THE OMAHA BEE

MORNING-EVENING-SUNDAY THE BEE PUBLISHING CO., Publisher

N. B. UPDIKE, President

BALLARD DUNN,
Editor in Chief
Business Manage

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Associated Press, of which The Bee is a member. is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published herein. All rights of republication of our special dispatches are The Omaha Bee is a member of the Audit Bureau of

Circulations, the recognized authority on circulation audits, and The Omaha Bee's circulation is regularly audited by

Entered as second-class matter May 28, 1908, at Omaha postoffice, under act of March 3, 1879. BEE TELEPHONES

Private Beanch Exchange. Ask for the Department or Person Wanted. AT lantic 1000

OFFICES

Main Office—17th and Farnam

Chicago—Steger Bldg.

Los Angeles—Fred L. Hall, San Fernando Bldg.

San Francisco—Fred L. Hall, Sharon Bldg.

New York City—270 Madison Avenue

Seattle—A. L. Nietz, 514 Leary Bldg. MAIL SUBSCRIPTION RATES
DAILY AND SUNDAY
1 year $5.00, 6 months $3.00, 3 months $1.75, 1 month 75c
DAILY ONLY

DAILY ONLY
1 year $4.50, 6 months $2.75, 3 months $1.50, 1 month 75e
SUNDAY ONLY
1 year $3.00, 6 months $1.75, 3 months $1.00, 1 month 50e
Subscriptions outside the Fourth postal zone, or 600 miles from Omaha: Daily and Sunday, $1.00 per month;
daily only, 75c per month; Sunday only, 50c per month.

CITY SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Morning and Sunday ... 1 month 85c, 1 week 20c
Evening and Sunday ... 1 month 65c, 1 week 15c
Sunday Only ... 1 month 20c, 1 week 5c

Omaha-Where the West is at its Best

STRAIGHT AHEAD FOR INDUSTRY.

Why do we think the Sherman anti-trust law should be repealed, and a modern workable statute

The law as it exists was passed at a time when conditions were showing signs of changes to come. A great cry had gone up against the so-called "trusts," which were the beginnings of the great corporations now familiar to the people. Just why it should have been so is not easy to understand, but the American people were afraid to take what seemed a step into an unknown industrial land. Inevitably they were forced to take the step. Evolution is inexorable. The growth of population, the creation of new demands, the need of satisfying them, compelled entry into the land ahead, despite the bar set up by law.

One result of this has been the endless litigation that has followed, in an effort to find out just what the law means. Many decisions, some conflicting, have been handed down. Orders for dissolution of big companies have been made, the Standard Oil, the American Tobacco, and many others, but the process has not aided either the law or industry. One of the futilities most recently noted was the order that sought to change the ownership of stockyards. First, it was discovered that several hundreds of millions of dollars were needed to consummate the sale. Second, no one could be found who was ready to put up the money. A big business was saved from impending destruction because an order of court could not

The growth of industry has been for all to see. Take Henry Ford. If he were held strictly to what is contemplated by the Sherman anti-trust law, he could not own great manufacturing plants scattered in different parts of the country, making different products for use in the general manufacture of one article. He could not own coal mines, railroads, woodlands, water powers, steel mills, glass works. and all the other side lines in which he is involved, in order to carry on the business of making automo-

What would happen if all the big department stores were compelled to return to the single line system? The many other ways the situation could be illustrated are increasing every year. The social life of 110,000,000 people can not be made to order. It can not be fitted into the terms of a prohibitory statute. Realizing this, and looking to the future, when many millions more will live in this land, we suggest that the barrier be broken down. Let it be straight ahead for industry in America.

FEDERAL POLICE COURTS.

Federal Judge J. F. McGee took up arms against z sea of troubles, and ended it all. "My mind is going," he said in a pathetically short note. His friends say he has been greatly worried of late over the fact that more than nine-tenths of the business he had to deal with as judge was made up of police court cases. Charges against violators of the Volstead act dealing with liquors, or the Harrison act dealing with drugs. His nerves gave way under the Judge McGee was a man of fine attainments, of high ideals, and strong convictions. He had striven to make the law terrible to those who offended it. Sentences passed by him were as severe as he could inflict under the circumstances. Many of these were reversed by the court of appeals, where the judges did not hold the views of Judge McGee as to making the law efficacious through terror or severity.

It is not hard to sympathize with the feelings of the judge. A sensitive nature may easily give way under the steady pressure of one bootleg case after another. Yet somebody must hear these cases. Men and women violate the law, are arrested, and must have trial. One of the unexpected outgrowths of the law is the swamping of the federal district courts with petty criminal cases. Hundreds and thousands of them fill the dockets, all growing out of violations of the law that frbids the liquor traffic. Instead of diminishing the number is increasing as disregard for the law grows with passing time and enforcement officers become more active.

It was too much for Judge McGee. How long it will be patiently submitted to by the courts can not be told. What is made clear is that there is more to enforcing a law than just arresting a violator.

FRENCH FINANCE AND FRENCH FOLLY.

The French chamber of deputies is just*now considering a budget that contemplates the appropriation of 34,200,000,000 francs. On a gold basis, this is equivalent to $6,840,000,000, about three-fourths more than the budget of the United States. Along with the announcement of the budget comes the statement from Maurice Violette, chairman of the chamber finance committee, that the limit has been reached. France is "bled white" financially.

Sympathy that might go out to France in this erisis is tempered by reflection on the policy pursued since the war. In all the history of the nation, no era of expansion has been so reckless as that which now is coming to a climax. The French paper franc was quoted at 5.16 cents on the New York exchange Saturday, something under one-third gold value. While this reduces the amount of the total budget as expressed in dollars, it also indicates the weakness of the French position.

France may be able to weather the crisis. Such has been done in the past. But safety lies in a direction opposite to that which the French have been traveling. Instead of aiming at world-domination, at "security" resting on impregnable strength in Europe, they must adopt measures that make them safe from the financial Scylla into which they have steered in an endeavor to avoid the political Charybdis. A smaller army, a more reasonable policy of dealing, with other nations, might bring about a better condition. So long as France keeps eyes on the German frontier, and bends all efforts to sustain an army that is eating the substance of the nation, that long the budget will bleed the na-

DIVISION OF SCHOOL BOARD.

While we hope the members of the Board of Education will come to an harmonious understanding with relation to the employment of an architect, we get some pleasure out of noting the difference of opinion. This is far too important a matter to be settled offhand. Assuming no attitude otherwise, The Omaha Bee believes that the discussion shows the wisdom of the members. Taking for granted, of course, that each of them is actuated by the desire to secure for the school district the best possible ervice.

When all the differences have been examined into, the decision should be unanimous. Harmony is essential to the proper carrying on of the business of the board, but harmony does not mean that any one of the members must accept the action of any other without expressing opinions that have the support of reason. Full consideration of every important matter is vital to correct action in the end.

Omaha citizens are providing liberally for the care of the city schools. Millions of dollars are being expended on projects that are of interest to all. Other millions will be needed. If a comparison is necessary, the University of Nebraska may be cited. Legislators think they are generous in allowing the university $3,700,000, spread over a term of ten years. Omaha has provided $2,500,000 for building this year's additions to the city schools. Another similar sum will very probably be set aside

This is why the architect question is so important. Every angle should be weighed in all its bearings, to the end that no mistake is made. Personal considerations ought to be submerged, that the schools may have the best obtainable.

"THEY ALSO SERVE."

So Floyd Collins died. Trapped in a narrow crevice underground. In darkness, without food, or pir or water. Away from the sound of human voice or the touch of human hand. What his last thoughts were, his sufferings, or how he endured his torture, must be left to the imagination.

Efforts to rescue him were heroic, but futile. For days men strove against nature, with every power and artifice, finally to be rewarded with the lifeless body of him they sought with such driven energy. Another name written on the scroll of those who have died because they tried to find out some-

Mankind could have made no progress if some one had not assumed a risk, sustained an adventure. The man who ate the first oyster has been hailed as n hero. Whatever prompted him, he made a great discovery. So with the men like Floyd Collins. If comebody had not ventured, the marvellous wonders of the Mammoth Cave never would have been discovered to delight thousands of visitors each year. If the guides had not ventured first, the safe way through that subtergrapes laborists had not ventured for the pressing need of growing more timber. It is the duty of every citizen to encourage the growth of more timber, and every seat, retired men, especially farmers, through that subtergrapes laborists had seen discovered to delight thousands of visitors each year. harted. Floyd Collins was one of these, and the meet on which he was bent when trapped had for its mission the discovery of what a new passage

His case was followed with intense interest by the people of the land while the search was on. Now hat the story is told, he will be forgotten, swallowed up in the next wonder. Yet, he deserves a little more than that. For even those who spend their days crawling through underground crevices serve in their way. They add to the general sum of knowledge. Frequently their discoveries are highly useful. Always there is a splendid bravery about them.

The senate is about to complete a remarkable cycle. It began with an investigation hullabaloo and will go out with a filibuster. Its only achievement will be that it has failed to do what the people would liked to have done.

Some folks do not like the Coolidge idea of an inauguration program, but they might as well get used to it. Silent Cal has signified his desire, and hat ends the argument.

Judge Patrick will have the support of all good citizens in his efforts to enforce the traffic laws. Omaha needs relief in this as much as any place in Congress may raise its own pay, but even this might be forgiven if some other thingsc were at-

The house has decided to mark time until March The senate will keep on making speeches.

What good does it do to sentence a speeder and have him pardoned at once?

A London professor is measuring the heat of a

New York has no monopoly on bad plays. Some

Homespun Verse By Omaha's Own Poet-Robert Worthington Davie

JOSIAH JINKS WILL PAY.

Josiah Jinke has lived his life, And crossed the Mystic Bar; From earthly toil and earthly strife He has meandered far;-From Errand-land to Eden's Isle He has been called to dwell, And I can see him pray and smile In that exclusive dell.

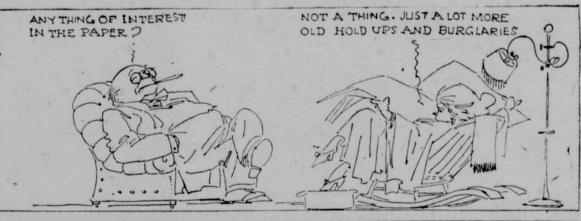

Josiah Jinks, I say, Old Top, Don't feel too proud and gay, For after while this strife will stop, And I'll be up to stay; You can't escape us, even though For a long time you tried .-And when all hope was lost, you know,

You fooled around and died. Those fifty plunks I'm bound to get In spite of all you've done;-I'll seek them when my feet I set

Beyond the sky and sun,-And I believe sincerely That you will gladly pay When you come face to face with me.

And can not steal away.

When They Get Around to Everybody We'll Probably Do Something About It

county if we would produce the fauit ourselves, and furnish good work for acre or acre near town and have plowed. Now plow deep furrows, four

Letters From Our Readers

something.

All letters must be signed, but name will be withhald upon request. Communications of 200 words and less, will be given preference.

Calls for More Trees. Octavia, Neb .- To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: Our president calls atperson who has land or even a lot, who would like to be doing something should set out some trees. In the first place, it breaks those cold, cutwinds, and what a change it But where it would benefit us finan-cially the most would be in having trees. Write to the different nurseries cially the most, would be in having the trees throw out moisture. I have for their prices on small yearling noticed that so much in our country. hewn and blasted out deep, then filled with dirt and a basswood or linwood tree was planted in the hole and the ground was covered so that the county. It could be made a sort of the county. no moisture could come in or go out. Then the water was measured to see w much the tree would throw into ism abo the air. When the tree was about 40 feet high the amount was immense. If we, then, by united effort, would

Besides this, we would have wood to burn. In case of a railroad strike in the future we would have some wood to burn. The time has been when we were forced to burn corn. We could find room to plant a half million trees in every county. As we cannot plant trees along our main roads until they are graveled, after they are graveled we could find room to plant a half million oak trees. This roads, which would make the most there is so much to be admired abou the tree, our near, close friend. Thirty reeze and thaw out and come ou all right in the spring, while if you hang up a wet towel it will freeze dry in about two days. And what can row trees, what a change we might equal the shade of trees on a hot summer day, as the leaves will inhale the bad air.

And there is a want of evergreen rees, so much needed on every farm, especially for stock. We cannot over estimate the value, as I can speal from experience on my farm. They will even warm the air,

And there are fruit trees. There are hundreds, if not thousands of

Abe Martin

So many soft jobs are bein' created these days that ready-made suits come with two pairs of trousers. Miss Fawn Lippincut wuz own-town t'day lookin' almost as faultless as a seed catalogue carrot.

Something to Salvage.

Science is a wonderful thing. Amer ican aviators have just shown that they can destroy clouds by shooting electrical sand at them. The next problem is how to salvage the silver ining.-Kalamazoo Gazette.

factory outlet SALE Grands~Uprights Players

home nursery. If there is true loyalty and patriotand Phonographs I will serve both countles alike and 1513 DOCKSLAS., CHEN EVENINGS TILL 85 leave $10 with each of the county judges to encourage this work. SETH VANDERKOLK.

A Sure Way to Prosperity Buy one of our guaranteed Typewriters or Adding Machines. Save one-half. Easy terms. LOWER RENTAL RATES

All Makes Typewriter Co., Inc. 205 S. 18th St. Phone AT 2413-2414

RADIANT COAL

Smokeless Semi-Anthracite LUMP $13.50 MINE RUN $11.50 SLACK $8.50 Phone WA Inut 0300

LUMBER& COAL CO.

See Samples of This Coal at Hayden's Grocery Dept.

SUNNY SIDE UP

That Sunrise never failed us yet.

Our early impressions of undertakers were not at all favorable. They were lugubrious, soul-depressing and lachrymose. They wafted a feeling of utter woe. Depression was their forte. Now they are wholly different. They are neither lachrymose nor lugubrious. They really act the part of friends in need, being sympathetic without being dispensers of gloom. They have become friends upon whom to rely in a trying hour, rather than something that must be endured. A convention of undertakers is usually a lively affair. In direct contrast to the gloomy and direful conventions of Uplifters and Reformers, who are always remindful of dark caverns, shadowy shapes and terrors close at hand.

Speaking about the weather-but as we are not permitted to speak of it as we would like in this department, we shall take up some other topic.

For little Nell, She had a car

And drove pretty fast. -Tennessee Tar.

Drop another For Pretty Pam, Stuck in the mud, Said, "Wonder when I'll get out."

And still one more for John B. Level. Took three drinks-Drove like one possessed.

We opine that the members of the Athletic club who are engaged in the club's financial campaign are getting more exercise at the task than they ever took in the club's gymnasium.

Too many people, are so intent on living that they fail to enjoy life.

If the missionaries sent to heathen lands are like most of the uplifters at home, it is little wonder that the heathens are a bit slow in accepting the uplift. Men who are always complaining about getting nothing out of life are the men who never put anything worth while

Brain Leaks.

A bore is a man who talks about his golf game instead of The world progresses no faster than its leaders, but the real worth of the progress depends upon those who keep up.

Nebraska needs more concrete roads, and fewer concrete heads driving over them. The fellow who is always demanding justice really means that he is expecting mercy.

The man who spends all his time defending his rights is the man who usually finds himself left.

Society Note.

The Omaha young lady who spent three weeks looking for her one-piece bathing suit was disconcerted when she discovered that her sister was using it for a powder puff.

There are a few things we do not like, among them answering letters and calling people over the telephone. We have never learned to dictate to a stenographer, and we have to hammer out our letters with our own hands. This is of no possible interest to the public, but we pause here to explain to numerous welcome correspondents why they have received no other acknowledgement of their kindly letters.
WILL M. MAUPIN.

They Like to "Talk Things Over"

Customers of THE OMAHA NA-TIONAL BANK frequently remark that they "like to talk things over" with the officers of this bank-

BECAUSE the officers of THE OMAHA NATIONAL BANK are easily accessible.

BECAUSE they come in contact with all lines of business.

BECAUSE the breadth of their vision qualifies them to give sound advice.

BECAUSE such advice, courteously imparted, is of inestimable value, whether the business of the contomer be large or small.

May we have the privilege of "talking things over" with YOU?

The Cmaha National Bank Farnam at 17th St.

Painful, swollen ankles

Sloan's gets right at the trouble

You'll get quick, sure relief for swollen, painful ankles with Sloan's. It requires no tiresome rubbing: the medicine itself does is applied, freshly purified blood starts tingling through the ach-ing place. And this enriched blood supply drives out swelling and pain and restores normal conditions in no time. Get this relief today. All druggists— 35 cents.

Sloan's Liniment

For Constination. Headache. Biliousness USE BEE WANT ADS - THEY BRING RESULTS