

Brakes Tested Now Past 7,000

New Record in Safety Campaigns Expected to Be Made Here.

Omaha's brake-testing drive, sponsored by The Omaha Bee, has so far equaled in the number of cars tested in several cities of more than a million population, according to Jerry Cavanaugh of Detroit, manager of the testing at Fifteenth street and Capitol avenue.

The drive had been in progress four and a half days at noon Friday, when it was announced that a few more than 7,000 motor vehicles of all descriptions had been tested for faulty brakes.

Manager Cavanaugh declared that this equals those tested in Detroit during the same length of time and predicts that the late Friday night rush and the testing on Saturday will be so great that the Omaha drive will establish a new record in safety circles throughout the country.

Of the 7,000 cars, trucks, cabs and buses tested, approximately 3,775 have received the official pink sticker on their windshields, indicating that brakes are in good working order. This is a high percentage, Cavanaugh says. More encouraging still is the fact that hundreds of vehicles which failed to pass are returning with adjusted brakes and obtaining the pink windshield O. K. stickers.

A line of motor vehicles extending for more than a block was waiting at 8 Friday morning at the Fifteenth street side of the Capitol avenue testing place. A large crowd also was at the Fourteenth street entrance.

License numbers recorded. License number of every car which passes through the testing place is being recorded, no matter whether the car passes the test or not. The police department and the Omaha Auto Trade association through A. B. Waugh, commissioner, are co-operating with The Omaha Bee in the drive.

Saturday will be the last chance to obtain a pink O. K. sticker. For the sake of the kiddies who may be maimed by bad automobile brakes, and for your own sake, have your brakes tested before the drive closes.

STRIKE LEVY IS DISCONTINUED

Officers of Omaha Typographical union Friday received notification that the strike assessment, which members of the International union have been paying for three and a half years, has been discontinued.

From time to time the assessment, originally 10 per cent of earnings, has been reduced, until now, when the last 1 per cent was removed. There is considerable rejoicing among local printers, not alone over the removal of the tax, but from the healthy condition of their union, which has financially as a warrant the action, which makes the Saturday half-day a fixture in the commercial division of the printing industry.

2 WOMEN HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Cars driven by J. M. Sullivan, Thirteenth and Davenport streets, and Angelo DeGeorge, 1960 South Twelfth street, collided Friday morning.

DeGeorge's mother, Mrs. Mary DeGeorge, 1960 South Twelfth, and Mrs. Mary Minto, 1935 South Twelfth, who were riding in the car, were bruised and taken to police headquarters for treatment. Sullivan and DeGeorge were booked, charged with reckless driving.

SIX WEEKS' WORK IN 3 YEARS, CLAIM

Jasper Moss worked just six weeks in three years of married life, his wife, Florence, testified in domestic relations court Friday. She lives at 1450 South Thirteenth street and was granted a divorce decree.

She said he recently came home drunk after hanging around pool halls and she had to put him to bed. She is a waitress.

BUILDING PERMITS' RECORD BROKEN

While the record for the largest number of cases filed in municipal courts was being broken Thursday, the record for the least number of building permits was being shattered also. Only two permits were issued all day, one for a frame dwelling and the other for a frame garage.

FLEMING HEADS REFRIGERATOR MEN

J. S. Fleming was elected president of Nebraska subordinate No. 1, National Association of Refrigerator Refrigerating Engineers, at the organization meeting at Hotel Rome.

Other officers elected were H. G. Venemann, vice president; Alex McKee, secretary.

Herzberg Picnic.

Kruz park was the scene of a most enjoyable time Thursday evening when more than 250 employees of the Herzberg store staged their annual picnic. A Virginia baked ham picnic dinner with all the trimmings was served, after which many novel contests were indulged in. The entire crowd made the rounds of the amusements and then staged a swimming party. Later in the evening dancing held sway.

"Hike" Proves Ride.

During last week's vacation at Technical High school, Sam Abrams and Joseph Silver, students, started to walk to St. Louis City. They had proceeded only a mile when someone offered them a ride and from that point to St. Louis City they rode the entire distance, accepting rides from 11 different motorists.

Joint Picnic July 13.

A joint picnic of the Young Men's Hebrew association and the Young Women's Hebrew association will be held Sunday, July 13, at Elmwood park. Members will meet in the morning at the Jewish community center, from where they will be taken to the picnic grounds in trucks.

Bryan Gives Violin Solo on Mouth Organ at Convention Songfest

By "BUGS" BAER.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

New York, June 26.—The one-tube radio coop drowned itself in wave lengths when Franklin D. Roosevelt passed the pepper for Al Smith in the third session of democracy's appeal.

Franklin's voice was very political. He sang: "The Face on the Barroom Floor." Then Franklin's voice got too manly.

The Four Happy McAdoo's then sang "Love Laughs at Deadlock Smith's." The loud speaker got hysterical. It was packed in ice bags, but continued to mutter to itself.

Finally, the one-tube sugar bowl exploded with a bang which indicated it was for better government at a more reasonable discount.

An un instructed delegate broke out of his cage and recited Kipling's "Boots, Boots, Boots." He got a copper's boots instead in a place where they didn't fit.

A violin solo by William Chinnings Bryan was very well rendered on a mouth organ.

A wholesale dealer in cloaks and furs ran a pool on a four-button vest.

Charles Hay seconded the nomination of McAdoo, who is confined to his hotel room with telegrams, telephonists and radiohoos.

Two delegates scratched, bit and slugged each other while the orchestra played "My Country, 'Tis of Thee."

A tenor with a voice that was protected by the Audubon Bird society, then proposed three cheers for William Gibbs McAdoo.

The request was granted by the cuckoo in a cloak store on Fifth avenue.

A queer noise followed the cheers, hoots and bellows. It was the sound of sleigh bells percolating through the one-tube coffee strainer.

Are the delegates starting to use snow?

In response to a thousand demands to lay off the microphone, Bill Bryan sang in a plaintive minority tenor. "There's Still Free Silver Threads Among the Gold."

The Smith community song plugger then sang "California, You're a Bum."

Professor Gunsford of Harvard, interrupted the Smith celebration with a short lecture on blue delft china. Let us have more of this kind of stuff.

"The Sidewalks of New York" broke loose at noon.

McAdoo came right back with "The Doorsteps of Wall Street." Mike Igoe of Illinois cracked open a new barrel of dead herrings when he nominated Dave Houston, formerly secretary of agriculture.

An agriculture is right in his meter, Edwin Markham stepped forth and rendered his famous poem, "The Man With the Ho-Ho."

An illuminating talk on the medicinal properties of slippery elm followed. It was broadcast by the Society of Scientific Morons.

The song plugger outnumbered the candidates 20 to one. So the convention was adjourned in order to allow a new quota of immigrants to land and select their badges.

Wife Works as Husband Loafs

Woman Forced to Give Husband Entire Earnings, She Tells Court.

Nebraska City, June 27.—Judge A. A. Bischof in county court refused to appoint a guardian for Miss Lydia Holland, well-known woman farmer, after three days' hearing on a petition filed by neighboring farmer, who alleged that she is not competent to take care of her affairs.

Miss Holland has brought suit for $50,000 damages against the signers of the guardian petition, alleging defamation and holding her up to public ridicule and reproach.

Miss Holland owns 245 acres within a short distance of the city and for years has been engaged in the stock raising business, specializing in spotted Poland-China swine. Her neighbors alleged in their petition that if a guardian was not appointed for her they feared her property would be entirely dissipated and that she would become a public charge.

Girls' Band Continues.

Meetings of the girls' band at Central High school will continue daily during the summer, according to Mrs. L. J. Noah, director.

Petition for Guardian for Miss Lydia Holland Is Overruled by Court

John Thomas, arrested on lower Douglas street several days ago by Detective Munch and Trapp while attempting to sell a quantity of clothes, was returned Friday to Parkston, N. D., to face a robbery charge.

Police say Thomas admitted the clothes were stolen from a store at Parkston. Merchandise valued at $1,900 was taken in the same theft, which is in the hands of an accomplice of Thomas, whom police have been unable to apprehend.

Courtesy Wins Job.

Courteous attention given F. M. Pond, insurance man, by Matilda Snipp, a June graduate from Technical High school, when she escorted him through the building during dedication week, resulted in Pond giving her a position as a stenographer.

Real Estate Broker Dies

Short illness fatal to W. H. Gates; came here in 1877.

W. H. Gates, 65, real estate broker, died at his home, 6019 Lothrop street, Friday morning after a short illness.

Mr. Gates came to Omaha first in 1877 and accepted a position in a gun store owned by Collins and Pearty. Four years later he left Omaha and worked as a real estate operator in several communities. Three years later he returned to Omaha and established himself as a real estate broker. He took an office in the Omaha National bank building as soon as that structure was completed and has occupied it ever since.

Glass Out-Foxes Other Candidates at Convention, Roland Krebs Finds

"Glass is your man." A Chicago alternate, arrested in a hotel with a suitcase containing 10 quarts of champagne and four quarts of whisky spent the day blushing with shame.

Pitching a party convention on so little as 10 quarts at this champagne and four quarts of jumping Jack, stamps one as a piker.

Quite a few delegates are caucusing each night and most of the early morning in a cabaret in the frothy forties, noted for its midnight revue.

When the orchestra lets go and the stage door flies open, the customers wonder if they're watching a chorus or a crowd of ladies who have fled from a too hot turkish bath.

The ball scored its first victory for Glass when it gave the girl behind the cigar counter in the corner, astigmatism. She was for Al Smith.

The other candidates were preparing to close their campaign headquarters in the Waldorf and save rent. Potential democratic voters coming near the Glass section were so blinded by the light thrown at them from the hundred or two of facets that they could not find the Davis office or the Al Smith headquarters.

Other features of the Glass attack were signs reading:

"Keep the world moving with Glass."

"Glass is the leader;

"Glass means confidence;

"Glass will win;

"Glass spells success;
