Celebration of Royal Wedding Begins in Japan

State Banquet Opens Period of Festivities Which Will Continue for Five Days.

By Associated Press

June 1 .- The five-day state celebration of the wedding of Prince Regent Hirohito to Princess Nagako opened here June 1 with a state banquet, the most brilliant court function in years.

The imperial wedding ceremony was performed last January 26, after having, been postponed by the official period of mourning which followed September's earthquake and fire disaster. Preparations for the state cele bration have been under way severa

The banquet was attended by $50; guests, including princes and princesses of the imperial blood, foreign ambassadors and ministers and their wives, members of the cabinet, privy councillors, and the highest officials of the Japanese army and

Following the banquet was a ball to which all members of the foreign diplomatic corps had been bid. The regent welcomed the guests in a brief

WATER PROBLEMS TOLD ENGINEERS

Members of the Engineers' club of Omaha were presented facts and figures on "The Softening of Public Water Supplies," at a meeting of that organization in the auditorium o Burgess-Nash stores Saturday night by Dr. William M. Barr, consulting chemist of the Union Pacific system and Theodore A. Leisen, general manager of the Metropolitan Utilities district. The speakers were introduced by John Latenser, jr., president of the club.

In a foreword Dr. Barr related that the ancients had knowledge of the value of boiling and filtering water. He stated that an ancient water tank covering an area of seven square iles, was discovered in Ceylon, and has been restored for use. He asserted that no industrial plant is so small that it would not be profitable to treat the water when it was hard. He showed specimens of scales from and stated that scales one-eighth of an inch thick will cause a loss of 15 per cent of the heating efficiency.

General Manager Leisen read a re port which he submitted to the board of directors of the utilities district in setting forth his recommendations for treatment of the Omaha supply, to reduce the hardness. He believes that Omaha will experience gradual diminution of the hardne of its water, on account of the large cost necessary to install another unit to the plant. He explained that the sedimentation and filtration systems were designed without thought to the softening treatment

COOLIDGE TAKES YACHT VOYAGE

Washington, June 1.-President Coofidge embarked on the Mayflower for the first over-night trip by water he has enjoyed since entering the White House.

That the president's trip to the mouth of the Potomac river was not unattended by cares of administration was shown by the fact that he took the tax bill with him.

The president was accompanied by Coolidge and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns. In the entourage was his personal stenographer, and he looked ever other papers besides the tax bill
