

Pension Passed for Ministers

Modernists Win in Presbyterian Meet Over Faith Certificate Proposal.

By Associated Press.
The Presbyterian general assembly today adopted a pension plan for ministers, missionaries and other accredited workers of the church, effective April 1, 1925, or sooner, prepared by a special committee of which Will Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, is chairman.

The plan, founded on actuarial experience of great insurance companies, provides in general for retirement annuities of approximately one-half of the recipient's average annual salary, the payments to begin at 65 years of age.

$15,000,000 Fund.
A revolving fund of $15,000,000, to be raised within the church, is suggested to facilitate operation of the new system.

The practicability of the plan is "contingent upon and directly dependent on" the accumulation of such a fund, the report said.

It is proposed that when a church pays the minister his annual salary at the same time it send to the board of pensions of the Presbyterian church a sum equivalent to 7 1/2 per cent of that salary, the minister agreeing to contribute 2 1/2 per cent.

These funds, gathering interest, will create a pension at the age of 65 equal approximately to one-half the man's average salary, assuming that he has had 35 years of service, according to the plan. Provision is made for the widow and minor orphans of a deceased minister. If he is disabled prior to the age of 65 the minister will receive a proportionate pension, with a guaranteed minimum of $600 a year, it is proposed.

First Modernist Victory.

The first defeat for the fundamentalists in the Presbyterian general assembly here came late last night when the committee on judicial business accepted a report that had been presented by a minority section of the Philadelphia presbytery and which the fundamentalist majority had urged be thrown out.

The presbytery from which Dr. Clarence MacArtney, moderator, is a commissioner had sent an overture to the assembly requesting that ministers, theology professors and other servants of the church be compelled to sign a certain confession of faith.

The overture, with ultra-fundamentalist backing, was adopted by the presbytery, but only after a strenuous fight.

At last night's meeting the committee on judicial business, it was learned today, refused to throw out the minority report as urged by the fundamentalist group and passed the report on to the judicial committee, whence it will go to the floor of the assembly.

SPECIAL RULE ON RAIL BILL SOUGHT

By Universal Service.
Washington, May 23.—Progressive republicans are demanding pressing the Howell-Barkley bill to supplant the railway labor board with a system of mediation and conciliation took a new turn in their fight in the house today.

They decided to ask for a special rule to bring the measure up for action. They asserted they had been given assurances that a rule would be granted, although no definite promise had been made.

The demand for a rule is based on the contention that in view of the filibuster against it and the short time remaining before adjournment is scheduled, its consideration on the next suspension day, a week from the coming Monday, would mean that no other bills on the suspension and unanimous consent calendar would have any chance of action. There are scores of members interested in these bills, and it is asserted they will lack the movement for a rule to take up the bill without regard to suspension day.

They were jailed and later Thursday night implicated Edward Jacobson, 18, same address, who was also arrested.

Rum Ring Under U. S. Roof, Is Claim

Printing Office at Capital Teeming With Revelry, Official Charges.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 24.—Bootleggers, bookmakers and racetrack touters were pictured as having been allowed to wander at will through the government printing office in Washington, and many women employed were "kept penniless by wholesale gambling," according to sensational charges which today rocked the convention of employing printers of New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The allegations were made by George H. Carter, public printer of the United States, who declared that he personally broke up the ring.

"One poor woman confessed to me that she had mortgaged her home and lost all in a mad desire to win a fortune," he said.

"Evidence was found," Carter continued, "that liquor had been distilled in the office of one foreman, either under his supervision or at least with his knowledge."

"A messenger on errands between the printing office and the capitol seemed to be engaged in bootlegging. When I preferred charges against this man a congressman whose breath revealed his interest in the case urged me to retain the messenger. Nevertheless, he was dismissed."

Farm Relief Is to Be Tabled

Attempt to Kill McNary-Haugen Bill Gains in House.

Washington, May 24.—Farm relief legislation, the McNary-Haugen bill, was scheduled to be laid aside in the house late today while a week is consumed in acting on other matters.

The tax reduction conference report is scheduled for adoption by the house Monday. The legislative appropriation bill and an urgent deficiency bill providing money for making effective the soldier bill will be considered Tuesday and Thursday. The $150,000,000 bill for new naval construction will occupy the house Wednesday.

The farm relief bill is to be given consideration although it may require three or four days to complete. This is in deference to the wishes of the congressmen with farmer constituents, and a general belief that some legislation to help the wheat and other farmers is urgent and imperative.

The McNary-Haugen bill may not be the legislation to have less opposition. A hasty democratic poll of the house is reported to have developed 215 members opposed to the legislation with 150 in favor of it. There was talk today of an attempt to kill the bill at once and make way for other measures that have less opposition.

Republican Leader Longworth said he did not think this could be done. Many congressmen would vote against such action, although they are unfriendly to the bill as drawn.

Defeat of the McNary-Haugen bill in the house would leave that body without an alternative farm relief measure, which had been considered in the agriculture committee.

The latter rejected all other plans when it brought out the McNary-Haugen bill. The senate has several plans before it and might be able to rush through some one of them should it become necessary to replace the bill now before the house.
