HERE AND HEREABOUTS.
The Indianola Catholic church has new windows at a cost of $300.
J. C. Lafferty is circulating a petition for a rural free delivery route out of Marion, south of this city.

Petitions are being circulated for the establishment of a rural free delivery route out of Bartley, north.

William Greenway of Danbury is building a dwelling on the land recently purchased from Mitchell Young.

R. P. High of near Lebanon had a closing-out sale on his farm, February 25th. W. S. Campbell has leased his farm.

Lawrence Foster, over the line in Red Willow county, southwest of this village, is building a new frame house, 16x24 feet, on his farm.—Wilsonville Review.

Percy Catlett and Carrie Stevens were married, February 17th, at the home of the bride near Freedom, Frontier county. They will reside on the Bentley farm, just north of Bartley.

The wait goes up from every town, "trade at home," but still the mail order fellows flourish. For the most part, too, the goods could be secured at home just as cheaply, if quality is considered.

An effort is being made to have a telephone line built from Danbury to Indianola. Also from Indianola to Cambridge. Likewise from Indianola to the Rozell ranch, half way to Curtis, with the expectation of finally extending same on to Curtis. These are all independent projects.

An Early Riser.

A healthy, active constitution depends largely on the condition of the liver. The famous little pills known as Dr. Witt's Little Early Risers not only cleanse the system but they strengthen the action of the liver and rebuild the tissues supporting that organ. Little Early Risers are easy to act, they never gripe and yet they are absolutely certain to produce results that are satisfactory in all cases. Sold by L. W. McConnell.

Consumption

Salt pork is a famous old-fashioned remedy for consumption. "Eat plenty of pork," was the advice to the consumptive 50 and 100 years ago.

Salt pork is good if a man can stomach it. The idea behind it is that fat is the food the consumptive needs most.

Scott's Emulsion is the modern method of feeding fat to the consumptive. Pork is too rough for sensitive stomachs. Scott's Emulsion is the most refined of fats, especially prepared for easy digestion.

Feeding him fat in this way, which is often the only way, is half the battle, but Scott's Emulsion does more than that. There is something about the combination of cod liver oil and hypophosphites in Scott's Emulsion that puts new life into the weak parts and has a special action on the diseased lungs.

A sample will be sent free upon request. Be sure that this picture is the form of a fish is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

PUBLIC FREE LIBRARY NOTES.

As the inhabitants of a country must conform to certain rules of conduct, called laws, so nations, in their intercourse with one another, must govern themselves by principles that have come to be more or less firmly established and well recognized. There is, in the great system of jurisprudence that prevails among all English speaking peoples, a vast volume of rules, known as the common law, which, though unwritten, or rather uncodified, is well understood. In such state, though not nearly so clearly formulated, the rules of international law exist. Generally speaking, might makes right among the nations. No country, that does not chose to do so,—need obey the international code. The more powerful nations usually respect one another's rights, because it is to their interests to recognize them. They usually respect the rights of weaker states because the other strong nations will not permit infractions. It should be observed, however, that this system of law is supposed to be binding only upon civilized nations, and does not control when a civilized nation is dealing with a barbarous country.

Even war, which seems to approach as near to anarchy as anything well can, must be waged according to certain well recognized regulations. For instance, a civilized nation that is about to begin hostilities against another civilized nation must declare her intention of so doing. If, however, the people against whom war is to be begun are savage or barbarous, no declaration of war is necessary. Before our late war with Spain, President McKinley issued a proclamation setting forth our grievances, and fixing the time when a state of war might be deemed to exist. No such formality is required when, for example, we go to war with a tribe of Indians. Japan has been severely criticized in some quarters for having begun the fight against Russia without issuing a formal declaration of war, and Russia has made an appeal to the powers for sympathy on that score. Russia has also called attention to an alleged violation of the rules of war in the destruction of certain of her vessels by Japan under circumstances which she insists were not justified. Japan occupies an anomalous position in the family of nations. She can scarcely be considered a barbarous country, though her people belong to a different race and worship at a different shrine than do the people of the civilized nations of the world. Under these circumstances it may be doubted whether Russia, had she fired the first shot, would have considered a declaration of war a prerequisite to the beginning of hostilities.

The purpose of a declaration of war is to permit all citizens of either country who may be in the other country, to withdraw, and to fix the status of property that may be affected. As soon as war begins all intercourse between the inhabitants of the two warring nations must be stopped. All traffic must cease. The vessels of the merchant marine of one country that may be in the ports of the other, must depart within a certain time. If they do not, they are subject to seizure as prizes of war. All fighting ships of the enemy are, of course, legitimate prey.

All merchant vessels found on the high seas may be captured and sold. Enemy's property on land is subject to different rules. It may be confiscated if necessary to the sustenance of the invaders, but it must not be unnecessarily destroyed. If it can not be made use of by the enemy it must be left in the possession of the owners. Non-combatants must not be molested. Firing must not be directed toward field hospitals. The object of war is not to kill or to cause unnecessary suffering, but merely to disable. In modern warfare, the use of soft nosed or poisoned bullets is forbidden. It may be remembered that the Spanish soldiery was accused of violating this rule of war. It is not lawful, either, to poison wells or springs.

It will be interesting to note whether Japan will conform to the usages of civilized warfare in this, her first real conflict with the armies of civilization.

Mysterious Circumstance.
One was pale and sallow and the other fresh and rosy. Whence the difference? She who is blushing with health uses Dr. King's New Life Pills to maintain it. By gently arousing the lazy organs they compel good digestion and head off constipation. Try them. Only 25 cents at L. W. McConnell's, druggist.

DANBURY.

Mrs. Dowler is under the doctor's care. Dave Boyer of Indianola was in town, Tuesday.

Two of Mr. Godown's children are very sick.

Elvin Woods' daughter is sick with a relapse of the mumps.

J. E. Dolph is shipping 250 tons of alfalfa hay to Kansas City.

Miss Yalis of Wilsonville has arrived and is clerking for Mr. Stone.

Lew Sargent is having a hard time with relapse in the mumps business.

John Grovert of McCook and Miss Phillips, Sundayed at Lew Sargent's.

Burnett Dolph is giving Philip Gliem's storehouse a much needed coat of paint.

Mrs. E. B. Stigebeour is visiting her parents at Hebron, Neb., for a couple of months.

Brother Pogue informs us that his Lebanon meeting started off with flattering prospects.

Jim Sims shipped two cars of hogs to St. Joe and one car of horses and mules to Knoxville, Iowa.

Pete Lehn returned from Orleans. The specialist informed him that the sight of his eye was entirely destroyed.

There was a fruit vendor on the streets Wednesday. Did the marshal make him take out a license? If not why not?

Pete Lehn had the misfortune of running his eye up against a fence stapler and may lose one eye in consequence.

Farmers say wheat is all right yet. We have interrogated about 20 of them this week. An early rain or snow will start the plants all right.

As soon as the rural route is established Mr. Hiesekorn will furnish Danbury with the latest war news over the 'phone. Hirse is a good Republican, and therefore energetic.

Protracted meetings will be held in Congregational church, beginning Sunday, March 7th, so we hear. The Methodists converted a few of the dancers and drinkers and we hope the Congregationalists will convert all the balance so that Godliness may reign supreme instead of hellishness.

Cured Consumption.

Mrs. B. W. Evans, Clearwater, Kan., writes: "My husband lay sick for three months; the doctors stated he had quick consumption. I procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup and it cured him. That was six years ago, and since then we always kept a bottle in the house. We cannot do without it. For coughs and colds, it has no equal." 25c, 50c and $1 bottle at A. McMillen's.

Sunday, April 10th.

Along with announcement of the engagement of Mr. Clyde C. Barker and Miss Edith Phelan, a very pretty and unique social affair was given by Mrs. F. M. Broome in honor of the bride to be Tuesday afternoon, same being a "towel shower." Invitations were in the form of two crimson hearts, joined with a golden arrow, and the decorations at the Broome home were in harmony with this idea, hearts, arrows and cupid with red poppies being everywhere. Blinds were drawn and illuminations furnished by means of many candles. On descending the stairs, the guests found Miss Edith encoined in "a cosy corner," attired Turkish fashion in a costume of towels. She was generously bombarded with innumerable towels of every description, some of them being of extraordinary size, beauty and rarity. Delicious refreshments and souvenir hearts for the guests completed this extraordinary social affair. It is understood that the nuptials will be solemnized on Sunday, April 10th, when we will take pleasure in extending most sincere congratulations to these deserving and popular young people.—Alliance Times.

A Correspondent Thus Describes His Experience.

"I can strongly recommend Herbine as a medicine of remarkable efficiency for indigestion, loss of appetite, sour taste in the mouth, palpitation, headache, drowsiness after meals with distressing mental depressions and low spirits. Herbine must be a unique preparation for cases such as mine, for a few doses entirely removed my complaint. I wonder at people going on suffering or spending their money on worthless specifics, when Herbine is procurable, and so cheap." 50c a bottle at A. McMillen's.

More "News" From Outfittown.

It is rumored that the Burlington management will shortly issue instructions that as much of the Pacific coast freight as possible that is now going via Denver be sent to Billings, this to enable the Hill roads and steamship lines to get the entire haul on coast freight. A move of this kind would mean a number of additional fast freights over the Alliance division.—Alliance Grip.

Dragging Pains

2825 Keeley St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 2, 1902.
I suffered with falling and congestion of the womb, with severe pains through the groins. I suffered terribly at the time of menstruation, had blinding headaches and rushing of blood to the brain. What to try I knew not, for it seemed that I had tried all and failed, but I had never tried Wine of Cardui, that blessed remedy for sick women. I found it pleasant to take and soon knew that I had the right medicine. New blood seemed to course through my veins and after using eleven bottles I was a well woman.

Maudie Bush

Mrs. Bush is now in perfect health because she took Wine of Cardui for menstrual disorders, bearing down pains and blinding headaches when all other remedies failed to bring her relief. Any sufferer may secure health by taking Wine of Cardui in her home. The first bottle convinces the patient she is on the road to health.

About two weeks ago many of the farmers around here lost very heavily by hog cholera. I do not wish to write you a long, flattering statement about your medicine, but will say that I bought a quart can of Liquid Koal and the improvement was so marked that I bought a gallon can and used it with the result that my hogs all recovered and I did not lose one. My herd of over 200 was in fine condition and you may put me down as a constant user of Liquid Koal.
