BARTLEY.

The main attraction on the boards in Bartley, latter part of last week, was the "Goose Case"—State of Nebraska vs. Clifford Shafer and Carl Roush—charged with burglary and larceny by T. W. Short, from whose chicken house one goose had been stolen. The accused parties were brought before J. W. Brown, J. P., Sidney Dodge, county attorney, appearing for the state, and B. F. Butler of Cambridge, Neb., for the defendants.

Witnesses were examined and it appearing to the court there was sufficient evidence to believe the accused guilty as charged, they were recognized to appear at the next term of district court at McCook, which is now in session. The discussion pro and con in the case of guilt or innocence, of law in such cases made and provided, of supreme court decisions, before and after the examination, was truly amusing and to add to this amusement and the most laughable farce in the whole play, was the article in the McCook Republican under the caption of "Blood Hounds Successful." Some one had poured into the ear of the editor a tale of thrilling adventure not often equaled in anti-bellum days, when blood hounds were at their zenith; and as Josh Billings would say, "The worst thing about the article in the Republican is, there are so many facts stated that are not true."

First statement is there were hounds. Second, the hounds were called to Bartley where the hen roost had been robbed. Third statement, the hounds took a scent and followed it to one of the neighbors. Fourth fact stated, the deputy sheriff explained the facts to the lady and she became frightened and told him the whole story. Fifth fact stated, the deputy sheriff caught the young men at Indianola and the preliminary hearing was set for Friday at Indianola. And now after all these five facts are stated, (not one of them true), the great summing up of the tragedy and the consolation and peace of mind we can have to know we have such keen scenting, able, sagacious blood hounds in Red Willow county.

Re-capitulation and correction: 1st, there was only one long-eared tired hound. 2nd, the hen roost robbed was not in Bartley, but about eight miles north. 3rd, the single hound did not take up the scent and follow it to one of the neighbors. 4th, the deputy sheriff did not terrorize the lady by confronting her with the blood hound and she did not tell him all. T. W. Short offered the lady a $10 bill if she would inform him where the stolen goods were and who she believed were the perpetrators. The hound was not near nor was the sheriff at the time. 5th, the preliminary hearing was not at Indianola, but at Bartley. And now, the summing up of the value of the hounds in this case, is that his services were worth no more than a toy teddy bear.

Thanksgiving day was enjoyed as usual by sermon at the church and program in the evening. Several parties entertained their friends to dinner, of which were Dr. Arbogast and J. E. Ford who entertained several friends from Cambridge.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good."

It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask your neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures. If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Thanksgiving Services.

McCook's formal observance of Thanksgiving day, last Thursday, was not of such a character as to cause an undue swelling of the patriotic bosom. The union services in the Congregational church attracted but a small audience—hardly a corporal's guard from each of the several churches represented.

Rev. Bryant Howe of the Methodist church delivered a brief but excellent sermon, "Our Country" serving as the basis of his effort.

The Congregational choir offered an appropriate anthem.

Invocation and benediction were uttered by Rev. B. L. Webber, the Sunday-school missionary, and Rev. R. T. Bayne of the Congregational church.

The collection was for the poor of the city, to be distributed through the proper avenues of the several churches. In this connection The Tribune is advised that the number of deserving and needy in this city was perhaps never less than now.
