

Youth Freed by Age in Trial of Death Car Driver

Finds Lad, 17, Not Guilty in First Jury Case in History of Juvenile Court.

Age sitting in judgment of modern youth Tuesday morning decided in favor of youth when a jury of 12 mature men were sent into closed session to decide whether a 17-year-old high school boy should receive severe punishment on the charge of causing death while exceeding the speed limit.

Relaxed as Verdict. Edwin, pale but brave, braced himself in his chair as the jury returned in a leisurely fashion to the courtroom. It was a crisis in his young life—indeed, this accident is the first serious trouble the youth has ever experienced.

He relaxed as the verdict was read, then rose and eagerly clasped the hands of the jurymen. Edwin, driving his father's car, struck Andrew Christianson, aged street railway track foreman, at Thirty-third and Ames avenue last September. Christianson died of the injuries, and Edwin was arraigned before a coroner's jury, which disagreed. The county attorney's office then filed a charge of causing death while exceeding the speed limit against him.

Edwin and two boy chums who were in the car with him testified that they were not driving rapidly, and that Christianson stepped suddenly in front of their car. The state's witnesses did not testify to excessive speed. "I haven't driven a car since the accident and I'm not going to for some time to come," said Edwin. "I'm going back to school tomorrow."

TWO WORKMEN SAVED FROM GAS

Sever gas nearly claimed two victims in Council Bluffs Monday afternoon when Harry Doty, foreman of a sewer repair gang, attempted to rescue Edward Hunt, a workman on his gang, who was overcome by gas while working in a sewer at Thirty-first street and First avenue.

Hunt has been working alone in the sewer for about 15 minutes when his fellow workers outside heard him call faintly. Doty, the foreman, immediately tied a rope around his body and went to Hunt's rescue. He was also partially overcome and was so weak that he could not carry Hunt to safety.

Both men were given emergency treatment by Dr. R. S. Mott, city physician, and Hunt was then taken to Jennie Edmundson hospital. He was said to be considerably improved. Doty quickly recovered after reaching the fresh air and was allowed to go to his home.

RUPTURE

Permanently cured by our method of sewing up the ruptured opening with a silver thread covered with gold. This is done without a surgical operation, or detention in a hospital, and a truss is not worn afterward. Rupture resulting from surgical operations for appendicitis, gall stones and other abdominal troubles is also cured by this method, and we guarantee our work. These statements may appear startling, but they are true in every particular. DR. WRAY & KING, Harnis Specialists, No. 807 N. 35th St., Omaha, Neb.

Landing Field Here Assured

Duncan Warns of Effort to Move Air Mail Route to Kansas City.

Omaha is about to get her much-needed municipal air field. This was decided Tuesday when representatives of the Greater Omaha committee, the Chamber of Commerce and the city commissioners agreed to meet at the council chamber Wednesday to discuss a plan for securing the field.

Simultaneous with the announcement of the conference, a newspaper clipping was received Tuesday morning by Maj. Gen. George B. Duncan, commander of the Seventh Corps area, saying that Kansas City will make an extensive fight to supplant Omaha on the transcontinental air mail route.

Kansas City papers last Sunday carried the story that congress had recently given Col. Paul Henderson, assistant postmaster general, in charge of air mail, the power to reroute the cities on the transcontinental line and that sites on the south transcontinental line were to be favored. The Kansas City papers also called attention to the fact that the area near Kansas City would be more prosperous for the air mail service.

Serious for Omaha. "It is a serious proposition," declared General Duncan. "Instead of Omaha having Kansas City feeding into this city with its mail, conditions would be reversed and Omaha would be a feeding point into Kansas City." Duncan said the post-office department has spent $100,000 on buildings at Fort Crook. He said Kansas City has a new field, which is one of the best in the country.

"Omaha must secure the municipal air field at once and also see that the roads to Fort Crook are finished soon as possible," said General Duncan.

Proposed Site O. K. Duncan said a report given him by Maj. Lawrence Churchill, chief air officer of the Seventh Corps area, on the proposed municipal landing field site in East Omaha, shows the field would be suitable for aviation purposes if it could be dried and the swamp conditions removed.

Duncan said if the field is selected orders will be given to move the army hangar at Fort Crook to the new municipal field to be used by the reserve flying officers.

An announcement was made by the Greater Omaha committee Tuesday of the adding of two more Omahans on the air field committee of the organization. They are George Brandels and Gene Eppley. The other members of the committee are Gould Dietz, chairman; A. H. Richardson and General Duncan.

Marriage Bill Suffers Defeat

Drastic Measure Killed by Overwhelming Majority in Lower House.

Lincoln, Feb. 12.—The house this morning overwhelmingly defeated the proposed Gilmore amendment to house roll 29, the marriage bill.

This amendment was designed to "get" couples who evaded the 10-day notice required for marriage licenses by going outside of the state for the ceremony. It provided that if these couples returned to Nebraska within three months they would have to submit to mental and physical examinations. The provision of this amendment would have made Nebraska's marriage law more drastic than that of any other state.

Lloyd Hahn's Performance in East Shows Yankee Athletes Improving

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—The world's record indoor race at Madison Square Garden Saturday night by Lloyd Hahn, Nebraska product, of the Boston A. A., was the second fastest performance at that distance ever chalked up by an American competitor, indoors or outdoors. His time of 4:13.2-5 was only four-fifths of a second slower than the mark of 4:12.3-5 made by Norman Taylor in 1915, which stood as the outdoor standard until 1923, when Paavo Nurmi covered the course in 4:10.2-5.

Hahn's performance emphasizes the improvement in the feats of American track athletes, stimulated by Nurmi. Hahn had never beaten 4:15 for a mile before. Joe Ray recently ran the fastest mile of his career, 4:13.4-5.
