Thayer County Democratic Leader Boits Dahlman

Hebron, Neb., Oct. 6.—To the Editor of The State Journal: The stand taken by Dahlman leaves me only one course to pursue and that is to work for his defeat. I am a democrat from my youth and now hold the office of treasurer of Thayer county as a democrat. I believe in the principles of our early leaders and especially those contended for in recent years by W. J. Bryan, so many of which have been adopted by Theodore Roosevelt and the insurgent leaders. But I cannot feel that Dahlman has any claim on my support for these reasons:

1. He is a candidate today because Governor Shallenberger signed the eight o'clock closing law. The brewers have punished Shallenberger because he did what three-fourths of the people of the state commended him for doing. The issue is whether the people or the brewers shall rule.

2. He is running on a platform of liquor and not on the state platform which endorsed Shallenberger's administration and eight o'clock closing.

3. I believe in county option which is to allow the people to express their will on further regulation of the liquor traffic, and is not prohibition. He is making his campaign against county option, or the rule of the majority.

4. He was nominated by the aid of over fifteen thousand republican votes, and had only one-third the number of democratic votes cast for Shallenberger.

I am writing this letter to urge every democrat who wants the party to keep its good name of "democracy and decency" to actively oppose the domination of the brewers and corporations. This is a crisis in the history of the state and true patriotism demands that every man work for his convictions.

W. H. RHODES.

Chester H. Aldrich for Governor.

The Labor Advocate stands squarely for Aldrich for governor. Our reasons are based upon the policy of the American Federation of Labor, "Support your friends, defeat your enemies."

Because Aldrich has a record, made in three months as a legislator, excelled by no man in the United States in the passage of laws effecting the common people. Because he stands out openly as the champion of the people in face of all corporation influences who are opposing him.

Because we believe him to be sincere in the doctrine which he is advocating as applied to the state of Nebraska and Omaha in particular. We believe that personal liberty is best represented by one who believes in the will of a majority honestly expressed at the polls.

And that laws should be administered on all alike regardless of station or creed.—Omaha Labor Advocate.

From the county attorney's printed letter last week to the effect that even though it was necessary to have other attorneys do his work, as long as they were not paid out of the county treasury it made no difference to the tax-payers, it might be inferred that the fees of the attorneys who conducted the only criminal cases that have been successfully prosecuted during his term, were paid by him; but in each instance where a criminal case has been won, the attorneys who did the real work of conducting the case, were paid by those interested in obtaining a conviction. Taxes are paid in order that the county attorney may draw a salary for furnishing legal services to the county and it is not fair that in each criminal case which may arise during the next two years, some of the tax-payers should be compelled to pay out their hard-earned money in addition to their taxes, to employ other attorneys to do that work, to the same extent as if there was no salary paid to the county attorney. In this connection it might be reiterated that $750.00 of the fines collected during his term was from cases he tried to dismiss and which would not have been obtained by the county had he not been prevented from dismissing them. If the county attorney's office is to be considered only as an institution to make money for the county, it is well to remember that even if his own figures are taken as correct, and no account taken of the expenses of prosecutions, still the amount collected in fines is less than his salary.

But all the campaign talk about economy is an attempt to divert the attention of the voters from the real issue as to whether Red Willow county shall have as county attorney one who is a competent, thoroughly educated and experienced lawyer who has been a successful practitioner ever since his graduation, or one who in the language of a member of his own party, "does not know enough to know how to start any cases so that he could make the county any expense." The county attorney is not the banker for the county. He is elected with the tax-payers' money to perform legal work for the county. When he fails or refuses to perform that work, there is an apparent economy, but too often it is a policy of "penny wise and pound foolish."

Vote for U. S. Senator.

It may not be necessary for us to call attention to Tribune readers to the importance of voting on the U. S. senatorship, but for fear some may not understand the full importance of the case we do so.

A majority of all the legislative nominees have signed Statement No. 1 and agreed to elect senator the man who receives the most votes at the polls. Hence the Republican nominee, Senator E. J. Burkett, must receive a majority of the popular votes.

So, Republicans will and must realize the urgent necessity of voting for Senator Burkett on November 8. The more so, too, when the character of the fight being waged against Senator Burkett is considered. It is one largely of misrepresentation.

For instance, it is stated the senator voted against free lumber, when he led the fight for free lumber. That he voted to raise the shoe tariff, when nobody did, and this schedule was lowered from 25% to 10%. That he opposed putting farm implements on the free list, when the contrary is the fact. And it will be remembered that it was Senator Burkett's own amendment that reduced the tariff on barb wire from $27 to $7.50 per ton, notwithstanding the World-Herald says he voted against reducing this item to $8 a ton. And so on.

Vote for Burkett.
