Late Literary News.

To have the men who have demonstrated their organizing ability by great business successes tell their secrets of organization, is the object of the editor of The Cosmopolitan. That he is succeeding, is proved in the January issue by the article from Charles K. Flint, who is regarded in New York as one of the three or four ablest organizers in America. He is president of the Rubber Trust and the head of the great mercantile house of Flint, Eddy & Co., which has its ramifications in almost every port of the world. Mr. Flint tells very openly what makes for success in the organization of business. His article may be read with interest by the Rockefeller, the Armours, and the Wanamakers as well as by the humblest clerk seeking to fathom the secret of business success.

In the same line is an article, also in the January Cosmopolitan, telling how Mr. Platt organized and conducted the campaign for the election of Roosevelt. It is by a gentleman who was actively engaged at the Republican headquarters during the campaign, and who gives a vivid picture of the perfection to which political organization has been carried in New York State by the most astute of managers. The wary old senator who has been a lifetime in politics and the youngest political aspirant will alike find food for reflection in Mr. Blythe's article.

The Legislature.

The session of the legislature will be one of the most exciting held for years. The contest for United States senator will be a warm one. Nationally there is more to interest our citizens than at any time since the great civil war. Every man who thinks for himself and wants his boys and girls to do the same should have such a paper as The Semi-Weekly State Journal in his family. That greatest of great western papers, published at the state capital, is more in touch with the great masses of the people and the questions of the hour than any of its contemporaries. It is the true and able exponent of western thought and enterprise. Its facilities for furnishing legislative news surpasses all other papers. It is located on the ground and no matter what paper you take at other times, during the legislature you should read The Journal. Twice a week, it only costs $1.00. Send $1.00 to The State Journal, Lincoln, Neb., and you will never regret it.
