Biggest Day, Yet. Cheerful Predictions. Wanted a Firm "No." A Law for Savings. By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

Biggest day so far, in the stock market yesterday, 2,400,000 shares was the turnover. Wild buying in the morning, eager selling that pulled down prices in the afternoon.

As one buys somebody else sells, and that should be remembered. Many, apparently are willing to let stocks go, and do not agree with the idea that there is to be no top to this market.

However, be careful how you sell short. Some of the bears were grunting sadly yesterday morning, trying to buy back what they had sold.

It is said that Durant, the automobile wizard, has gathered up several millions since the boom started.

The stock market interests even those that never buy, sell or gamble, for in its own way the stock market is prosperity's barometer.

It tells what capital, which means business intelligence, thinks of the immediate future.

Leonard P. Ayres of the Cleveland Trust company, predicts for 1925 increasing, expanding business, and a prosperity boom "approaching the speed limit." He foresees low interest rates, much building and higher wages. All pleasant predictions.

British financiers are worried about our outlook, which is kind of them. They fear inflation in this country. But they need not worry, with Mellon in charge of national finance. He understands that job, won't permit inflation, and won't be scared into hurting business by making money tight.

The British are cheered by one thought. They believe they will get from the Germans in reparations through the Dawes plan $300,000,000 a year, just enough, each year, to supply what they, the British, must pay to the United States on account of war debts.

The British ask the league of nations to hold back in their world conference provided for in the famous protocol. It is hoped that Uncle Sam will be persuaded, even at this late date, to come in and make himself generally useful.

Two things should make Coolidge send a friendly, firm "no" to that. First, the size of his vote, which was a vote against any mixing up with European agreements.

Second, the sinking of the unfinished battleship Washington which the people of this country have spent $85,000,000. If we were persuaded into such nonsense as that at the Washington conference heavens know what would be done to us if they lure our half-baked statesmen to a conference on the other side of the water.

The Indiana supreme court upholds a law compelling a man to support his father and mother, if they are poor, and he is able to take care of them. Mr. Lundy allowed his father and mother to go to the poorhouse, offering as excuse the fact that he was buying an automobile on the installment plan and needed all his money. The installments now will have to wait.

It is hard to believe that any man, not an idiot, should refuse to care for his father and mother. But, remember, how close we are, in years, to the theory that people too old to care for themselves ought to be killed and eaten by younger people, including their own children. Among savages still living the old expect to be killed when they become useless, and if you could find Esquimaux far removed from the influence of white men, you would see them putting an old father or mother in a little house made of ice blocks, with a small amount of food, then sealing up the entrance to the house and leaving nature

Charter Members at 68th Division of Omaha Masons

Seven Veterans of Consistory Here Presented With Remembrances; 1,800 at Four-Day Session.

The 68th reunion of the Nebraska consistory of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Free Masonry, valley of Omaha, came to a close Thursday night after a four-day session, at which degrees from fourth to 32d, inclusive, were conferred on a class of 125.

Among the 1,800 members attending the reunion were John Gilbert Taylor of Minneapolis, Frank P. Zimmer of Lincoln, J. J. Points of Plattsmouth and Charles S. Huntington of Omaha. These four men are charter members, and were presented with remembrances, as were three other living charter members who were unable to attend.

James Robert Cain, jr., 33d, presided at the consistory banquet. Rev. Elmer I. Goshen, 32d, of Salt Lake City, past grand chaplain of the supreme council, was the principal speaker. Music was furnished by the Scottish Rite mixed quartet and orchestra.

The reunion marked the 10th anniversary of the occupancy of the temple at Twentieth and Douglas streets.

27 Chinese Caught. Boston, Nov. 20.—Twenty-seven Chinese stowaways were taken off the steamship President Van Buren as the vessel left for New York. It was said the Chinese went aboard at Shanghai.

Timiest Girl Among Players at Empress

The tiniest member of the Empress players and perhaps the largest in point of popularity is Olive Wintner, appearing in the musical play, "Clouds and Sunshine." When she sings "You're My Daddy" to Rudy Wintner, who is her "daddy" in real life, there is more than just the mere singing of words with Olive. She puts her whole heart and soul into it, and as for Rudy he just beams all over.

AT THE THEATERS

Ruth Budd, a feature of this week's Orpheum show, is a disciple of the modern doctrine, "Smile, smile, smile." She smiles in her work and she smiles in her play. If, as somebody has said, "A smile is a ray of sunshine," she has done more than her share in dispersing clouds. Miss Budd's smile has become so much a part of her that she is called "the girl with the smile." Furthermore, she has talent and versatility.

Making up a splendid vaudeville bill at the World, starting tomorrow, is the Lee Marshall Revue, in "Pep and Syncopation." Bernivici brothers and company in "Moments Musical." Renee Noel and Walter C. Percival in "The Egg in the Bag." Kraft and Lamont, Kelley and Brown and George Moore are the other attractions.

"The Woman Hater," a modern farce comedy, with musical trimmings is what the Empress players offer at that theater starting tomorrow. It deals with the love affairs of a mere man who thinks he can get along without the ladies. How he is fooled makes a stage story that is replete with funny situations. Amateurs are an added attraction this evening, starting at 8:30.

Many times it is not the born-and-bred offspring of a race that can see the oddities of character acting and the twist of words with a comical effect. In this respect, however, whatever truisms there is to such an observation is cast aside so far as Salvatore Zito, who has a prominent part in "Take a Look," playing at the Gayety this week, is concerned.

Augustus Pitou, Inc., is presenting May Robson at the Brandeis in her new play, "Something Tells Me," written by Miss Robson, on Monday, next, to remain throughout Saturday, with a special 3 o'clock matinee on Thanksgiving and the regular Saturday matinee. "Something Tells Me" has a new strain of comedy and sentiment woven into it which is a decided novelty and original. A daintily handled psychic strain is uppermost in the play and with a nucleus of rich comedy portrayed by Miss Robson and a company of clever people, "Something Tells Me" is arousing the greatest enthusiasm.
