

Elks Offer Free Trips to Portland

Four Women Who Win in Popularity Contest Will Get Nice Reward.

Added impetus was given the ladies' popularity contest, a feature of the Elks' fashion show and exposition, when it was announced Saturday that the local lodge, No. 39, will award the four most popular contestants a free trip to the grand lodge convention at Portland.

The object of the Elks' big show is primarily to secure funds with which to send their hand to the Portland convention next summer. In order that Omaha may be kept before the other lodges, in the expectation that this city will secure the grand lodge in the near future.

Monday night the Elks' Fashion Show band, practically the same that will go to Portland, will broadcast a full program over WOAW.

Rehearsals of several models to be seen at the Elks' fashion show at the City auditorium, May 2 to 8, were begun last week, and a number of added attractions have been booked in the east since the first plans were laid.

Musings of a Cliff Dweller!

I have often wondered just what differentiates the city slicker from the Main Street yokel. I have about concluded that tucking a handkerchief up the shirt cuff makes a city slicker. The Main Street yokel is merely the fellow who comes to the city, begins drinking a cup of afternoon tea and goes down the long trail that leads to a pair of spats and a walking stick.

There is a young Chinese in Chinatown who makes a living as a guide for tourists. He wears a monocle and a wrist watch and has a decidedly British accent. Chinatown, by the way, has suffered in patronage as a result of the recent tong wars. Several merchants closed their shops. The New York kitchenette is disappearing.

Packard Car Wins Big Honors Abroad

American-Made Auto Stands High Among European Makes.

Capt. G. R. Edie, Washington, D. C., retired United States naval officer, has a bronze plaque and his daughter a jewel case because of a "no parking" sign encountered at Torquet, France, where, until recently, Captain Edie was a visitor. Usually such a combination results in a summons to court.

Tired and hungry, Captain Edie pulled up at his hotel after a 180-mile drive through the rain over muddy roads from Fontainebleau. "No parking" signs faced him and the traffic officer told him he could not park because there was a "Concours d'Elegance-Automobiles," an automobile beauty show.

Edie insisted he must park and eat. In order to do so he finally entered his car, a Packard eight touring car in the show. The American-built automobile was drawn up in a long row of beautifully-groomed and polished French, British, Spanish and Italian cars, travel staid as it was. Members of the judges' committee examined all the cars carefully, listened to the motors run, watched the contestants parade them past and after a half hour of deliberation called out the number "tente-neuf," Captain Edie's number. First prize was the jewel case and the bronze plaque.

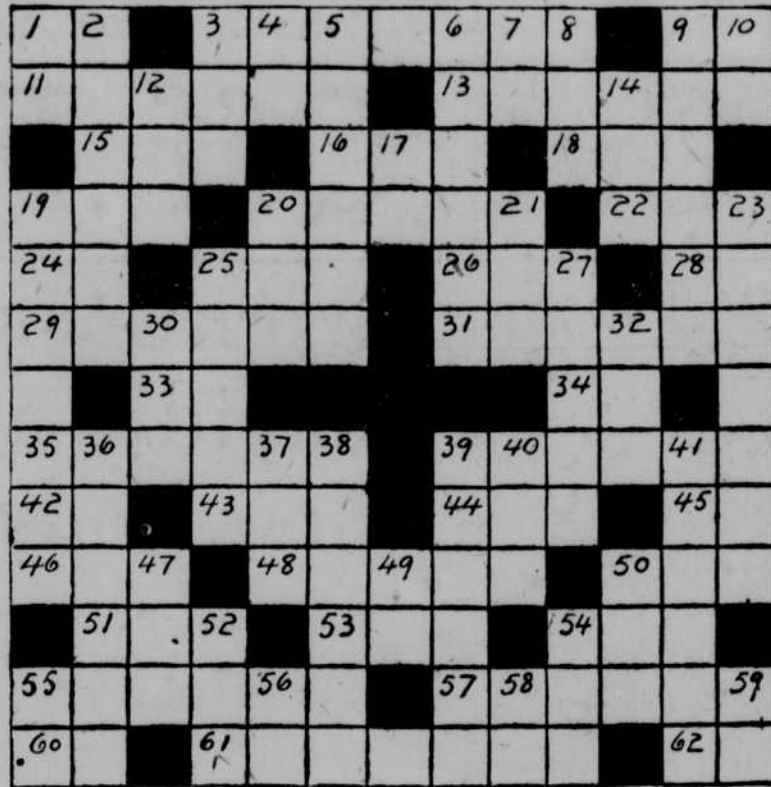

Automobile beauty shows have been almost a fad in Europe and Packard Eight cars have been winners at a number of the biggest shows.

E. J. Brandels, Omaha capitalist, big game hunter and sportsman, was given a silver cup when his Packard eight roadster was judged to be the most beautiful car at Monte Carlo. The Packard eight five-passenger touring car of Pablo Acosta was judged to be the most beautiful car at Aix-les-Bains and a seven-passenger Packard eight touring car won first prize at Clichy.

All these points are among the best-known watering places in the world, frequented by the wealthy in nearly every country, so that the cars entered in the contest represented the best of the world's finest motor cars.

Missionary to Recite

A program of dramatic readings by Ruby L. Anderson, missionary to Japan, will be given in the First Baptist church, Twenty-ninth and Harney streets, Monday evening at 8. It was postponed from last Friday night on account of the storm.

Besides the readings, by the young missionary there will be harp solos by Miss Irma Clow, songs and other musical numbers.

Traffic Changes Reflect in Wants

Owners Demanding New Features in Cars to Meet Conditions Find Them in Moon.

"Many people," states Carl Changstrom of the Changstrom Motors company, local distributors for the Moon, "hesitate about buying an automobile or learning to drive because of the changing traffic conditions. Traffic is constantly becoming more crowded and consequently through necessity it is being speeded up considerably.

"I believe that no one need hesitate to buy on this account, however. The buyer of today wants a car capable of meeting these traffic conditions. He wants quick deceleration as well as quick acceleration. And every automobile owner wants a car that steers nicely in traffic.

"The many thousands of miles of hard, fast roads tempt you more and more to set your speedometer at 50 miles, hour after hour. A motor with the old type of lubrication will not suffice. It will not stand the racket. The same is true of the old type of brakes. They were not safe enough for modern traffic. Balloon tires are now here. But with them we need a new type of steering gear—for steadiness and ease of turning. Moon's new patented steering gear enables a slight girl to handle the new Moon as easily as a full grown man.

"The new Duo finish requires little attention. Moon's four-wheel hydraulic brakes permit extremely rapid deceleration. The Moon pressure lubrication system stops undue wear at high speeds. And the balloon tires are another improvement."

Improvement Club Banquet

Members of the West Leavenworth Improvement club and their wives will enjoy a banquet and entertainment at their hall, Forty-eighth and Leavenworth streets, Monday night.

A program of music will be given and several short addresses will be made.

The big towns are bigger hick towns than the little ones.

And before he knows it he is a cosmopolite. Recently a European customs officer asked me: "What have you to declare?" I was tempted to reply: "I declare there are more boobs in Paris than in Plattsburg, Mo. And that Paris is the bigger hick town of the two."

I could substitute New York for Paris. Or Chicago. Or a half dozen other world centers. Thousands live by their evils in these centers in a manner that would not be tolerated in the so-called yokel burghs. In my callow youth I used to register at hotels from the nearest city to my home town. I was half ashamed of the idea of being mistaken for a country boy. Now I live in New York and wherever I go I register from Plattsburg, Mo. I don't dislike being mistaken for a New Yorker but I prefer to fly under true colors.

I was recently rather impressed at a small gathering by a census of all in the room. Ten of eleven came from towns of less than 6,000 inhabitants. The eleventh came from the big city of London. He was the butler.

It was discovered recently that 10 tea rooms in one block were blind tigers. All of them were run by women. Prohibition officials say the number of blind tigers is far in excess peering. New apartment houses are being built without the small kitchen due to the increasing custom of New Yorkers dining out. One New York hotel has 42 private dining rooms for dinners and luncheons and they are booked up continuously.

The New York woman has been completely emancipated from pots and pans. The daily drama of a billion dollars is enacted at the New York Clearing House, 77 Cedar street. It is a dignified building dwarfed somewhat by the skyscrapers around it. Business opens there with a stroke of the gong at 10 o'clock in the morning and scores of young men start feverishly the day's work. One slip in figures throws the entire machinery out of gear and a mistake, usually costs an accountant his job. No bank is admitted to the clearing association unless it has an unimpaired capital of at least a million dollars.

New York wagers about $2,000,000 a day on horse racing. Bets are placed in cigar stores, newsstands,

CONSTIPATION means DISEASE

These young rascals when they are well are the greatest institutions on earth. But when that insidious lurking monster—Constipation—ties up their bowels, then the world is dark. Coated tongue, loss of appetite, wakefulness, bad breath, pimples, weakness, dull mind are only a few indications that you are going to have a mighty sick boy if you do not see that his clogged bowels are opened up at once.
