BOSTON MAN LIVED TO SEE HIS SECOND CENTURY

Thomas Grimes, one of South Boston's oldest residents, died Sunday morning. He was 101 years old and had been sick only ten days, says the Boston Globe.

Mr. Grimes was born in Dublin, Ireland, March 4, 1802. The date of birth is verified by the records of his native place, which show that his house was destroyed the latter part of that year. In his native town he attended the public schools for a few years, and at an early age served his apprenticeship, learning the trade of ship carpenter, what is now known as a ship carver. From his early boyhood he was remarkable for his great physical strength and wonderful vitality, and figured in many leading athletic events.

In a reminiscent mood Mr. Grimes frequently recalled his early days, and remembered distinctly the arrival in Liverpool of the first steamship that crossed the Atlantic. She was the Savannah, was built in the city of that name and created considerable interest on both sides of the water. On her arrival in Liverpool thousands of people witnessed the important event. Mr. Grimes was of the number, and he was afterward one of many who paid half a crown to board the steamship and view her machinery and every part.

Mr. Grimes ever remembered the scenes and excitement attending the news of the battle of Waterloo and Napoleon's exile to St. Helena that followed. For many years he was employed in shipbuilding, learning every branch of it.

In 1834 he came to America, and has been a resident of South Boston ever since. He landed in New York and came to Boston immediately.

During his declining years Mr. Grimes delighted to recall the early days of the city, and especially South Boston. He remembered distinctly a meeting of Irishmen held in Faneuil Hall when he had the distinguished honor of carrying the Irish banner into that historic building for the first time in its history. He recalled the eloquent oration of Dr. O'Flaherty.

When he first lived in South Boston it was the garden spot of the entire city, and so sparsely settled that people used to pick fruit and berries on Broadway.

GLARE OF BICYCLE LAMP SCARED KING OF BEASTS

On a mellow moonlight evening a cyclist was riding along a lonely road in the northern part of Mashonaland. As he rode, enjoying the sombre beauty of the African evening, he suddenly became conscious of a soft, stealthy, heavy tread on the road behind him. It seemed like the jog-trot of some heavy, cushioned-footed animal following him. Turning round, he was scared very badly to find himself looking into the glaring eyes of a large lion. The puzzled animal acted very strangely, now raising his head, now lowering it, and all the time sniffing the air in a most perplexed manner.

Here was a surprise for the lion. He could not make out what kind of animal it was that could roll, walk and sit still all at the same time; an animal with a red eye on each side, and a brighter one in front. He hesitated to pronounce upon such an outlandish being, a being whose blood smelled so oily.

No cyclist, since the Romans invented wheels ever "scorched" with more honesty and single-mindedness of purpose. But although he pedaled and pedaled, although he perspired and panted, his effort to get away did not seem to place any more territory between him and the lion; for that animal, like Mark Twain's coyote, kept up his annoyingly calm jog-trot, and never seemed to tire.

The poor rider was finally so exhausted from terror and exertion that he decided to have the matter over with right away. Suddenly slowing down, he jumped from his wheel, and facing abruptly about, thrust the brilliant headlight full into the face of the lion.

This was too much for the beast. It was this fright that broke the lion's nerve, for at this fresh evidence of mystery on the part of the strange rider-animal who broke himself into halves and then cast his big eye in any direction he pleased, the monarch of the forest turned tail, and with a wild rush retreated in a very hyacinth-like manner into the jungle, evidently thanking his stars for his miraculous escape from that awful being. Thereupon the cyclist, with new strength returning and devoutly blessing his acetylene lamp pedaled his way to civilization.

PLAN A NATIONAL MUSEUM THAT WILL COST MILLIONS

Plans have been completed for the new $3,500,000 structure that is to be erected for the National museum in Washington and bids for its construction will soon be called for. The regents of the Smithsonian institution are superintending this work, and it is their idea when the new building is completed to have a complete rearrangement of the exhibits now in the National museum and the Smithsonian institution buildings.

The new structure is to be devoted to the scientific collections of the government, the present National museum building to the industrial arts and the old Smithsonian building to the Smithsonian and National museum library and art collections. The regents propose that the scientific collection in the new building shall be the finest in the world, and an officer of the institution makes the statement that already many of the branches to be covered have reached a perfection that is not equaled in any other museum in the world, even the great British museum. The chief subjects to be covered are biology, anthropology, geology, zoology, botany and American history. The present National museum building will be given up to a great exposition of industrial art, including the already immense and unique collection of the museum, and many additions that the regents are planning to secure as rapidly as possible. The museum will be modeled in its scope and general plan after the Victoria and Albert museum of Great Britain. Among the chief departments will be those of land transportation, boat models, implements of war and electrical apparatus, of which the museum already has rich collections.

The plans for the Smithsonian building contemplate the creation in time of a magnificent library and art gallery. The scientific library of the institution is already one of the finest in the world. Its scope will be broadened and it will become a much more important unit in the general scheme of the institution. The plans for the art gallery are as yet tentative. The new structure will be 486 feet long and 345 feet broad, with a height of four stories.

COLORS THAT WILL DRIVE THE BRAIN TO MADNESS

If purple walls and red-tinted window surrounded you for a month, with no color but purple around you, by the end of that time you would be a madman. No matter how strong your brain might be it would not stand the strain, and it is doubtful if you would ever recover your reason. For purple is the most dangerous color there is—in its effects on the brain, which is reached by way of the nerves of the eye.

A splash or two of any other color in the room would save your reason for some time longer; but dead purple will kill you eventually; as surely as would foul air. Scarlet is as bad, but scarlet has a different effect. It produces what is called homicidal mania—a madness that drives its victim to kill his fellows, especially his nearest relatives. Even on animals scarlet has this effect. It will drive a bull or a tiger to charge a naked spear. But purple, on the contrary, brings on melancholy or suicidal mania.

Blue, as long as there is no trace of red in it, stimulates the brain, and helps it; but its effect on your nerves, if you are saturated with it and cannot get away with it, is terrible. Scientists class blue as a kind of drug in its effects on the brain. It excites the imagination and gives a craving for music and stagecraft, but it has a reaction that wrecks the nerves. If you doubt it, stare hard for a few minutes at a piece of bright blue paper or cloth—not flowers, for there is a good deal of green in their blue—and you will find that it will make your eyes ache and give you a restless, uneasy feeling.

Green, on the other hand, is the king of colors, and no amount of it can do any harm. If you were sat up in an artificial green light for a month it would develop your eyesight immensely; but it would be fatal, because when you returned to the world you would be utterly unable to stand ordinary lights and colors, and you would certainly contract ophthalmia, or possibly destroy the optic nerve altogether, unless you were very mindful to take great care.

Edward and Linglat.
King Edward's proficiency as a linguist was strikingly illustrated during his recent visit to Paris. At a private dinner given by M. Loubet, the French president read a very formal speech. The King of England got up immediately after, and delivered without a note an admirable speech in French. Everybody was surprised when the native ruler spoke in his own tongue with elaborate preparation and the English sovereign spoke in the tongue of the Frenchman impromptu.

Private Entrance for President.
The president of the United States will have a private entrance for himself and family in the fine new railroad station now being constructed in Washington. Mr. Cleveland used to escape the crowds by having his driver take him to the forward ends of the trains instead of entering at the front of the station, but even this refuge is no longer practicable, so the private entrance has been arranged.

For Five Teeth $50.00.
Mlle. Sarkisova, a Russian opera singer, was traveling some time ago on the Transcaucasian railway when the train ran off the line and five of her teeth were knocked out. Mlle. Sarkisova brought an action that, as the loss of the front teeth prevented her from singing, she was entitled to heavy damages. The civil court in St. Petersburg has just awarded her $50,000 compensation.

Another "Oldest Engineer."
John Casson, 85 years of age, and believed to be the oldest railroad engineer in the country, was an interesting and interested visitor in St. Louis recently, having gone thither from his home in Paterson, N. J., to attend the dedication of the world's fair. Mr. Casson, who is of English birth, began his career as a practical locomotive engineer in 1828 on the Morris & Essex road in New Jersey. He worked as an engineer for half a century on the New York & Erie, retiring in 1888 on account of feeble health.

When a woman eats pickles she is in love—with the pickles.

A singular Malady.
Death has at last claimed the victim of a singular disease. Nine years ago David Yetter, of Oakwood, Mich., was assailed with rheumatism of a form that attacked the joints. Progressive ossification marked the case, the entire body being stiffened with the disease. The victim was at length unable to masticate food and relied on liquid nourishment. Then the jaws stiffened so that he could no longer open his mouth. A front tooth was extracted and through the opening thus provided was given the nourishment that added longer lease of a life that even under such conditions was preferable to death. When this came at last Yetter's body had the hardness of stone.

Mrs. Campbell's Sarcasm.
During her engagement in San Francisco, Mrs. Patrick Campbell was taken for a trip around the bay. Among the party was a young man of the all pervading kind, whose attentions to the noted actress were more lavish than welcome. As the party strolled gazing on the city the young man said: "Do you see that house up there, Mrs. Campbell?" describing the location. "Yes," said the patient guest. "I was born there," remarked the numerous one. He paused for a reply, and this was what he heard: "What a pity." The young man managed to efface himself.

BABY WEATHER.
Little Fellows Don't Like the Hot Days.

Mothers should know exactly what food to give babies in hot weather. With the broiling hot days in July and August the mother of a baby is always anxious for the health of her little one and is then particularly careful in feeding. Milk sours quickly and other food is uncertain. Even in spite of caution, sickness sometimes creeps in and then the right food is more necessary than ever.

"Our baby boy two years old began in August to have attacks of terrible stomach and bowel trouble. The physician said his digestion was very bad and that if it had been earlier in the summer and hotter weather we would surely have lost him.

"Finally we gave baby Grape-Nuts food, feeding it several times the first day and the next morning he seemed better and brighter than he had been for many days. There was a great change in the condition of his bowels and in three days they were entirely normal. He is now well and getting very strong and fleshy and we know that Grape-Nuts saved his life, for he was a very, very ill baby. Grape-Nuts food must have wonderful properties to effect such cures as this.

"We grown-ups in our family all use Grape-Nuts and also Postum in place of coffee with the result that we never any of us have any coffee ills, but are well and strong." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The reason Grape-Nuts food relieves bowel trouble in babies or adults is because the starch of the grain is predigested and does not tax the bowels, nor ferment like white bread, potatoes and other forms of starchy food.

A prominent Southern lady, Mrs. Blanchard, of Nashville, Tenn., tells how she was cured of backache, dizziness, painful and irregular periods by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and fitful sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me. Six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness in a few short months, and was worth more than months under the doctor's care, which really did not benefit me at all. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—Mrs. R. A. BLANCHARD, 423 Broad St., Nashville, Tenn.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

When women are troubled with menstrual irregularities, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

I have a home remedy that cured me of an old chronic catarrh after all others failed. A sure cure. Write for particulars. C. J. Keller, 1140 Pine St., Lincoln, Neb.

Purest of Emollients and Greatest of Skin Cures.

Cuticura Ointment is beyond question the most successful curative for torturing, disfiguring humours of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, ever compounded, in proof of which a single anointing preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed in the severer cases, by a dose of Cuticura Resolvent, is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning and scaly humours, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure when all other remedies fail. It is especially so in the treatment of infants and children, cleansing, soothing and healing the most distressing of infantile humours, and procuring purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp and hair.

Cuticura Ointment possesses, at the same time, the charm of satisfying the simple wants of the toilet, in caring for the skin, scalp, hair, hands and feet, from infancy to age, far more effectively, agreeably and economically than the most expensive of toilet emollients. Its "Instant relief for skin-tortured babies," or "Sanative antiseptic cleansing," or "One-night treatment of the hands or feet," or "Single treatment of the hair," or "Use after athletics," or any sport, each in connection with the use of Cuticura Soap, is sufficient evidence of this.
