Mentions Plan to "Take Up" Matter of Permits With Interior Department.

Washington, May 9 .-- John S. Pratt, the special assistant attorney general who assisted in securing the indict ment against Senator Wheeler in Montana, today laid before the senate committee investigating the subject documentary evidence on which the indictment partly was based.

The material consisted of photo static reproductions of correspondence said to have passed between Senator Wheeler and Gordon Campbell, the Montana oil promoter, for whom the senator is alleged to have appeared unlawfully before the Interior department.

One letter ostensibly from Wheeler to Campbell dated March 8, 1923. asked Campbell "to have your offic send me details of permits in order that when I take it up I may be able to discuss it intelligently with the Department of the Interior."

"Could Make Money."

The letter said that if Campbell "could get his hooks" on the land the two officials assisting, they "could make more money" than they "would otherwise make in a long time." Pratt told the committee he had ith him all the documentary evi dence in the possession of the Depart ment of Justice concerning the charge against Senator Wheeler, but added there was other material as to Sena tor Wheeler in his hands "which had no bearing on the present charge." Pratt produced also what purported to be a letter dated May 5, 1923. which Gordon Campbell offered E. S. Booth, the solicitor of the Interior department, 40 acres of land vention. out of one oil permit, and suggested to F. M. Goodwin, assistant secretary of interior, if the permit could be granted.

Reads Letters

Many of the letters he put in were exchanges between Campbell, Booth and James H. Baldwin, law partner of Senator Wheeler.

He read several letters he said wer exchanged between Wheeler and Campbell in 1923, relating to Camp bell's oil projects, and suggesting methods and persons from whom the oil promoter might obtain capital for development. In September, 1923. Campbell suggested that he would like to have Wheeler's law office some money.
