Attachment Day With Squire Berry.

Yesterday was attachment day in Squire Berry's court.

The first suit was that of Jones vs. Hopkins, in which Jones sought to secure something tangible from Hopkins for his labor. The suit was continued until nine o'clock, this morning.

The other attachment suit was run by an employe of the bowling alley, the proprietor of which F. B. Robbins is in Denver, and his son who has been in charge, being in Wymore.

When the papers were served the goods were being gotten ready for removal from the building, by some parties who were in temporary charge.

HOW MANY TEETH WILL YOU HAVE TEN YEARS FROM NOW?

It all depends on the care you take of those you have now. A clean tooth will last a hundred years. Absolute and constant cleanliness is not possible, but it can be nearest approached by use of our antiseptic "Monardine" once or twice daily. Delightful to use and thorough yet harmless in its action. 25 and 50 cents a bottle.

McCook Is Not Quarantined.

In view of the numerous untrue and utterly ridiculous rumors being circulated relative to the small pox situation in McCook, we wish to take this means of putting you in possession of the facts as they actually exist. There are at present 27 cases of small pox in this city, all of them of a VERY MILD character. There have been no deaths and no serious cases of illness. All infected and suspected persons are under rigid quarantine, no one being allowed to enter or leave the places where they are confined. The town has not been, is not, nor is it at all likely to be quarantined. Everyone except those noted above is moving to and from town and transacting business in the usual manner. No stores are closed, the only restrictions are that, as a measure of precaution, public gatherings, have for the time being, been prohibited.

Don't believe every idle rumor. You can obtain correct information from the undersigned.

MCCOOK COMMERCIAL CLUB.

McCook, Nebraska, January 23, 1908.

TO THE PUBLIC:

Believing they should take every possible step to stamp out small pox the city authorities called on the state board of health to inspect their work as it was being done. Dr. W. H. Wilson of Lincoln, representing that body, made a very thorough and careful investigation of conditions in McCook and upon his departure handed me the following certificate. Does THIS look good to you?

MISS M. STEVENS }

McCook, NEB., JANUARY 22, 1908.

I hereby certify that I put in the afternoon carefully investigating the small pox situation in McCook, and find that the health officer and city board of health have the situation well in hand and are faithfully and vigorously carrying out the quarantine rule and regulations of the state board of health, and I believe that in the near future the disease will be stamped out. I further find that no deaths have occurred and none likely to occur as the disease is in a mild form. I have no hesitancy in saying to the public that in my opinion the public may come and go and transact business without danger of contracting the disease the same as if it did not exist.

W. H. WILSON, M. D.,
State Health Inspector.

Girl Victim of Assault.

North Platte, Neb., Jan. 20.—While alone in the farm house this afternoon the fifteen-year-old daughter of George Schickley, living seven miles southwest of Wellfleet, this county, was brutally assaulted by a stranger, who is tonight being pursued by a large posse which hopes to capture him before morning. The girl's assailant entered the house about the middle of the afternoon, beat the girl over the head with a beer bottle till she was senseless and dragged her body to a secluded place about a half mile away. The girl later recovered consciousness, and told the people who found her that she would be able to identify the stranger if he could be brought before her. It was not known tonight whether or not Miss Schickley would recover.

The affair caused great excitement in Lincoln and Hayes counties, the farm house being just across the line in the latter county. A posse was hastily organized and set out in pursuit of the stranger. At midnight the posse was at Curtis, in Frontier county, and sent back word that it was only a few minutes behind the fugitive. Bloodhounds were sent for from Lincoln.

The Lincoln police received this telegram from J. C. Hamilton, constable at Wellfleet, last night:

"Sent bloodhounds and good man at once. Girl murdered and body hidden."—Lincoln Journal.

LATER.

The latest information THE TRIBUNE obtains from the above case is to the effect that the indications are that the assault, if one was really committed, was made by parties living in that neighborhood. At any rate it is claimed that the girl refuses to attempt identification of the parties, although it is claimed that at least one of them has been apprehended.
