

Renee Chemet, who will be the soloist at the second concert of the season given by the Omaha Symphony orchestra at the Auditorium, January 15.

When the University of Pennsylvania football team went through Omaha, the gridiron athletes were accompanied by the university's cadet band, which went along to give the easterners a little pep in their battle with the University of California.

Nebraska main streets. In this case it's almost the whole town. Stapleton, Neb. wasn't established until 1912, but now it has a population of 500 and is growing. How about your own home town? If you'll send a photograph of the main street of your town to the Alcovrature Editor, The Omaha Bee, it will be printed in this section.

Winning an air race. Bill, a homer pigeon owned by John Ryan of Atlanta, Ga., alighting on the trap as he finished first in a 150-mile race.

These youngsters look fat and healthy, but they were only recently saved from starvation by the Near East Relief orphanage in Palestine.

Practical experience is the keynote of the home economics department of the York high school. In the sewing classes the girls are making clothes for two children in the Mother Jewel's home. The other night the cooking class prepared and served a banquet to 60 members of the domestic science department.

A four-pound bunch of grapes. This is a record bunch of ambr grapes on a single stem. They were grown in Maryland.