Chamber of Commerce Spurred by Success of Lions Convention to Seek Others.

Spurred by the success of the Inbureau of publicity is reaching out ganizations in "landing" more big conventions for the city. Leo Bozell, commander of Omaha reau of publicity, went into conference Tuesday morning to discuss possibilities of bringing the national American Legion convention to Oma ha next year.

The legion convention is to be held in St. Paul in September this year Past conventions have resulted in an convention city. The legion convention is practically promised to Philadelphia for 1926, but it is believed that Omaha's invitation for 1925 would receive serious consideration and possibly an acceptance.

strengthen this belief is the fact that Omaha post is the largest in the country. Certain financial obligations must be shouldered by Omaha business men before an invitation could be extended, however, according to Manager Tancock of the bureau of publicity.

A resolution which was to be passed Tuesday noon by the Lions club reflects the enthusiasm of that organization over the recent convention here.

The resolution urges all local or-ranizations with national affiliations unite in an effort to bring big conventions to Omaha, and states a willingness on the part of the Lions to assist with such conventions.
