

I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. BELSHER, St. Louis, Mo.

Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cared by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock foods. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured, if it is possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horses grow better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

EVERYTHING seems to be full, this year; dinner pails, coal bins, harvests and bank accounts. 'Twas ever thus under Republican rule.

EVEN with all the unbounded wealth in our possession, the cost of electing a Democratic congress would be entirely too much for the United States to stand.

THE Democrats, in their attempt to carry the next house of representatives, are resorting to different modes of hysteria. On the other hand, the Republicans are appealing directly to reason.

WHILE it is true that everything looks rosy from a Republican standpoint, yet it is not always safe to take surface indications. There are many encouraging signs, but nothing must be taken for granted. Democrats are making every effort to win and Republicans must keep wide awake to the fact.

ANY person who has ever looked into the trust question in the most casual manner, must feel like laughing heartily when he hears the Republican party blamed for the existence of the trusts. As a matter of fact the trusts are composites of all parties, and a majority of the leading magnates responsible for them are pronounced Democrats.

How strangely silent the Democratic orators have grown concerning the American army in the Philippines. According to the text book issued by their congressional committee it seemed likely that abuse of the soldier would be the dominant issue of the campaign, but public sentiment was too strong even for that party of disaster. Now the soldier is mentioned in purring tones and honeyed phrases.

SHYLOCK

Shylock was the man who wanted a pound of human flesh. There are many Shylocks now, the convalescent, the consumptive, the sickly child, the pale young woman, all want human flesh and they can get it—take Scott's Emulsion.

Scott's Emulsion is flesh and blood, bone and muscle. It feeds the nerves, strengthens the digestive organs and they feed the whole body.

For nearly thirty years Scott's Emulsion has been the great giver of human flesh.

Why Norris Will Win.

Bravely will he stand the test,
Nor will he fret and fear,
But do his part and trust the rest,
District Five's fame to rear.

'Tis Norris that is loved and blest,
Him we'll cheer along the way,
The election won't be any test,
Before him the paps do sway.

In Washington he will trust his right,
All our privileges he'll gain,
And fill our hearts with delight
And our government sustain.

Hail the candidate for congress,
You will get all the votes,
Then we will have true progress,
And feel our Nebraska oaths.

When the election is all over,
Then it will be our time,
To be happy as bees in clover,
Say, won't our party light shine?

—HARTLEY R. CORNER.

EVERY time the Democratic party attempts to handle a question affecting the interests of the workingman of this country the workingman get the worst of it. Every time the Republican party takes hold of a proposition which has a bearing upon labor's interests, the workingman benefits. The Republican party enacted the McKinley tariff law; the workingmen of the country profited by that legislation. The Denocrats came along a little later and wiped out the McKinley act and substituted the infamous Wilson-Gorman law. It needs no historian to remind the workingmen what that did to them; the memory still lingers. The Republicans got back into power and passed the Dingley tariff law, under which this country has attained a state of prosperity that would have been deemed fabulous if predicted ten years ago. The question now is, will the workingmen, in the face of history and these facts, vote for the party which invariably has benefitted them, or for the party which has invariably hurt them?

No better illustration is afforded of the attitude of the Republican and Democratic parties toward labor than the recent coal strike. The Democratic managers throughout the east exulted in continuance of the strike. They said it would serve to win a Democratic victory, this fall. They took this position because they know that the Democratic party feeds on disaster. The Republican managers, on the other hand were sincerely solicitous to end the strike for labor's sake. President Roosevelt, in his conference with the coal operators demonstrated his sincerity. The settlement of the strike was due to Mr. Roosevelt's efforts, as everyone concedes. The Republican party always has labor's interest at heart. The Democratic party thrives as labor grows lean. The intelligent workingman ought to know his friends by this time.

FOLLOWING their usual erratic course, the Democratic orators are now trying to dodge the responsibility for the "government ownership" plank in the New York platform. Candidate Coler says that the power of regulation should be tried first, and after that government ownership.

A Good Thing.

German Syrup is the special prescription of Dr. A. Boschee, a celebrated German Physician, and is acknowledged to be one of the most fortunate discoveries in medicine. It quickly cures coughs, colds and lung troubles of the severest nature, removing the cause of the affection and leaving the parts in a strong and healthy condition. It is not an experimental medicine, but has stood the test of years, giving satisfaction in every case which its rapidly increasing sale every season confirms. Two million bottles sold annually. Boschee's German Syrup was introduced in the United States 1868, and is now sold in every town and village in the civilized world. Three doses will relieve any ordinary cough. Price 75 cents. THE THIEF OF BEAUTY

Is Captured by Bradfield's Regulator.

Thousands of young women are awaking to the fact that inherited comeliness has been stolen, and instead of glowing cheeks and bright eyes, the tell-tale wrinkles of pain have taken their place. These are the warning feelings! Weak and tired in the morning, no life to enter upon their former pleasures, irritable, cross, dull headaches, general dispirited feeling, sleepless nights, cold feet, "bearing down" pains. All these symptoms indicate deranged and weakened organs, and exhausted energies follow the weakened condition of the female organs as surely as night follows day. Save yourself from worse results by taking

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator

The most invigorating menstrual regulator in the world. It relieves painful, profuse, obstructed or suppressed menstruation, nervousness, headaches, etc. Beauty of face and symmetry of form are the results of its use. Of druggists $1. SHE WAS TOO GOOD.

Why Old Lige Like Left the Whole Cabin to His Wife.

One winter in the mountains of North Carolina I met old Lige Downs, a familiar character of those hills, trudging toward town with a bundle tied in a red bandanna slung over his stooped shoulders.

"Good morning, Uncle Lige," I said.

"Maw'nin', missy," he replied, taking his hat from his kinked white crown.

"Are you going away?" I asked.

"Yessum," he answered, "yessum."

"Where's Aunt Hootie? Is she going too?"

"None; she ain't gwine wif me. I ain't no fittin' camp'ny fer dat woman now."

"Why, what's the matter?" I asked, amazed. "I always thought Hootie was the best wife in the world."

"Yessum; dat's what she shorely is. But a pore, mis'ble sinnah laik me kain't stan' so much goodness. Dat woman nevah did know de pover of sin, an' de parson hisself kain't come up to hah for preachin'. De hull cabin shines wif glory, but me—I ain't nuttin' but a black spot."

"Why, Uncle Lige, you cannot leave your wife because she's good," I said. "That would be a strange cause for divorce."

"Deys lots of um does it, missy. I ain't no dejections to hah bein' good, but when anybody gits so good dat dey ain't got no feelin' for nobody, wat dey wants is a cabin to dere-selves."

The "black spot" moved down the sun flecked road toward other blacker spots that waited for him in the village.—Exchange.

Hawaii's Rippling Language.

The language of the Hawaiian Islands, as every one knows, abounds in vowels and therefore ripples deliciously in the mouth. It is only necessary to pronounce such names as Honolulu, Oahu, Kilauea, Hilo, Mauna Loa, Kamaehamaha and Liliuokalani to discover this. A young Presbyterian clergyman of Brooklyn who visited the islands two or three years ago and prepared a lecture on them on his return declared that there was only one place on the islands which possessed a name lacking in euphony. That place was Spreckelsville. This euphony of the Hawaiian tongue was productive of one of the jokes of his lecture. The first time he gave it he remarked incidentally that he "took the steamer Wily-willy" to go to the town of Nally-willy. A laugh followed the remark, and thereafter he always included this phrase in his lecture. It invariably produced the same result when used.—New York Tribune.

Aggravatingly Peculiar.

Up in the mill district of Kensington it is the custom for employees to contribute so much per capita each week to a fund for providing soap, towels, ice water, shoe blacking, etc., one of the number in each mill being appointed to take charge of the purchasing and distributing of supplies. A young Celt has had this duty in one of the mills for some months. One evening after the whistle had blown for the stopping of work for the day a grimy machinist found a very damp and unwelcome towel after he had reached the wash sink.

"Say, Reddy," he called to the custodian, "this is the limit to ask a man to wipe on."

"Don't yez be so airish!" retorted Reddy. "Fifty or sixty just as good as ye have wiped on it already, and yez is the first to complain."—Philadelphia Times.

A Historic Tree.

The oak tree under whose branches Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas held a political debate in 1858 is still standing in Bloomington, Ill. It appears to be centuries old. In 1858 the tree marked an inclosure then known as Henshaw's pasture, a former public meeting place. George Henshaw, the owner, was a Democrat. He arranged to have the debate there, being an admirer of Douglas. The two candidates for United States senator had engaged in a series of debates, and the one held in Bloomington attracted voters from far and near. A platform for the candidates was constructed directly under the boughs of this old oak. Its shade protected the audience as well as the speakers.

Birds and the Woman.

City Belle—I hope your stay in our city will not be short, Mr. De Science.

Mr. De Science (member of the Ornithologists' union)—Thank you, but my sojourn must be brief. I am here attending the ornithological convention at the Museum of Natural History, and the session will soon be over.

"What kind of a convention did you say?"

"Ornithological—about birds, you know."

"Oh, yes, yes. How stupid of me! Do you think they will be worn much next season?"

An Offset.

Wealthy American Father-in-law—I find, count, you did not tell me the full extent of your debts.

Count Boylon de Bakkovisnek—And you did not tell me, sure, ze full extent of mademoiselle's tempre.—Chicago Tribune.

Where Accuracy is Required.

"Why does Grimmer haunt the libraries?"

"He is writing a historical novel."

"Oh! Looking up the historical facts, is he?"

"No; the costumes."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Burning the candle at both ends gives a big light, but it's mighty dark when the light goes out.—Baltimore News.
