

A Wife's Confessional

by Adele Garrison

Lillian and Madge Pass a Hectic Night.

I put through the call to the Southampton hospital, and when Katherine had been summoned to the telephone, I quickly transferred the mouthpiece and receiver to Lillian. "Lo Katherine!" was Lillian's characteristic greeting. "Madge says she thinks you leave your present case tomorrow. Is that right? Good! Will you for old sake's sake devote a week of your valuable time to me? Oh, no! never felt better in my life, but I need you—just the same. Can't explain now. Come to the room tomorrow and conceal your address from any inquiring physicians or surgeons. Madge and I will meet you there.

"Do you wish to talk to her, Madge?"

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough remedy, quickly prepared, and saves about 5¢.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat croup and chest colds. There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., St. Wayne, Ind.

COLOR CUT-OUTS Jack and Jill

Her Working Dress.

This is the second part of the story of "Jack and Jill." If you saved Jill yesterday you can cut out this dress today and put it on her. There will be another part of the story tomorrow.

Pretty Jill ran up to her room and picked out a little white play dress with blue rings in it. Over this she put a pink apron, and she donned her little pink bonnet to match her apron.

"Where are you going?" her mother asked.

"I'm going over next door to get Jack to go with me after the water," announced Jill, swinging the empty pail merrily over her arm. "The hill is muddy and I might slip, carrying the water by myself. And, anyway, Jack likes to go with me."

Away she ran across the lawn, calling to her playmate, Jack, as she went.

Frosted Pie Crust.

A delicious little accessory to serve with an ice or any frozen dish is made by rolling pie crust about a quarter of an inch thick. Cut it in strips six inches long, roll until round, lay in a pan and bake. Dip them into boiled frosting and when dry again in melted chocolate. They may be rolled while moist in chopped nuts or cocoa instead of chocolate.

Your Problems Solved

by Martha Allen

The Oldest Question.

Dear Martha Allen: What is true love? I met a girl about six months ago and we started going together. I think I loved her from the first and she seemed to like me, too, because she let me come to see her as often as I wanted to. Christmas day we became engaged and I was the happiest man on earth. I cannot understand this girl because ever since our engagement she has acted strange. She is moody, and sometimes when I go to see her she hardly talks, and if she does she says sharp things in reply to my remarks. Twice she has hurt my feelings so deeply that I have decided to tell her I no longer think it best to marry, and then when I go to see her, to talk it over she seems to be sorry and is very nice to me. There is one thing that worries me, and that is I have noticed she is unkind to her mother. Her mother would do anything in the world for her, and instead of appreciating it she is always saying sharp things to her and scolding her for something. No man could have loved more than I did at first, but now my mind is filled with doubts. I doubt her love for me because she is so unkind. I wonder if she will make a good wife. I also find myself wondering if I care as much for her as I did at first. What is your opinion?

ON THE FENCE.

I would say, however, that if your fiancée is truly in love it is with herself. Love for you and her mother would show itself in greater kindness. In my opinion you are betrothed to a girl who will not make a good wife. If she is moody and irritable now, you may be sure that after marriage her disposition will grow meaner instead of sweeter.

Loretta: This is not a matter of respectability. Your heart only can tell you which one of these men, if either, you love enough to marry.

The Chums: Consideration for others is the shortest cut to popularity.

Anxious Pals: Isn't your anxiety mostly to see your name in print?
