SIXTEENTH YEAR.

McCOOK, RED WILLOW COUNTY, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 1, 1897.

NUMBER 20

Enforce the Game Law!

The difficulty in enforcing the game laws in the past, has been the expense of arresting, prosecuting and bringing to trial the offenders. Under the provisions of the law, as amended by the last legislature, farmers and others who have been persecuted with trespassers, claiming to be sportsmen, can secure their rights and protect game and insectivorous birds, without having to pay one-half of their year's earnings in lawyers' fees and costs.

It is unlawful to kill song and insectivorous birds excepting on the land of the owner. It is unlawful to kill or have in possession any quail, between the first day of January and the first day of November. It is unlawful for any person to go upon the land of another for the purpose of hunting, without first procuring the owner's or occupier's consent. This doing away with putting up notices of warning to hunters.

The penalty for any violation of the game law is a fine of from five to one hundred dollars, one-half of the fine collected going to the informer.

Special attention is called to the following: A prosecution may be brought by any person in the name of the State of Nebraska, against any party or parties violating any of the provisions of this act, before any justice of the peace or county judge of the county in which such violation is charged to have taken place, or before any court of competent jurisdiction; and it is made the duty of all county attorneys in this state to see that the provisions of this act are enforced in their respective counties, and they shall prosecute all offenders on receiving information of the violation of any of the provisions of this act; and it is made the duty of all sheriffs, deputy sheriffs, constables and police officers, to inform against and prosecute each and every party or parties, person or persons, who are guilty of violating any of the provisions of this act. Any county attorney, sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable or police officer, who shall fail, neglect or refuse to discharge the said duties hereby imposed on such officers, respectively, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction be fined not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars, for each offence. Sec. 374, page 137, Compiled Statutes of Nebraska for 1897.

Under the provisions of this section, all any person has to do, if he does not wish to prosecute in his own name, is to inform the sheriff or nearest constable of the violation, and it is the duty of such officer to inform against the offender.

See that no one hunts on your land without your consent. See that no song or insectivorous birds are killed at any time of the year. See that no quail is killed between the first of January and the first of November. See that no game birds are shipped out of the state by the railroad company.

The game laws now in force will be found on pages 134 to 135, Compiled Statutes of Nebraska, for 1897, and in the Session Laws of Nebraska for 1897, on pages 380 to 386.

It is especially made the duty of the county attorney to prosecute violators of the game law. Therefore it is only necessary to lay the offense before the county attorney, and he must draw all the necessary papers and prosecute the case, or if you do not desire to sign the complaint, inform the nearest constable or sheriff of the violation of the law, and it will be his duty to make complaint and see that the offender is prosecuted.

The Red Willow County Fish and Game Association will furnish attorneys to prosecute, impeach and remove from office, any county attorney, sheriff or constable, in the Fourteenth Judicial District, who refuses to perform his duties under this act. Dated Sept. 28th, 1897. RED WILLOW CO. FISH AND GAME ASSN.

An Artistic Display.

The lovely and artistic array of millinery goods to be seen in the establishment of Mrs. M. E. Barger cannot be excelled in this part of the state. Such is the verdict of many of the customers of Mrs. Barger on beholding the beautiful and stylish hats, caps and bonnets now displayed at her place of business. Mrs. Barger has been in the business nearly forty years and understands how and when to buy, keeping up with the latest styles and selling at prices that astonish the public.

Great praise is due the Misses Montgomery and Barger for their taste shown in the display made at the opening.

Mrs. Barger is also doing first-class dress-making; cuts and fits for outside parties without it being necessary to go through the usual, tiresome fitting. Best of help employed in this department.

Baptist Bible School Rally.

The third annual rally of the Baptist Bible school, Sunday morning, was, in point of attendance, the most successful ever held. It was a fitting prelude to the year's work before the school, which, commencing next Sunday, will take up in all departments the Bible Union lessons on the life of Christ. All scholars and others desiring to take up this study should be present next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Handsome souvenir programs of the commencement of the school year will be given at the door. A cordial welcome to all.

A Splendid Showing.

Red Willow county made a splendid showing at the state fair and carried off a number of prizes: First premium in Red Spring wheat; this weighed 6 1/2 pounds to the bushel and was raised by James Doyle of the Willow; also second premium in White Spring wheat. In corn the premiums were taken for best corn, best collection and greatest variety; there were 28 varieties. Much of the artistic effect of arrangement is due to Messrs. Hogan and Starr.

Annual Fall Openings.

The millinery establishments of Misses Stover & Burgess, Mrs. M. E. Barger and the Lowmans held their annual openings of fall and winter goods, last Friday and Saturday. There was the customary, large attendance and lively interest, and a charming display in each establishment of the latest creations of the millinery art, with quite encouraging opening sales.

A Sad Death.

In the burning of John Fitzgerald, Tuesday evening, McCook has her second loss of life in a fire. About half past seven o'clock the residence of Edward Fitzgerald of South McCook was discovered to be on fire, but by the time help arrived from the immediate neighbors even it was impossible to enter the building, which became a mass of flames in a twinkling and was quickly reduced to ashes together with practically the entire contents. The stable which stood just east of the house was also burned.

Mr. Fitzgerald was away from the town on business at the farm near Lebanon, and Mrs. Fitzgerald and the children were at her sister's, Mrs. Peter Carthy's, near by, so no one was in the house but the aged grandfather, who was very old and infirm, and who had been ailing for some time to the point of helplessness. A lamp had been lighted for him; but whether it exploded or was in some way overturned will never be known: Only the sad and deplorable fact that the old man was a victim of the cruel flames. The very meager remains were recovered at about midnight and taken to Pade's undertaking establishment for preparation for burial.

The house and contents were insured for $1,000.

In addition to the loss of house and furniture, Mr. Fitzgerald had about $100 in cash, (derived from a recent sale of wheat,) which was also consumed.

The deceased's age is not definitely known, but he is supposed to have been in the nineties. The funeral was held in St. Patrick's church at three o'clock on Thursday afternoon, services being conducted by Rev. J. W. Hickey, after which the remains were interred in Calvary cemetery.

[JOHN FITZGERALD was a native of the County Galway, Ireland, and was past 90 years of age at the time of his tragic death. At the age of 25 years he was united in marriage with Catherine Gibbons of Detroit, Michigan. Of this union twelve children were born, ten of them are living at this time. But two live in this country, Mr. Edward Fitzgerald and Mrs. James Farrell of our city, Canada being the home of the remainder of the family.]

The bereaved ones have the deep sympathy of all, especially in view of the sad and tragic circumstances of the death.

Supreme Lodge Reorganized.

The reorganization of the Supreme Lodge and Board of Directors of the Order of the Star of Jupiter is announced, this week. The present Supreme Officers are: James W. Hupp, President; John B. Meserve, Vice President; Hugh W. Cole, Secretary; Frank Harris, Treasurer. Board of Directors is now composed as follows: W. S. Morjan, J. B. Meserve, George Hocknell, J. W. Hupp, H. W. Cole, William Simpson, Frank Harris.

It is not necessary for us to state that this reorganization, this infusion of new blood into the official life and directory of the Star of Jupiter means large and important things for the order, means the rapid growth of the order in membership and its early establishment among the leading mutual, benevolent life insurance companies in the west. It is the definite policy of the new management to put more organizers in the field and to make an active and thorough canvass in the interest of the order, which has all agree, one of the best and most equitable plans and a future of usefulness and success. We wish to congratulate all concerned in the very encouraging turn in the affairs of the order.

Secretary Gage.

Lyman J. Gage, secretary of the United States treasury, and wife, were east-bound passengers, Monday morning on the Pullman Fama. In conversation with a Lincoln Journal reporter the secretary among other things said: "Well, I did not get to see a great deal of this state. At McCook I was met by an editor who recognized me. I thought I would slip through without being discovered, but it was not to be so. I learned from him that the corn in that section was slightly damaged. The section of the state through which we passed, however, appears to look well and from the activity manifested I should judge that it is a good year for farmers'."

Farewell Serenade.

The uniform rank, Knights of Pythias, brigade band of McCook, serenaded the World-Herald, yesterday afternoon, before returning home. The playing of the band in the grand stand at the state fair races and during the Ak-Sar-Ben parades and coronation ball confirmed the good impression formed of it during the previous state fairs and carnivals. It has become familiar to and very popular with Omaha people, so much so that it is no longer looked upon as a stranger to the city.—Omaha World-Herald.

Miller-Smith.

Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Conductor Harvey H. Miller of our city and Miss Maud Smith of Lincoln were made husband and wife, Rev. Stein performing the ceremony, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Smith, in the presence of the near relatives of the contracting parties. A wedding dinner was served after the ceremony. The young couple arrived in our city on 3, the same night, and have taken apartments at the Commercial hotel. THE TRIBUNE joins in wishing these estimable young people a prosperous and happy married life.

The many friends of Rev. Badcon will learn with pleasure of his return to this charge for another year.

Arrangements were well under way to send the Jeffries boys to the reform school at Kearney, but the mother, who is still very ill, objected and the matter unfortunately had to be dropped.

It is unofficially announced that an Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. will play here in the near future. It is stated that there are 45 people in the company, which plays in a tent that will seat 3,500 people.

While a large acreage of small grain will doubtless be sown in Red Willow, this fall and next spring, our farmers should not lose sight of the necessity and desirability of planting a diversity of crops. Don't put all your eggs in one basket when you go to market.

PUBLIC SCHOOL ITEMS.

Miss Ona Simons will begin her school on Ash creek, next Monday.

G. H. Thomas, assistant high school teacher, spent Saturday and Sunday in Lincoln and his home in Harvard.

The 12th grade had charge of the lantern class, Friday evening last, and gave a creditable program with some outside help.

A tennis club was organized by some of the assembly room pupils, first of the week. Officers were chosen and a constitution drawn up and adopted.

Mrs. A. P. Bonnot will be the vocal teacher in the schools, using the opening hour four times a week in which to give her lessons. This should be a welcome innovation, and we expect desirable results.

The regular meeting of the Star of Jupiter, last Monday evening, was well attended, and a great deal of interest manifested. Several new applications were received and the order continues to grow and flourish. The reorganization of the board of directors of the Supreme Lodge was announced and was well received by the members present. The society is entering upon a season of greater work and activity. There are several organizers now in the field and more being engaged for the work, the intention being to extend the membership in the immediate future throughout the central western states which comprise the healthiest portion of the United States. The order being comparatively new and the membership confined to the most healthy localities explain the extremely low death rate, which enables its members to carry their insurance at a very small expense. The society invites examination.
