

Chicago Wheat Moves Higher in Erratic Market

Chicago, June 13.—Wheat market was erratic today despite the fact that prices continued to show strength compared to the futures. Offerings were moderate and prices advanced.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 higher. Cash wheat sold at unchanged prices. Cash wheat sold at unchanged prices. Cash wheat sold at unchanged prices.

High temperatures over the southwest reached, aroused no little comment in the trade. Experts pointed out that high temperatures could easily lower present prices.

Very little was heard from the American and Canadian northwest. The cash situation there remained about the same.
