty, Chicago fullback, as a battering ram, the Maroons ripped into Illinois like a tornado, McCarty going over for a touchdown, after solid thrusts at the line early in the first period. Harry Thomas added a second touchdown and Francis, who relieved Marks at fullback, crashed over with the third. McCarty was taken out of the game after the first period and went back later, but failed to count again.

20 Years Ago in Sport World

From The Omaha Bee Files

NOVEMBER 9, 1904.
Lincoln.—The busy days of the Lincoln high school football team advanced their claims to the intercollegiate championship of Nebraska by defeating Omaha High school in rather easy fashion. The final score stood 23 to 6. Using Humphreys as a battering ram, the halfback carried him, for plunges which frequently resulted in yards and yards, over Belton's four chuk line before being brought to earth. One Burnett, Omaha left half, ran around right end for 25 yards on a delayed pass, carrying the ball well into Lincoln territory, but Lincoln's defense stiffened and Omaha was forced to punt. First downs were plentiful, as it is usual, but the game was decided by the fact that Lincoln's goal line was nearer than 20 yards.

C. T. SPIERS is a realtor and a hunter. Spike does his hunting in the sand hills, where the birds fly so fast that to kill them on Wednesday you had to lead them a day ahead and fire your gun on Tuesday.
"It's great fun," says Spike. "One hunter will go down to the end of the lake and scare up the ducks. When they come over the other hunter he is ready for them with a case of shells. You can shoot all day, pick up all your birds without wetting your feet, and on the way home kill a mess of chickens or grouse for the evening meal. In fact, it makes a fellow lazy to shoot that way. I've heard of Omahans who shoot in the sand hills who get so lazy they hire ranch hands to let their ducks for them while they kill time by playing cards."

Status of Professional's Wife In Tourney Play Up Before Golf Body

New York, Nov. 8.—A lady golfer asks what is the status of a professional golfer's wife in tournament play? This is the problem which has been put up by the amateur committee of the United States Golf association, a protest having been filed by two members of the fair sex in the west against the wife of a man who earns his living at the game.
Naturally, the protest is not made because the woman happens to be married to a professional. The argument is that she helps her husband in the shop and during the winter months goes south with him, selling supplies and posting scores, etc., at the club where he is employed.
Not so long ago a case of much the same sort regarding a woman in the metropolitan district was brought to the attention of the United States Golf association officials, but the ruling body could find no reason why the player should not be allowed to compete as an amateur and the matter was dropped. As yet nothing has been done with regard to the protest from the west.

WESTERN UNION TRIMS CARDINALS

The University of Omaha Cardinals went down before the strong attack of Western Union college at Le Mars, Ia., Friday afternoon, 28 to 0. Three of the Iowans' touchdowns came in the first half, the Cards tightening up in the last period.
The game was closely contested and with the exception of breaks was played mostly in neutral territory.
Two of Slater's punts were blocked near the Cardinals' goal and both of them were recovered by the locals over the line, accounting for two of the touchdowns. The lineup:
Iowa City, Nov. 8.—Iowa football eleven today defeated Butler college, 7 to 0, in a game that was closely fought throughout. Several times Confield and Paul, charging Iowans' line for good gains, brought the ball within striking distance of the Hawkeyes' goal, but failed in final downs to put it over. Schirmer made Iowa's touchdown in the first period.

TRACK RULES DUE FOR CHANGE

New York, Nov. 8.—The national convention of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, which will be held at Atlantic City on November 16, 17 and 18, promises to be the scene of some interesting and lengthy athletic discussions regarding the general rules governing track and field athletics and swimming.
The proposed changes, if adopted by the delegates to the national convention, will leave their mark indelibly on the championship "track" program in particular. The representatives of the various sectional bodies have been asked to consider several radical changes in the makeup of the title program for this branch of amateur sport.

Kieckhefer Wins Cue Match

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Auggie Kieckhefer "came back" in the national three-cushion billiard league match here tonight by defeating John Layton of St. Louis, former champion, 50 to 41 in 61 innings. Layton's high run was six against the Chicagoan's five.

Harvard Gridster Graduate of Ice Wagon School

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 8.—The ice wagon school of gridiron preparation, which figured in the molding of the career of "Red" Grange, famous Illinois back, will have another graduate tonight if Ernest Gamache, Harvard sophomore, starts against Princeton in his first big game at the end of Gamache, whose home is in Leominster, Mass., puts himself into shape for this season's campaign by carrying chunks of ice during the summer.

STANTON HIGH DEFEATS PREPS

The Stanton gridsters, who upset the state high school dope by handling Neligh its first defeat in 23 starts, outplayed the visitors throughout the four periods.

TECH DEFEATS LINCOLN, 6 TO 0

Lincoln, Nov. 8.—Omaha Technical high school routed Lincoln High school's hopes of gaining the mythical Nebraska high school pennant this year by defeating the Red and Black, 6 to 0, at the Lincoln High oval here this afternoon. Two place kicks by Zast, Tech left half, with Charonist, quarterback, holding the kicker each time, scored the winning points.
Lincoln fought desperately in the fourth period for a touchdown to overcome the Tech lead. The two kicks were made in the second and third periods.

Miss Wethered Sets Golf Mark

London, Nov. 8.—Miss Wethered won the 36-hole final of the English ladies' golf championship at Cooden Beach, by 8 and 7 from Miss D. R. Fowler of Burnham, Somerset, and so gains a position unique in the world of golf. This indeed, was her fifth successive success, never having played in the event without winning it.
In many respects her latest victory in this championship may be accounted the most honorable of all. For one thing Miss Leitch had not previously been in the field against her at Sturminster and this year the opposition right through was unusually strong. For another Cooden Beach is a course whereupon the defender of a title cannot entrench herself behind impenetrable difficulties in which opponents will sooner or later commit harikari, but demands that she will make her own opportunities by doing something in the attacking line.
