

Hicks—There's a difference between love and respect. Wicks—A wide difference. For instance, there's Hawkspur. He says he loves his wife because she believes every word he says; but, of course, it is impossible for him to respect a person who would believe even half what he said.—Boston Transcript.

To Washington and Baltimore via the Monon Route.

There is not a pleasanter or more picturesque route from Chicago to Washington and Baltimore than the Monon, via Cincinnati and the B. & O. S. W. and B. & O. Railways. The train service of this line is comfortable and convenient, consisting of through palace sleeping cars and coaches. The time of leaving Chicago is 2:45 a. m., but the sleeper is ready for occupancy at any time after 9:30 p. m. This route traverses the garden section of southern Ohio, and passes through the historic section of West Virginia in the evening and down the beautiful and tradition laden Potomac valley in the early morning, arriving at the national capital at 6:47 and Baltimore 7:55 the next morning. Taken altogether it is a most comfortable and restful journey, a tour of education, that once taken will never be forgotten, and the oftener repeated, the more enjoyed.

Who Owns the U. S. Patent Office?

We frequently hear complaints about the manner in which officers serve the people. Men elevated from the ranks of private life to positions of trust, honor and emolument often assume an air of importance and haughtiness that is quite offensive to the humble citizen who, as one of the sovereign people, has a right to expect civility in his intercourse with every public servant—from X Roads postmaster up to president. Deputies and clerks frequently put on airs that principals are too modest and sensible to assume. Occasionally we are glad to know, official importance and insolence gets wholesome rebuke from the dignity of private citizenship. An instance of this kind occurred in the corridors of the Patent Office and may serve as a lesson to all public servants who forget their duty. Early one morning a humble inventor and public benefactor was walking up and down in the hall quite complacently waiting for the doors to be opened. An official approached him with a look intended to annihilate the early caller and asked: "Do you belong to the Patent Office?" The offended citizen with true manly dignity turned on his insolent interrogator and replied: "No sir, the Patent Office belongs to me—and other citizens of the United States."

THOMAS G. ORWIG & CO., Proprietors.

Several important changes will be made in the Traffic Department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company on March 1st.

J. A. Murray, the present Coal and Coke Agent, will be given the title of General Coal and Coke Agent of the entire system, with headquarters at Baltimore.

William L. Andrews will be Assistant Coal and Coke Agent for the Pittsburgh District, with headquarters at Pittsburgh.

E. T. Affleck, now Coal and Coke Agent for the lines west of the Ohio River, with headquarters at Columbus, will become Assistant Coal and Coke Agent for that territory.

Mr. Andrews is well known as Private Secretary of Receiver Oscar G. Murray and came to the B. and O. when Mr. Murray was appointed Receiver. Mr. Affleck has held his present position for a number of years and Mr. J. A. Murray was formerly private secretary to ex-Traffic Manager Frank Harriott.

These appointments are in the nature of promotions and it is believed will very materially strengthen that branch of the B. and O. traffic department.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

SOME GOOD STORIES FOR OUR JUNIOR READERS.

The Unfortunate Boy—Some Favorite Games for Evenings—Modern Telltales—An Instructive Experiment—On Children's Readings.

The Unfortunate Boy.

Unfortunate is just the phrase To use of Peter Grievous Long; A wicked fate perplexed his ways, And made him suffer much of wrong. When all was still in school or church— And this "sure as eggs are eggs"— He'd leap and howl, and get the birch, Through pips-and-needles in his legs. When rude companions in joke Made sport of passers-by, and fled, Poor Peter's bootlace always broke, And he was caught and thrashed instead. A penny lost upon the way Was never found by him, and why? He failed to see it where it lay, Because a fly was in his eye.

If Peter ever chanced to take His bowl of porridge on his knees, The bowl would always fall and break. For something surely made him sneeze, If eggs were hidden in his breast, Some lad would come with merry face, And tell a jolly tale or jest, And slap him soundly on the place.

His schoolmates offered stores of sweets Whenever he had a homely fill; And people sent the scholars treats When Peter was away or ill. It's bound to rain when Peter wears A brand-new hat or glossy coat; And, when he laughs to ease his cares, The pecky gnats get down his throat. —Druid Gray.

These Are Popular Favorites.

Children's parties weigh heavily these days on the minds of pastry cooks, caterers and the busy housemother.

The new ice molds are calculated to satisfy this craving for novelty. Klondike miners with picks and shovels and bags of gold are evolved from multi-colored favors, while rabbits and birds, flowers and fruits, though not new, are as popular as ever. An amusing mold for chocolate ice cream represents a group of savages on an island. The island vegetation is illustrated in pistachio cream, while waves of lemon ice foam around the shore.

The influence of French and German nurses is shown in the popularity of rabbits, squirrels, wooden shoes and rose-wreathed crowns. Wax babies swathed in lace-paper and tied up with narrow ribbons seem to be great favorites with the small girls, yet it is doubtful if many American children ever saw a baby in Alsatian swaddling clothes. Clay pipes and tobacco pouches in miniature, sugar cigarettes, isinglass spectacles, boxes of chocolate cigars, and diminutive but ingenious shaving sets are in demand for boys' favors, while dainty high-heeled china slippers, little bags of brocade silk, fans, dolls, heart-shaped trinket caskets, lozenges and other ornamental and useful trifles are appreciated by the small maiden. Every favor is either filled with sweets or tied to a cake of chocolate.

Modern Telltales.

Do school children of the present day hold in less aversion the "telltale" or "tattle tale" than did those who, a quarter of a century ago, braved the master's rod rather than tell? asks the New York Post. The question is suggested by the report of a test made in the schools of Utica by Superintendent George Griffith. At his prompting 3,000 children were asked to give their written opinion, anonymously, it is supposed, as to whether one pupil should testify against another. Voluntary telling or "tattling" was not meant in the test, but only 15 per cent of the children noted the distinction, so that the result may be accepted as the children's opinion of the "tattler."

The question asked was whether it was right or wrong, and it appears that the boys hold more robust views (judged in the remembrance of old school days) on the matter than do the girls. Of the 2,334 who answered the question, 494 boys, or 38 per cent, and 375 girls, or 25 per cent, considered it right not to tell, the larger percentage of both regarding it as wrong. In other days the "tattler" was ostracized after having been soundly thrashed outside of the school yard, and those who aided in the thrashing can hardly understand the mental attitude of the Utica children, who justify the talebearer, whether his information comes voluntarily or on request.

Why She Prayed.

This story will be appreciated by those who went to Sunday school Sunday and studied the lesson, which was "How to Pray," says the Omaha World-Herald.

In a North Omaha Sunday school the teacher of the primary class was engaged in the task of explaining to the little tots the meaning of the Lord's Prayer.

"Can any little one tell me," she asked, "why we should ask God to give us this day our daily bread?"

A little girl sitting in the front seat raised her hand and shook it with all the vigor of a pupil who knows the answer to a question propounded and wants a chance to tell it.

"Susie knows," said the teacher. "Susie, you tell us why we should ask God to give us this day our daily bread."

"Cause papa is out of work, and if God doesn't give us bread we'll go hungry," was the startling but practical answer.

Prayers by Telephone.

At a small dinner given recently in a western city, relates the New York Sun, the guest of honor was a young married woman who is the proud mother of two handsome boys, both under 5 years of age. In their education she endeavors to follow a system, after the manner of most young mothers, and is very particular to live up to any rule she has made for them.

During an early course in the dinner and in the middle of an animated conversation with her host, she suddenly paused with a startled look and cried:

"There, if I did not forget those boys again! Have you a telephone in the house, and may I use it?"

She was taken to the telephone by her host, and the murmur of her voice in earnest conversation floated back to the dining-room. After a short pause, she returned.

"I do hope you will pardon me," she said. "But, you see, I always have George and Eddie say their prayers for me before they go to sleep. I forgot it tonight in the hurry of getting off, so I just called up their nurse. She brought them to the phone, and they said their prayers over the wire, so my mind is relieved."

On Children's Readings.

Some people congratulate themselves when their children take to reading. But they sometimes forget that a boy is not necessarily out of mischief when he is absorbed in his book. Much depends upon the character of the books and papers he reads. If he revels in such papers as The Police News, Detective on the Wing and The New York Story Paper, or in such books as "Peck's Bad Boy," "New York Ned in California," "Deadwood Dick in Dead City," and "The Wild Man of the Mountain," he is in far worse business than if he slammed the doors, disarranged the rugs and mats, slid down the stair rail or went tearing over the carpet with his rough shoes.

Indian hunters, desperadoes, highway robbers, pirates, runaway boys, snake charmers, gamblers and tramps are no better company in papers and books than in everyday life. If reading serves only to introduce one into disreputable society, or to familiarize one with slang, cheating and fighting or to inculcate wrong views of life, it were better that one remain forever an ignoramus. We should avoid the bad book or bad paper as we would a bad man or woman.

An Instructive Experiment.

The direction of growth of root and stem is not a merely accidental one. A number of investigators have been at work to see what is the cause of this diametrically opposed growth in stem and root. It has been suggested that the action of gravitation would take some part in the guidance of the roots. This is, in fact, the apparent tendency of the following experiments:

Beans have been made to germinate when placed on the circumference of an iron or wooden wheel surrounded with moss so as to maintain the moisture of the seeds, and holding little troughs full of mold open on two sides, the wheel being put in motion in a vertical direction by a current of water and made to describe many revolutions in a minute. In consequence of this rotary movement, producing the particular force known in mechanics as centrifugal force, the action of gravitation is as it were annihilated, and the sprouting seed, removed from its influence, is subjected to centrifugal force only. See what occurs: The small stems which, in ordinary circumstances, would be directed upward—that is to say, in a direction opposite to the action of gravitation—now turn themselves in the direction opposite to the direction of the centrifugal force, or toward the center of the wheel. The rootlets, which, under ordinary circumstances, would bury themselves in the earth, and in the direction required by laws of gravitation, in reality now point in the direction of the force which has taken the place of gravitation.

With a horizontal wheel the directions of sprout and root are still from and to the wheel's center respectively.

Little Ruth's Question.

Palm Beach, Fla., is virtually owned by Mr. Flagler, of the Standard Oil company, says the Detroit Free Press. When improvements are in progress, it may be assumed that Mr. Flagler is behind them.

Little Ruth is not yet 3 years old, but she is a native of Palm Beach and understands its ways. One day she went to the beach with the expectation of being allowed to go in bathing, but the tide was in and the waves very high. Her mother said that they must wait. The child was very much disappointed.

"Mamma," she said, her lips beginning to tremble, "when will Mr. Flagler let the waves go down?"

Hopeful Words to Childless Women.

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to a childless and desolate old age.

Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to some great lack of strength in the organs of generation. Such a condition is nearly always due to long continued neglect of the plainest warnings. Frequent backache and distressing pains accompanied by offensive discharges and generally by irregular and scanty menstruation, indicate a nerve degeneration of the womb and surrounding organs, that unless speedily checked will result in barrenness.

Read Mrs. Wilson's letter: DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—No one could have suffered from female troubles more than I. I had tumors on the womb, my ovaries were diseased, and for fifteen years I was a burden to myself. I was operated upon three different times, with only temporary relief; also tried many doctors. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me by a lady friend, and after taking four bottles I was like a new woman. I had been married nine years, and had no children. I now have a beautiful little girl, and we feel assured she is the result of my taking the Compound.—MAY B. WILSON, 333 Sassafras St., Millville, N. J.

Modern science and past experience have produced nothing so effective in treating diseases of the female organs as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash according to special directions.

If you know any woman who is suffering and who is unable to secure relief, or who is sorrowful because she believes herself barren, tell her to write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., and ask her advice. The thousands of Mrs. Pinkham's cures are all recorded for quick reference, and a reply will be promptly sent wholly without charge, that will direct her what to do.

Mrs. B. BLUM, 4940 San Francisco Ave., St. Louis, Mo., writes:—"It has been my great desire to have a babe. Since taking your medicine my wish is fulfilled."

Captain Silas Casey, commander of the League Island navy yard, who has become ranking captain of the navy was graduated from the United States naval academy in 1860 and was a master in the navy when the war broke out. From 1870 to 1873 he was on the Colorado, then attached to the Asiatic squadron. He was in command of the battalion of sailors from the fleet in the Korean expedition and the assault on Fort McKee, Seoul river, in June, 1872. Since that time he has held many important places. Before taking command of the League Island navy yard he was captain on board Admiral Seward's flagship, the New York. All told, Captain Casey's actual sea service covers a period of nineteen months, three years and one month of which were under his present commission.
