The Art of "Shadowing." Chicago News.

"Shadowing" says a Chicago deteo tive, "is the most difficult and the most scientific work in my profession. In all of his great cases Allan Pinkerton depended mainly on what he learned by shadowing, If a man is well shadowed for two weeks so much can be discovered concerning his habits, his associates, his inclination, his secret acts, in short, of his inner life, that almost a perfect biography of him can be written. Every man does many characteristic things when he thinks he is alone that he never would do in company, and the 'shadow' learns a man's true charac ter by witnessing his natural life. More people than you imagine have been 'shadowed' for the information of both friends and enemies. Mapy curious, and sometimes suspicious, wives have their husbands 'shadowed,' and many a husband has locked up in his desk a mirror of his wife's private life in the form of a 'shadow's' report. Nearly every man in Chicago prominent in business, politics, or religion, has been filed away a document, that would make the eyes of the subject open could he read it.

"Every man connected with a bank, from the president down, is 'shadowed.' Large business firms get periodical reports on the private lives of trusted employes. I suppose Marshall Field can tell any of the heads of departments in his store whether they drink brandy or mead, smoke cigarettes or opium, play penny ante in a friend's parlor or faro in a gambling

"I know that the head of a wellknown detective agency in Chicago has been 'shadowed' by nearly every other agency in the city, and they all have his record.

Death Cure For a Flirtation.

Two years ago, says the Somerset, Me., Reporter, a well-to-do young man, happily married and a fine musician, stayed at the Forks Hotel. Another boarder at the same time was a young lady who possessed a good voice and knew how to use it. The two spent much time together, he playing her accompaniments, and they became warm friends. She did not ask it he were married, and he did not tell her. It soon became painfully evident that the young lady was in love with him. He tried to end the affair by suddenly leaving the place. After he arrived home he received a letter from her, telling him that, although he had given her no encouragement, she was fascinated by him, and wished to continue the correspondence. At this stage of the proceeding the young man did a dangerous and unnecessary. The evils they very wise thing. He showed the letter to his wife, and confessed his flirta- were supposed to cure. A Matterin Which the Public Should Have a Deal of Interest.

To the readers of this paper: Why does the government spend so much money and risk so many lives in trying to capture the counterfeiter?

'Suppose he does counterfeit government bonds and notes, surely the government is rich enough to stand any loss his act may But the individual citizen could ill afford to be put to continual financial loss if such desperadoes were let go unwhipped of jus-It is only the valuable thing that is counterfeited; it is only in the light of purity and virtue that impurity and vice can be known. No one in these days would counterfeit a Confederate bond or note. People who commitfraud always do it by simulating the highest virtue; by preying on the cleanest reputation, by employing the fair name of virtue with which to give respectability to vice.

Let us explain: Seven or eight years ago, so we have been informed many times in public prints, a New York state gentleman was 'shadowed,' and there is somewhere pronounced, as many millions have been pronounced before, incurably sick of an extreme disorder. By suggestions which he believed were providential, he was led to the use of a preparation which had been for several years employed by a select few physicians in New York city and one or two other prominent places. The result was that he was cured, he whom doctors without number and of conceded ability said was incurable. Having secured possession of the formula, ABSOLUTELY AND IRREVOCABLY, he determined to devote a portion of his accumulated wealth to the manufacture and sale of this remedy for the benefit of the many who suffer as he Hay Fever, the worst cases yielding to it suffered, in apparent hopelessness. The manufacturers inform us that they would be perfectly willing that the public should know what the true formula of Warner's safe cure is, (none that have been published are anything like it), but even if every man, woman and child in the United States were as familiar with this formula as with their A B C's they could not comas not worth gathering. You can't be imposed on if you observe these cautions.

We have the highest respect for the remedy we have mentioned and the highest regard for the manufacturers, and we cannot too highly commend their dignified and considerate tone in relation to those who would traduce their fair fair name and ruin the best interest of the public in such mat-

Catarrh in the Head

Originates in scrofulous taint in the blood. Hence the proper method by which to cure catarrh is to purify the blood. Its many disagreeable symptoms and the danger of developing into bronchitis or that terribly fatal disease, consumption, are entirely removed by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which cures catarrh by purifying the blood, and also tones up the system and greatly improves the general health of those who take it.

"For many years, beginning so far back I don't remember when, I had the catarrh in my head. It con sisted of an excessive flow from my nose, ringing and bursting noises in my ears, and pains on the top of my head. The hawking and spitting were most excessive in the morning, when the back part of my tongue would be thick with a white fur, and there would be a bad taste in my mouth. My hearing was affected in my left ear. Five years ago I began to use Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was helped right away; but I continued to use it till I felt myself cured. My general health has been good ever since the catarrh left me."-MRS. E. H. CAULFIELD, Lowell.

When Does Old Age Begin? When does old age begin? At forty-five, it is said, the amount of combustian which keeps the furnace of the human body in blast commences to decrease and diminishes until three-score years and ten, more or less, when the fires are drawn and the liver diseases, such as consumption (which flickering flame dies out. That is the is scrofula of the lungs), pimples, blotches, physiological way of looking at it. But some men are old before they are out of their teens, while others apparently never grow old, though they live to be centenarians. The poet's way of looking at it is

> "Call him not old whose visionary brain Holds o'er the past its undivided reign. For him in vain the envious seasons roll Who bears eternal snmmer in his soul."

This at least seems to be the way in which David Littell, of Sumner, Ia., looks at life, for though now in his eightieth year Little things may help a man to rise-a he has taken a new lease on life and is apparently determined to hold on to it. Athlophoros did it for him and he acknowledges his debt to it in terms of enthusiasm. Mr. Littell tells his own story: "I was past seventy-seven and had been afflicted with rheumatism three years and eight months. I had lost one-third of my weight and could not walk, but shuffled along with crutches. Sleep had deserted me, my nerves were all shattered, and there was no strength in my hands, wrists, knees or feet. I could not sit down or get up out of a chair without help, and oh! such pain, worse at night than in the day. There was neither sleep nor rest, and the outlook was painful in the extreme.

"But thanks be to God and Brother Inskip for sending me a paper containing a notice of the cures made by Athlophoros and thanks be to you for sending me a bottle. It appears to me the hand of God is in it all the way, and if you did not hear me shout why then I did not shout loud enough, that is all. The medicine arrived one Saturday night after I had gone to bed. In the morning my son prepared me a dose of two teaspoonfuls in milk. I took it and felt it at once all over. After that I took but one teaspoonful at a time until I had finished the bottle. How did it act? Why, like a charm. On Monday morning I rose, dressed, and walked out into the kitchen without crutches or cane and wished them all a happy New Year.

"My pain is all gone and I rest well. My son, seeing such a great change in me, wrote for ten bottles in order, as he says, to make a permanent cure of it. It is all more like a dream than reality. I have written to four of my friends who are afflicted with rheumatism about the great medicine and I shall write to others, and arise from its coming is that all the chil- in this way try to pay the debt of grati-

After using the bottle it did me so much good that I bought another, but did not have to use more than a third of the second bottle before I was entirely cured. From that time up to the present I have never had anything like rheumatic pains, and I thank Althlophoros for the cure.

Thomas McCue, Bush's block, Dubuque, Iowa, whose wife was cured by Athlophoros of a terrible case of rheumatism, declares it was "truly a miracle in my wife's case." Perpetual Motion.

There is a clock at Brussels which comes about as near being a perpetual motion machine as can be invented, for the sun does the winding. A shaft exposed to the solar rays causes an up-draught of air which sets a fan in motion. The fan actuates mechanism which raises the weight of the clock until it reaches the top, and then puts a break on the fan until the weight has gone down a little, when the fan is again liberated and proceeds to act as before. As long as the sun shines frequently enough, and the machinery does not wear out, the clock is practically a perpetual motion machine.

Billious Complaints are caused by torpidity, congestion, or the ulceration of the liver.

The symptoms are dark, greasy, yellow skin, a brown or whitish coat to the tongue, appetite irregular, often a dry cough at night.

The skin sometimes breaks out into pimples and sores, and the whole system is out of order. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are one of the very best remedies known for any form of these troubles, and will certainly relieve the sufferer. They are purely vegetable, made from the best drugs by competent hands, and give satisfaction. They are very gentle hands, and give satisfaction. They are very gentle in their action, causing no griping or unpleasant feel-ing to the most delicate. A trial will convince any one troubled with biliousness that Wright's In-dian Vegetable Pills is the medicine he needs.
