RIPE OLIVES SAFE, CHEMISTS REPORT

Washington, Nov. 22.—Three outbreaks of botulism, due to canned ripe olives, reported to the Department of Agriculture early this year caused the government to make a searching survey of the ripe olive situation. It was disclosed today when the findings became public.

"These unfortunate occurrences revived suspicion of this product aroused by the series of outbreaks in 1919 and 1920, which had been largely allayed by the earnest efforts made jointly by the state and the packing companies involved," said the department's report. "A resurvey of the ripe olive situation by the bureau of chemistry was therefore necessary. 'Bacteriological examination of the samples showed that canned ripe olives which were free from swell, from abnormal odor, or other marks of spoilage, were not dangerous. Botulism was not found in any sample. The investigation furnished no ground for attributing special danger to the consumption of ripe olives if reasonable care is exercised to exclude spoiled products from sale or use.'

Trading, which had been maintained at a terrific pace since the election, moderated slightly, although total sales in the two hours of trading ran close to 1,000,000 shares.

BRITAIN ANGERED BY STACK DEATH

By Associated Press.

London, Nov. 22.—The British public is expecting and the majority of the London press is demanding that the government take firm action toward Egypt in connection with the assassination in Cairo of Maj. Gen. Sir Lee Stack, governor-general of the Sudan and sirdar of the Egyptian army.

The opinion is widely expressed that, notwithstanding the Egyptian officials' compliance with the customary formalities and their expressions of regret, the murder was actually a political crime originating in a desire to oust the British from the Sudan.

FLIERS' TRIP MOST DARING IN HISTORY

honor because of his superior qualifications for undertaking a task of this kind. His experiences have made him the one man in the world best fitted to this work. As an explorer and world traveler his life has been devoted to adventurous undertakings, and he has supreme qualifications of experience to qualify him in assisting Commander Lowell Smith and his fellow navigators of the air in preparing a permanent human interest record of the most adventurous episode since Columbus discovered America and Magellan sailed round the world.

He is an aviation enthusiast, has flown over many of the countries of the globe, and has been a world traveler for many years has been spent in the very countries over which the world aviators made their epoch making flight, including Siam, India, Indo-China, the orient, the southern European nations, Burma, Arabia, Beloochistan, and Alaska and the Aleutians as well.

He is an American, born in Colorado, and a former newspaper man and a famous war correspondent.

Lived With Aviators.

Lowell Thomas has been living with the aviators, flying with them for thousands of miles, and taking down from their lips the complete personal narrative of their hairbreadth escapades, flights through Arctic blizzards, flights through blinding rain and snow, encounters with tropical monsoons and simoons, experiences with the natives of four continents over which they flew, the intimate story of their personal sensations, reactions, and opinions—and last, but by no means the least, the romantic and fantastically humorous story of their triumphant tour of America, with its attendant conquests of hearts, a tour that has surely never been paralleled in the history of this or any other land.

Much has been written, and in many languages, of how America's airmen won through where the airmen of five different countries failed. But the big human interest story which the public is eager for and which hundreds of thousands of patriotic Americans have begged for in every city through which the boys have passed, is the inside story from the lips of the world fliers themselves, the intimate tale of how they came to fly around the globe, how lines came in their faces and their hair turned gray under the strain; whom they saw, how they lived, what they thought, how they conquered the air, and then, as one would expect of six attractively bachelor heroes, how they returned to conquer the heart of the American girl.

Odyssey From Real Life.

It is an American Odyssey from real life more thrilling than anything Jules Verne ever wrote, more hair raising than any dime novel, and more adventurous and romantic than the fabled Odyssey of Ulysses, for the reason that it is intimate and true story of the most adventurous expedition since those earliest navigators, the Phoenicians, set forth across uncharted seas before the dawn of recorded history. It is a story such as that set down in the chronicles of the voyages of Columbus, Magellan, Frobisher, Drake, Vasco de Gama, and Alfonso de Albuquerque. It is a tale of daring and achievement that should be a trumpet call to every American man, woman and child to remind them of their inheritance; an epic capable of inspiring a modern emulator of Homer or Plutarch who through this tale will prove to us that, superficial appearances notwithstanding, our race is no more degenerate today than it was when giants walked the earth.

Simple Funeral for Mrs. Harding

Glee Club Will Sing "Perfect Day," Favorite of Late President's Wife.

Marion, O., Nov. 22.—Funeral services Monday afternoon at Epworth Methodist Episcopal church here for Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, who died yesterday at the home of Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, son of the late Dr. C. E. Sawyer, President Harding's personal physician, will be simple.

This was announced today by George B. Christian, jr., former secretary to the late President Harding and a lifelong friend of the family, who is in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Tentative funeral plans, Christian said, include singing of "The End of a Perfect Day" by the Columbus (O.) Republican Glee club, which, while Mr. Harding was president, was heard often at the White House on special occasions. The song was Mrs. Harding's favorite and always was requested by her when any musical organization appeared at the executive mansion.

Short Funeral Sermon.

Dr. Jesse Swank, pastor of Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Harding had been a member since girlhood, will deliver a short sermon. Rev. George W. Landes, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, of which Mr. Harding was a member, will read the Scriptures. The interment service at the vault where Mrs. Harding will rest beside her husband will be in charge of Dr. Swank.

Honorary pallbearers will be officials of the government from Washington whose names have not been announced. Active pallbearers will include old friends of the Harding family. They are: Malcolm Jennings of Columbus, George B. Van Fleet, E. K. Uhler, J. F. Prendergast, O. S. Rapp, Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, C. D. Schaffner and J. A. Schroeter, all of Marion.

Niece Seriously Ill.

Word was received today from Rock Lodge, Fla., that Mrs. C. B. Kling, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Harding, and her daughter, Louise, who is seriously ill, would not be able to come here for the services. Mr. Kling arrived in Marion last week from Rock Lodge to be at the bedside of his sister.

Mrs. Harding's body was taken late yesterday to the home of Mrs. F. J. Longshore, a daughter of Mr. Kling, where it will remain until the services Monday. Mrs. Harding's old home has been closed for the winter.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Military honors will be accorded the late Mrs. Warren G. Harding at Marion, O., Monday, under orders issued today by the War department.

Maj. Gen. Omar Bundy, commander of the fifth corps, Columbus, was instructed to send a company of 100 men, properly officered, to Marion on the day of the funeral, these to supplement the force of 25 regulars that are on duty at the Harding tomb.
